have a hard time during the year. Let them come to the New Fair of the Carolinas.

The holiday, the change of scene, the meet-pleasures and slights of the occasion, will minister to their health and brace them up physically and mentally for a happier home-life for the year to come. Of course, the pretty girls-the belles of Western North Carolina will be here. They will put up their pretty lips and say, "Pa, I want to go to the Fair !" and even Pa wonts stand in the way. The beaux will follow them, too.

But the boys must not be forgotton-we mean those varying from ten or twelve years of age, up to sixteen, or such a matter. A visit to our Fair would be worth as much to them as to any class we have named.

What a boy will fail to see and learn from.

on such an occasion, will not be worth finding out. Like a tame coon, he will go into every hole and corner, and what he does not understand by sight, he is sure to test with his fingers. Such a visit-in broadening their views, and furnishing them knowledge of the world and how the world goes-would be worth more than half year's attendance at school. In conclusion, we say let the farmers, their wives, their pretty daughters, and the boys all come to the

A SUCCESSFUL CORPORATION.

This Company issues every desirable form of Policies at as low rates as any other First Class Company. Imposes no useless restrictions upon residence or travel. Has a fixed paid up value on all policies after two and three annual payments.

Its entire assets are loaned and invested AT HOME, to foster and encourage home enterprises.

With these facts before them, will the people of North Carolina continue to pay an-mally, thousands upon thousands of dollars to build up Foreign Companies, when they can secure insurance in a Company, equally reliable, and every dollar's premium they pay be loaned and invested in our own State, and among our own people?

North Carolinians, look to your own interests, and put your Insurance into your own State Company, whose standing is unquestionable, its affairs managed by the best men in the State, whom you all know, whose funds are invested here at home, among our own people. Your own Company has shown you in the past what it can and will do .-Be true to yourselves and to it.

That our young readers may know just how an editor "jumps the broomstick," we copy the following from the last Greensboro Patriot, written, we suppose, by the associate editor, Mr. Albright:

" Last night was the occasion of one of the happiest hymcnial services it has ever been our good fortune to witness. Long before the appointed hour (S o'clock) the spacious

Presbyterian Church was crowded to it utmost capacity, with a bright and happy audience. When the time arrived for the service to take place, the fine organ was touched by the skilltul fingers of Prof. Harh, and the hum of merry voices died gently away and the sweet strains of music filled the house. But the impatient multitude was not long kept in suspense, for the bridal attendance soon appeared in the following order, and took their stand on the right and left of the altar:

proportion to the amount of business, and an immense curtailment of business was a necessary consequence of the panic which toppled so many great houses to the ground. The men who failed were among the most daring and adventurous members of the business community. They were engaged in sinking vast amounts of active capital in enterprizes like the Northern Pacific Railroad, which could bring no returns in this generation. and in extending manufactures beyond the ability of consumers. After the crash not only was the money misemployed in these undertakings set free for other uses, but the class of pushing men who had given an unhealthy stimulus to business were disabled from again perpetrating this kind of mischief. The amount of currency remaining the same, and the uses for it being so greatly diminished, it was a necessary, and ought to have been a foreseen consequence, that the supply of money would for quite a period be in excess of the demand. A contemporary calls attention to a fact which is one of many illustrations of the difficulty of finding profitable employment for money at present. Within the last thirty-six days ten millions of dollars of city taxes have been paid. This forwardness to pay taxes is without precedent, the experience of previous years having been that money could be employed to better advantage in the early part of autumn. And yet, with money so cheap and abundant, there have been some failares within the last week or two. These failures are of little significance, however, except to the houses immediately interested. Nobody interprets them as premonitory symptoms of another panic. The general business of the country is too contracted and too cautiously conducted to admit of a wide collapse. There is nothing surprising, certainly nothing alarming, in the fact that a few houses which barely rubbed through the embarrassments of last year by the leniency of creditors or the assistance of friends find them. selves unable to go on. Their hopes of getting through depended on a full revival of business this autumn, which has proved a vain expectation. Especially in cases like that of Mr. Clews, who was prostrated by the panic, but set on his feet again by the favor and confidence of friends, everything was staked on a large and profitable business this fall. But the general business of the country rests at present on a solid basis of actual capital, and cannot be shaken by a few sporadic failures .- New York Herald.
