CITY BULLETIN.
 Hand in church notices to-day.
 One more week of October.
 "The Lost Barroom" is the sign over a door at Gaffney's Station, on the Air-Line.
 Rather too warm yesterday for comfort, and inclined to becloudy at night.
 It sprinkled rain by instalments this morning about 1 o'clock.
 Trains come in at all hours of the day and night now. Freight trains and irregular ones they are, and they bring heavy loads.
 Whole lots of cotton came in on the Air-Line yesterday, and kept railroad clerks busy.
 The track of the Carolina Central Railway was laid on half of Sugar Creek trestle yesterday, and would have gone farther but it was thought advisable to stop work until Judge Schenck shall take action on the injunction case.
 For the accommodation of persons who will have business in the United States District Court, a special train will leave Charlotte for Statesville next Monday morning, and return in the evening. For schedule, &c., see advertisement.
 The Charlotte Cornet Band was out last night for the first time since they received their new silver instruments. The band serenaded several of our citizens. It has improved greatly of late, and now plays excellently.
Death of a Minister.
 We learn with pain of the death of Rev. J. C. Williams, until recently pastor of the Hopewell Presbyterian Church; in this county. He expired at Davidson College on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. About a year ago Mr. Williams sustained a stroke of paralysis, and ever since that time has been more dead than alive. His health has been so bad as to have necessitated his retirement from the active duties of the ministry, and it was hoped that rest would restore him to his family and congregation; but the hope was a vain one, and on Thursday evening he passed from death into eternal life.
 As a man and a minister Mr. Williams was universally beloved, and the announcement of his death will carry a thrill of sorrow to many a heart.
Mayor's Court.
 There was only one case yesterday, Laura, Sharpe was sued for an assault with a rock upon Ben. Speed. Guilty and $3.50. She didn't have the wherewithal to foot the bill and now takes limited observations of nature through the key hole and crevices of the calaboose.
Lecture on Transubstantiation.
 Very Reverend L. P. O'Connell, will deliver a lecture at St. Peter's Catholic Church to-morrow morning at 10:15, on the subject of Transubstantiation. The citizens of Charlotte generally are cordially invited to be present and hear this lecture.

Fell Insensible at the Supper Table.

Last evening, while Mr. Manias Steels, who boards at the Trotter House, was eating his supper, talking and laughing the while, he was suddenly seized, as he raised a glass of milk to his lips, with an affection of the brain, and with the exclamation, "Hold me!" fell insensible into the arms of Messrs. George Hannah and Aleck Trotter. He was carried into the parlor, and Dr. McCombs, in answer to a summons, came to his relief. He remained insensible for half an hour, at the expiration of which time he revived, and soon thereafter became himself again.
 The spasm was of the nature of a stroke of paralysis or epilepsy. It was wholly nervous. Mr. Steele foamed at the mouth and his limbs were contracted, showing that he was undergoing great suffering. We hope that by to-day he will have entirely recovered.

Death of an Old Citizen of Charlotte.

Mr. Samuel Taylor died at his residence in this city on Thursday night. He was one of the oldest citizens of the place, and has been connected with its history for years past. Mr. Taylor was a native of Fayetteville, and moved to Charlotte about the year 1820. He was 76 years of age at the time of his death, and was regarded as one of the landmarks of Charlotte. He was esteemed a man of substantial worth, and one man endowed with many good qualities of heart.
 The funeral services of the deceased took place yesterday afternoon from Tryon Street M. E. Church, and were conducted by the pastor. After the sermon the remains were interred in Elmwood Cemetery by Charlotte Chapter Royal Arch Masons, of which order Mr. Taylor was a member.

Stamps on Checks.

The law requires every check on a bank to be stamped. Many of our citizens have habitually, either from ignorance of the law or inattention to its requirements, neglected this. An official agent is now traveling from city to city investigating the subject, and all found neglecting to conform to the provisions of the law will be summoned into the United States court and fined. As one-half the fine paid goes to the agent, there is no mistaking the fact that he will perform his duties to the utmost. It will save annoyance and expense if all who have business at any bank will attend to the caution we now give. As every man's name is on his check, there is no chance of escape, if the agent, when he makes official investigation in Charlotte, should lay information against any one. Stamp your checks.

Federal Court at Statesville.

We understand that Statesville has been packed well nigh full this week with lawyers, witnesses and litigants in the Federal Court. The big Indian suit has engrossed the time of the Court nearly all week; Dr. E. O. Elliott is our authority for saying there are twenty-five lawyers engaged in this case; a large number of the Cherokees attend the Court.
 Gen. J. M. Leach was serenaded a few nights ago by the Statesville Silver Cornet Band, at the residence of his brother-in-law, Hon. W. M. Robbins, and made an excellent speech in return for the compliment.
 William Bryant, of this city, who was indicted more than a year ago for counterfeiting, and who has been in Statesville jail for some time past, was discharged from custody, a non proes having been entered as to his case.
The Hop During Fair Week.
 The members of the Charlotte Hop Club have decided to give a grand ball on Thursday of Fair week complimentary to the visiting young ladies who will be in the city on that occasion, and for this purpose have secured the new hall of the Masonic Temple Association, over Elias, Cohen & Roessler's store. The committee of arrangements is making elaborate preparations for the ball, and it will be a grand feature of the week.
 We will say to the young gentlemen of the club, that they will be called upon in a day or two for the amount of their subscriptions to the ball, and it is hoped that they will be ready against the coming of the collector.
Personal.
 J. T. Hairston, Esq., of Henry co., Va., is in the city with his bride, nee Miss Bettie B. Dillard, of the same county and State. They are at the residence of Col. John W. Brown, an uncle of the lady, where a reunion of the friends of the family was had last evening.
 Captain Plato Durham, of Shelby, passed through yesterday on his way to the Federal Court at Statesville.
 Dr. A. H. Devaga, of Chester, S. C., was registered yesterday at the Central Hotel.
To Change Hands.
 The Charlotte Hotel is to change hands in a short time. Mr. Matthews' lease expires on the 15th December, and the house has been leased, and will be kept open without interruption by Messrs. Jesse Hollis & Son, at present of Spartanburg, S. C. Mac has been a popular hotel man, and his patrons will regret that he is going to quit the business, and seek the shades of private life; he will devote himself to agricultural pursuits.
The Injunction Case.
 Capt. Armstrong Burwell, of Vance & Burwell left the city yesterday afternoon for Lincoln, where he proposed to argue last night before Judge Schenck for the dissolution of the injunction granted, Dr. M. M. Orr, against the Carolina Central Railway Company. A compromise of the matter was offered yesterday by one party, but it was refused by the other. The plaintiff was not represented at the argument last night.
The Fence Law in Dewees Township.
 Thursday was the day appointed for Dewees Township, to vote on the township fence question. The result was a majority of 53 votes in favor of fence. At box No. 1 the vote stood 39 for and 9 against fence; at box No. 2 it was 26 majority for fence.

The Wisdom of Diogenes Excelled.

It is said that, in the days of the Grecian philosophers, one of their number carried his cynical notions to such an extent as to make his permanent home in a tub. History tells his name was Diogenes, and we mention this fact in order to compare Diogenes of old with one of the disciples of his faith who, at this day, liveth in Charlotte. Our Diogenes is more ambitious than the old fellow who asked Alexander the Great to get "out of his sunshine," and instead of providing a tub wherein to reside, like his ancient predecessor, has prepared fourth pin, one of which is carefully placed under each leg of his bedstead.—Upon inquiring into the cause of the location of these pens, we learned that they were supposed to have some magical effect in driving off the bed bugs. We advise those of our readers who are beset by the cimex lectulari, to stick a pin here.

Got Left in Atlanta.

Francis Marion Knowles runs his Pullman palace sleeping car through from Charlotte to New Orleans whenever the Fair is not in progress in Atlanta; but when our crowd went down on Tuesday, Francis helped his passengers off at Atlanta, and as another train started off to New Orleans with his sleeper attached, he remembered to forget to get aboard it. We saw him next morning at the Kimball House, and he said he was looking for a marlye yard man; that he wanted to erect a monument to Norcross on the property of the Statesville railroad, on the south, is offered for sale to suit purchasers. If not sold privately before Saturday, the 31st of October, it will then be sold at auction, at the Court House door to the highest bidder. [oc23-1w] G. H. SPENCER.

FOR SALE—The Property, comprising TWO CITY LOTS, with Buildings thereon, fronting on Tryon street, running back to College, bounded by the residence of H. B. Williams on the north, and the property of the Statesville railroad on the south, is offered for sale to suit purchasers. If not sold privately before Saturday, the 31st of October, it will then be sold at auction, at the Court House door to the highest bidder. [oc23-1w] G. H. SPENCER.

Atlanta and the Georgia State Fair.

In company with a goodly party, this local boarded the Air Line train last Tuesday morning, bound for Atlanta, Ga. The State Fair began there on Monday, and we wanted to see it and the people—particularly the people. And we saw. We left Charlotte at 6:12 A. M., and arrived at Atlanta shortly after 9 P. M. The scenery which the traveler over the Air Line commands, has been written of so often by newspaper men and newspaper correspondents, that we will hold off on this, although it is a very good theme upon which to discuss. The most interesting object to us on the way, (of course barring King's Mountain) was the late residence of John C. Calhoun, in Pickens county, South Carolina. It is on Seneca River, on an eminence, commanding everything around, about a quarter of a mile from the railroad. How little did the great statesman think when he built that house, that a great railroad would so soon lay its track in front of his door, and that freight and passengers would so soon sweep past there between two cities which, at that time, occupied but obscure places on the map, and were barely known outside of their own immediate neighborhood.
 A day on the train between Charlotte and Atlanta, was far from being a period of boredom to us. What, with delightful company, a novel, &c., it passed rapidly. The route is an unusually pleasant one. Added to the wild prettiness of the scenery, upon which one can draw almost continual draughts of interest and pleasure, the road is smooth as a floor, and the easy gliding of the train conduces to comfort and rest. The excellent condition of the road, and even the fact that it is a road at all, is due to the almost unparalleled exertions of Col. B. Y. Sage, the Superintendent. To him more than to any one else, is due the existence of the road, and in its existence, he sees the fruition of a hope which he has cherished for years.
 Atlanta was full to overflowing. There was hardly room in the limits of the city, to swing a cat; but, thanks to a foresight which had engaged rooms in advance, a portion of our party procured quarters at the Kimball House, while the other portion was kindly taken in tow by our townsman, Col. D. G. Maxwell, who furnished quarters for them at his sewing machine rooms, corner Broad and Marietta streets. The Kimball House was fairly alive with humanity, and its marble floor rang with the footsteps of the scores of people who moved to and fro in the office, and who were gazed upon by fair women leaning over the railings of the galleries.
 But the point around which the chief interest centered, was Oglethorpe Park, and the crowds which gathered here during the two days while we tarried in the Gate City, were just immense. On Wednesday and Thursday, the number was estimated at from 25,000 to 30,000, and certain this estimate is not far from right. It was a perfect jam, and of setting down room, there was none. The display of articles was large and fine. The exhibition in Floral Hall, was, of course, finer than elsewhere, and the manner of the arrangement of the articles told forcibly how industriously female hands had worked there. In this department might have been seen some beautiful crayon drawings from the hands of Miss Amanda Davidson, of Charlotte. In Mechanics' Hall, there were hubs, rims and spokes from the factory of P. S. Whitsant & Sons, of Charlotte. Col. D. G. Maxwell, of Charlotte, had a Home Shuttle Sewing Machine on exhibition; and the articles named comprised all of Charlotte's contribution to the Georgia State Fair.
 Wednesday and Thursday were occupied with the parade of Georgia military and the test of steam fire engines. There were six military companies and six fire companies. The show made by each was very fine—the drilling was unsurpassable. The martial appearance on the Fair Grounds, reminded one of the days of "war's dread alarm." The results of these tests of war have been published in the OBSERVER, having been sent in special telegrams.
 The Fair was the finest and the attendance the largest, so it is said, ever known in the State. The whole thing was creditable to the Empire State, and to the enterprising young city of Atlanta.
 The balls at the Kimball House, the addresses of Gens. Gordon, Lawton and Evans, and the concert of the Beethoven Society, of Atlanta, at DeGaye's Opera House, all deserve mention, but we have already elaborated too much.
 Atlanta is a marvel, considering her youth. At the close of the war, it was an ordinary town; from that time, it sprang into a position alongside the finest and most business-like cities of the South, and still her growth continues. Perhaps the most prominent feature of the place, is the Kimball House; such an establishment as this (it is six stories high and covers a block) is never found outside a real city. We envy her, though, of nothing so much as of her grand union depot.
 Charlotte's representation at the Georgia Fair, was as follows: Col. D. G. Maxwell, Israel Fink, P. S. Whitsant, Capt. R. A. Shotwell, John G. Young, W. R. Cochrane, W. C. Maffi, H. C. Eeles and lady, Miss Lotie Jenkins, Miss Amanda Davidson, Mrs. R. M. Oates, and the writer of this.
 Thursday evening about dark, very much against our inclination, we turned our face homeward, leaving the larger and better looking portion of our crowd in Atlanta. We were tired, and Capt. Bill Newman had hold of the engine's throttle. We know him, and know that he knows his engine. Though the thing did fly, we slept, and before we knew it, landed in Charlotte.
 Before we close this, we will, in behalf of the Charlotte delegation, and particularly the ladies of it, thank Capt. F. M. Knowles, the sleeping car conductor, for the kindness he showed, and for the pleasure which he added to the trip. The spirit of accommodation which he manifested, shall have a place in the memory of each and all of us.

What Next?

And now we are told that, after "doing" the Raleigh Fair, Avery, of the Piedmont Press, wended his way off eastward and sojourned for some days down among the long leaf pines. We wonder what he can be doing down there? The Lord knows we have tried by precept and example, to lead that wayward youth in the right way; but our work has been in vain and worse than in vain, Son, yield not to the blandishments of females who live among the long leaf pines, but withdraw thy feet from the land of the sand-fiddlers.
Wants to Come to the Charlotte Fair.
 A telegram has been received from Hitchcock, the far famed Baltimore turfman, asking for information concerning the premiums for race horses, the cost of transportation for a car load of horses from Baltimore to Charlotte, and for other points about the Fair. He expresses a wish, to attend it, if satisfactory arrangements can be made, and we do not doubt we shall have him with us.
Werry Peculiar.
 We met an old lady on the streets yesterday, and she must have been sootier cranked. Did we take any tobacco? Yes, we had some tobacco. She took the half plug, bit off a chew, and stowed it away in the North-west corner of her mouth, on the left hand side, and after she dropped the balance of it down in her pocket, looked up one of her eyes, and was ready to "tell us the news."
Col. Thomas' Speech.
 We yielded up a considerable amount of the space on our third page this morning, to the publication of an address which was recently delivered by Col. J. P. Thomas, of this city, at Cokesbury, S. C. It will be read with interest, particularly by our farmer friends. The speech will be concluded in to-morrow's paper.
Hunting Birds with a Rifle.
 There is a young man living about a mile from Charlotte who hunts birds with a rifle. A few days ago he killed four partridges at his first four shots, while they were on the wing. Sometime ago he killed with his rifle, a sparrow hawk while it was flying two hundred feet above the ground.
Married.
 On the 22d instant, by Rev. J. J. Kennedy, Mr. A. Roseman, of Lincoln, and Miss Melissa M. Holland, of Gaston county, N. C.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO THE MERCHANTS AND CITIZENS OF CHARLOTTE, N. C.:
 Having associated with me Mr. F. HAMPSON, a practical and skilful manufacturer of Artificial Stone, of several years' experience, I am now prepared to execute in all its branches, viz: Hearths, Steps, Sills, House Blocks, Cornices, Brackets, Water, Table, Sill Corners, Belting, Ashles, Chimney Caps, Lintel's Caping, &c. Pavements, Walks and concrete of cellar floors, respectfully solicited. Cemetery work at one-third less cost than marble. Vaults of every term. Workmanship and material guaranteed of first quality, and warranted to give entire satisfaction.
 Artificial Stone is the only one that withstood the great Chicago fire.
 Charges reasonable, and at much less cost than any natural stone.
 CAPT. JOHN C. BRAIN, Agent.
 Having connected myself with Captain Brain, I am confident of pleasing the most fastidious as to designs in the manufacture of Artificial Stone. I have made stone for one of the finest buildings in the South—the Masonic Temple at Savannah, Ga.; dimensions, 90 by 80 feet; height, 60 feet; main room, 88 by 56 feet in the clear, the roof and third floor suspended, resting entirely on walls of Artificial Stone. The above work has given great satisfaction. I have also made stone for Metropolitan Fire Company's hall and S. P. Hamilton, Esq.'s house, also in Savannah, all of which work has given every possible satisfaction.
 In soliciting a share of your patronage, on behalf of Captain Brain, you may rest assured the whole of my attention will be given to the manufacture of this stone, which is damp, fire and rot proof. One thing particularly in favor of this stone is its cost, which is half the price of granite, and as durable; two-thirds less than brownstone, and more durable, and one-third less than any soft or sand stone. Respectfully yours,
 F. HAMPSON.
NOTICE.—Very Rev. L. P. O'CONNELL will deliver a lecture at the Catholic Church, in this city, on the subject of "Transubstantiation," on SUNDAY, the 26th inst., to commence at 10:15 A. M. The citizens of Charlotte, and the public generally, are invited to attend. [oc24-2f]

Death of a Minister.

We learn with pain of the death of Rev. J. C. Williams, until recently pastor of the Hopewell Presbyterian Church; in this county. He expired at Davidson College on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. About a year ago Mr. Williams sustained a stroke of paralysis, and ever since that time has been more dead than alive. His health has been so bad as to have necessitated his retirement from the active duties of the ministry, and it was hoped that rest would restore him to his family and congregation; but the hope was a vain one, and on Thursday evening he passed from death into eternal life.
 As a man and a minister Mr. Williams was universally beloved, and the announcement of his death will carry a thrill of sorrow to many a heart.
Mayor's Court.
 There was only one case yesterday, Laura, Sharpe was sued for an assault with a rock upon Ben. Speed. Guilty and $3.50. She didn't have the wherewithal to foot the bill and now takes limited observations of nature through the key hole and crevices of the calaboose.
Lecture on Transubstantiation.
 Very Reverend L. P. O'Connell, will deliver a lecture at St. Peter's Catholic Church to-morrow morning at 10:15, on the subject of Transubstantiation. The citizens of Charlotte generally are cordially invited to be present and hear this lecture.

New Advertisements.

TO THE MERCHANTS AND CITIZENS OF CHARLOTTE, N. C.:
 Having associated with me Mr. F. HAMPSON, a practical and skilful manufacturer of Artificial Stone, of several years' experience, I am now prepared to execute in all its branches, viz: Hearths, Steps, Sills, House Blocks, Cornices, Brackets, Water, Table, Sill Corners, Belting, Ashles, Chimney Caps, Lintel's Caping, &c. Pavements, Walks and concrete of cellar floors, respectfully solicited. Cemetery work at one-third less cost than marble. Vaults of every term. Workmanship and material guaranteed of first quality, and warranted to give entire satisfaction.
 Artificial Stone is the only one that withstood the great Chicago fire.
 Charges reasonable, and at much less cost than any natural stone.
 CAPT. JOHN C. BRAIN, Agent.
 Having connected myself with Captain Brain, I am confident of pleasing the most fastidious as to designs in the manufacture of Artificial Stone. I have made stone for one of the finest buildings in the South—the Masonic Temple at Savannah, Ga.; dimensions, 90 by 80 feet; height, 60 feet; main room, 88 by 56 feet in the clear, the roof and third floor suspended, resting entirely on walls of Artificial Stone. The above work has given great satisfaction. I have also made stone for Metropolitan Fire Company's hall and S. P. Hamilton, Esq.'s house, also in Savannah, all of which work has given every possible satisfaction.
 In soliciting a share of your patronage, on behalf of Captain Brain, you may rest assured the whole of my attention will be given to the manufacture of this stone, which is damp, fire and rot proof. One thing particularly in favor of this stone is its cost, which is half the price of granite, and as durable; two-thirds less than brownstone, and more durable, and one-third less than any soft or sand stone. Respectfully yours,
 F. HAMPSON.
