CITY BULLETIN. Last Sunday in October.

All the churches in the city will be open for divine services to-day.

Judge Schenck holds Lincoln court this week, beginning to-morro w. We call attention to the advertisement of the Southern Artificial Stone Company. The streets presented as lively an appearance yesterday as one could desire to see, with wagons and people. Mr P L Rose, of Statesville, has resigned as route agent on the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio Railroad. His resignation was accepted and Mr J B Howell, of Statesville, was appointed in his stead.

The Atlanta Constitution of Friday morning notes among others present at the grand ballat the Kimball House in that city on Thursday night, Miss Lottie Jenkins, Mrs. R. M. of discouragement. Oates and Mrs. H. C. Eccles, of Charlotte, N. C.

Col. J. B. Rankin showed us vesterday an Irish potato of the variety known as "Peerless," which weighed four pounds and two ounces, without rocks in its pockets or weights in its bosom. How is that for a potato?

'Littell's Living Age" is again on our table. Its contents are as rich and varied as usual, and it is a little storehouse of knowledge and interest. Price, $8 per annum. Littell & Gay, publishers, Boston, Mass.

W. M. Matthews, Esq., will remain proprietor of the Charlotte Hotel until his lease expires, on the 15th December. He denies the soft impeachment that he proposes turning his attention to agricultural pursuits. Matt. O'Brien, of Augusta, Ga., is the proprietor of the funniest picture in the world. one of his own work; "thou art so near and yet so far," is its name. Matt. will be at the New Fair of the Carolinas, and will have the picture on exhibition. He's a genius if there ever was one.

A dog fight as was a dog fight, took place in Tryon street, near the Charlotte Hotel yesterday morning, between two bull dogs, both of which had full sets of natural teeth, and plenty of courage. The usual mob inwitness the passage at arms.

A New Enterprise in Charlotte.

At a meeting of the owners of the Rock Island Factory of this city, on yesterday, the following organisation was effected, looking to converting the factory into a Cotton Spinning Mill :

President—Robt. I, McDowe Secretary and Treasurer-Directors.-R. I. McDowell, Capt. A. E. Hutchison, R. A. Springs.

The owners propose putting on the ground. buildings, engine, shafting, pumps, gas pipes, steam heating pipes, and office furni-ture at $35,000 stock, and open books of subscription for $65,000 additional stock.

The building has been recently examined by an expert from Philadelphia and pro-nounced well adapted for Cotton Mill of 6,000 spindles. As water will only be needed for generating steam, there will not be any trouble, on that score, as there was when run as a woolen factory.

We are heartily glad to know of this new enterprise. It is of that character of improvement which is needed here, and we hope and believe it will prove a success to the enterprising gentlemen who have taken hold of it.

A Youthful Smoker

Charlotte has a sure enough curiosity, which we never found until vesterday. It is a child, a boy three years old, who is a regular smoker. He was up town yester one of great interest to the general American day afternoon, sitting in a grocery store in which his tather is a partner, smoking a pipe filled with tobacco. His father says he has been smoking regularly since he was a year old, and it never makes him sick and seems not to have any bad effect. He doesn't look like one who smokes just occasionally for the looks of the thing, but handles his pipe and pulls out the smoke with the air. of one old in the cause. He ain't much bigger than a bar of soap after a day's washing. and you might wrap him up, head and heels. 75 a 1 00 50 a 60

This story is true as gospel, and the name of the boy and his father is at the disposal of any one who is interested.

A Sharp Practice on the Court.

Some days ago, Messrs. A. R. Nisbet & Bro, of this city, sued out a warrant against L. Weill, of Monroe, for obtaining goods under false pretences. Weill was brought up vesterday to stand trial before Justice A. H. Martin, on the charge which had been preferred. The plaintiffs were represented by Maj. C. Dowd, and the defendant by H. B. Adams, Esq., of Monroe, and Hon. Z. B. Vance, of Charlotte. Plaintin's counsel asked for fifteen minutes' time in which to prepare for the trial. Before this time had expired, the prisoner came in, and was turned over to the Court, by his counsel. There being no officer present, the Court stepped to the Sheriff's office, next door, to summona deputy, and, though he didn't remain more than a minute, when he returned, he found that Mr. Well had strolled off. He hasn't returned yet. He forgot about the ### little matter, perhaps. To Our City Subscribers:

Since the change in the management of the OBSERVER, on the 1st of last April, we have encountered no more serious difficulty, than that of being able to get the paper to our subscribers on the carrier's list. The carriers would either sell the papers or negligentpay for services unperformed, with a astonishing punctuality. We hope and believe that the trouble has been obviated at last. We have employed one of the printers in the office-H. J. Stone-who, for an extra compensation, agrees to deliver every paper to every subscriber, before seven o'clock A. M.

According to the terms of the contract, there is a forfeiture in every case of nondelivery, and we would take it as an especial would notify us at the office, of the fact,

Swore Off Before a Notary.

We came into possession yesterday of the following document. We leave one of the names blank, it being that of a young man A. Railroad. As a railroad plouw, there is who got behind on water during his attend- nothing equal to it. Afterwards, upon trial being thronged from early in the morning ance upon the Atlanta Fair. It reads as on the farm, it proved to be the simplest and foliows:

STATE OF GEORGIA. Muscogee County. Personally appeared before me, Wm. N

That, from and after this date, he will totally abstain from the use of all spirituous and malt liquors, except when prescribed by Sworn to and subscribed before me this twenty-third day of October, A. D. 1874.

The Injunction Case. We stated in yesterday's paper that there was a motion pending to vacate the injunction granted by Judge Schenck against the Up for Wife Beating. Carolina Central Railroad Company in favor of Dr. M. M. Orr, and that the motion would be heard on Friday night at Lincolnton. We are informed that the motion was heard, and that the Judge required the defendant (the railway company) to give an additional bond, by way of indemnity, in the sum of $500, and pay the court costs of the proceeding to the present time. The Carolina Cenral Railway Company was represented by Vance & Burwell, and Dr. Orr by Hon. W. M. Shipp.

Keep to the Right.

We are frequently urged to beg persons keep to the right. The frequent and annoying collisions which occur by this good and plain rule being disregarded, could all be spoided if it were observed. It is a good rule to keep in all affairs, and people terday morning for a raid upon the domicidental to such an occasion, was there to their neighbors trouble, were it observed They were adjudged guilty and fined three more regularly.

Blackwood's Magazine,

The contents of the October number of Blackwood, fast issued by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 41 Barclay Street, N. York, may be summarized as follows :

I. "Alice Lorraine." Part VIII. II. "The Abode of Snow. Part II .- Simla and its Celebrities." Simila is the point from which the Himalayan traveller is to start on his trip through the mountains, and it is the place to which the Governor-General retires to escape the intense heat of Calcutta; many notable people are to met with there in the hot season, although the climate seems to be far from attractive. The prepartions for the journey are described at some length, and we expect to be fairly on the road to the abode of snow in the next num-

III. "Sir Banastre Tarleton," "An unvarnished sketch of the most brilliant and, we must add, ruthless cavalry soldier, who fought for the King in the Revolutionary War,"

IV. "International Vanities. No. II.-Alien Laws." We had supposed this subject to be entirely exhausted, and are not only surprised at finding ourselves mistaken, but startled at the new aspect in which vanity is here presented to us. "Here it suddenly becomes all wrath and murder." Need we add, that as it becomes more sensational, it is more interesting?

V. "Army Control." This article is not reader. We recommend it more particularly to soldiers and Britons.

VI. "The Story of Valentine and his Brother." Part IX.

VII. "School-Board Religion." VIII. "Horatian Lyrics." A free version of three well-known odees, respectively entitled by the translator, "The Golden Mean," and "To Mildred." What those unacquainted with Latin think of them in this English dress may be best learned from the following lively comments by a shrewed female correspondent: "I don't know any see this little scrap of humanity manning a thing about Horatian Lyrics. I suppose they are sermons on text taken from Horace. If H. is the man I take him to be, he died eight years B. C. What did he know about Christmas carols? about reels? about ladies' gloves? What is a 'golden mean'? And I think that fellow asserts too much about > IX. "The Founders of Modern Liberal-ism." The criticism and review of a recent publication entitled, "Wilkes, Sheridan, and Fox ; the opposition under George III. By W. F. Rae." A very entertaining article.

The Value of a Newspaper.

Yesterday evening the editor and proprie-tor sat at his deak and paid out $279.92, as part of the running expenses of the OBSERV-ER office during the past week, two hundred of which will be again spent in the city of Charlotte, before next Saturday night. Of this sum $150 perhaps was contributed by our patrons in the city, and the balance $129.92, was gathered up so to speak, from the four corners of the earth. In other words that amount, each week, comes from a distance, and is added to the wealth of our city. If any one has any doubt of his duty in supporting his home paper, let him study over these figures.

Track Laying on the Carolina Central. So soon as news was received vesterday morning that Judge Schenck had dissolved the injunction against the above road, track laying was re-commenced on the trestle over ly refuse to deliver them, and yet draw their | Sugar Creek, and by night rails were laid to a considerable distance beyond it. The force at work yesterday was incomplete, only 22 hands being engaged. The laying of the track will be prosecuted very vigorously from this end of the road, until the force now work near Monroe is met.

Even yet one can remain quite comfortable without fires or overcosts now in the last of October—while in August, they were thoroughly acceptable and in common use. Verily, the clerk of the weather has lost the run of his calendar since midsummer.

Personal. Dr. Jos. Graham, after an abscence of two weeks or more in New York City, returned

Even now eyidences of preparation for the coming Fair are observable in various parts of the city. People are cleaning up and setting their houses in order against the coming of their visitors en that occasion.

TO THE MERCHANTS AND CITIZENS

Having associated with me Mr. F. HAMP-SON, a practical and skillful manufacturer of Artificial Stone, of several years' experience, I am now prepared to execute in all its branches, viz. Hearths, Steps, Sills, House Blocks, Comices, Brackets, Water, Table, Sill Corners, Belting, Ashler Chimney Caps, Lintel's Caping, &c. Pavements, Walks and concreting of cellar floors respectfully solicited. Cemetery work at one-third less cost than marble. Vaults on very easy terms.

Workmanship and material guaranteed of first quality, and warranted to give entire satisfaction.

CAPT. JOHN C. BRAIN, Agent.

Having connected myself with Captain Brain. I am confident of pleasing the most stidious as to designs in the manufacture of Artificial Stone. I have made stone for one of the finest buildings in the South—the Masonic Temple at Savannah, Ga., dimensions, 90 by 50 feet, height, 90 feet, main room, 36 by 56 feet, the clear, the roof and third floor sust and resting entirely on walls of Artificial Stone. The above work has given great satisfaction. I have also made stone for Metropolitan Fire Company's hall and S. P. Hamilton, Esqua house, also in Savannah, all of which work has given every possible satisfaction.

In soliciting a share of your patronage, on behalf of Captain Brain, you may rest as sured the whole of my attention will be given to the manufacture of this stone, which CAPT JOHN C. BRAIN, Agent given to the manufacture of this stone, which is damp, fire and rat proof. One thing particularly in favor of this stone is its cost, which is half the price of granite, and as durable; two-thirds less than brownstone, and more durable, and one-third less than any soft or sand stone. Respectfully yours, o24
