CITY BULLETIN.
There is to be a meeting of the Stockholders of the Charlotte Ice Company at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.
The soft and beautiful moonlight woke to ecstasy an indefinite number of "living lions" last night.
Windows were up yesterday. It was regularly warm. We would remark that summer lingers in the lap of autumn, if it would not be indelicate to say such a thing in a paper read by so many young ladies.
"Let all our brethren of the neighboring counties in both Carolinas remember that our Zeb delivers the address at the New Fair of the Carolinas next week. Nobody knows what public speaking is until he has heard Vance."
Immigration.
We had a pleasant call last evening from Dr. Cross of London, Canada West, a gentleman who is largely interested in inducing immigration to this section of country. Dr. C. was in this section of the State and upper South Carolina last summer, inspecting lands with a view to locating colonies. He leaves here this morning for Rock Hill, S. C., in response to a letter from the immigration society of that place, and expects to effect an arrangement by which he can soon move a body of immigrants into York county.
It would be well if our people here would take hold of Dr. Cross' scheme. Immigration is the hope of this country, and no one can have so much influence on bringing it here as intelligent foreigners, such as Dr. Cross.
Personal.
Gen. J. B. Kershaw, the distinguished Conservative candidate for Congress from the Fourth District of South Carolina, arrived in the city last evening, and took quarters at the Central.
Our editor left yesterday morning for the Salisbury Fair. A special from him concerning the fair, the races, &c., will be seen on fourth page.
T. G. Arrington, of the Great South American Circus Company, was here yesterday. He is running constantly up and down the North Carolina Railroad, in the vain endeavor to find that red-headed man to take charge of the elephant. No other need apply.
The Central Hotel.
This commodious building has been completed and will be made the headquarters of all prominent visitors to the Fair of the Carolinas. The dining-room of the Central is said to be the finest and best arranged in the Southern States, and the waiters are polite and attentive. Mr. Egan, the proprietor, is the cleverest of landlords, and is also his assistant, Mr. Bryant—Lancaster (S. C.) Ledger.

Phrenological Journal.
In this publication for November readers will find a variety of excellent reading. There are representative Temperance Advocates, comprising portraits and sketches of General Neal, Daw, R. C. Pitman, LL. D., Judge James Black, Aaron M. Powell and Rev. Dr. A. A. Miner; Cultivating and Restoring Facilities—hints toward the improvement of character; William Baxter, the inventor, with a portrait; The Kaffir Postman; Personal Independence in Woman; Ideal of a Wife; That Troublesome Boy!—many heads of families are advised on a sore subject in this pithy chapter; Famous Trees of the World; Pre-Adamic Man not in the Bible. Besides many suggestions of value to the farmer and much reading of a valuable and entertaining sort in answers to correspondents. Price, 43 a year; 30 cents for the number. Subscriptions are now in order for 1875. Address S. R. Wells, Publisher, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

Races this Morning.
There will be racing on the Fair Grounds track this morning, beginning at 9 o'clock sharp. The characters of the horses which will take part are such as to warrant the belief that the racing will be very interesting. Those who wish to get a foretaste of what is to be next week, will go out this morning.
Next Tuesday will be a day long to be remembered in South Carolina, if she shall then be able to wrest herself from the bonds of the oppressor.
Walter Brem & Marie.
The Piedmont Press, speaking of this Charlotte firm, thus philosophizes: "It is the shrewdest folly for country merchants to be buying their hardware in Northern cities and paying over so much for freight when they can buy it just as cheap as near home as Charlotte." The senior member of this firm, Mr. Walter Brem, is just now rejoicing in the possession of the prettiest baby in the State, and if one strikes him before the novelty wears off he can probably buy goods for less than cost."

Cotton.
The price is so low as to bring consternation to the hearts of the planters, and some apprehend that the bottom has not yet been reached. One of the most reliable cotton buyers of the city expressed the opinion, however, that the lowest point had been arrived at, and that prices will soon begin to improve.
As low as it is, the price was as high here in Charlotte yesterday as it was in Charleston, and not only was it so yesterday, but this is almost always the case of late. This may seem strange at first, Charleston being a seaport city and possessing all facilities for shipping; but it is explained by the competition which exists between the various railroad lines running out from Charlotte. So great is this competition that a bale of cotton is now shipped from Charlotte to New York for $2.70, whereas a year or two ago $4.50 was necessary to carry a bale from here. These competing lines put money in the pockets of the farmers, because they enable Charlotte buyers to pay higher for cotton than they could otherwise, and they do buy on as close margin as it is possible to do. A cotton buyer came here recently from another city to buy; he remarked, after several weeks, that he had not gone in yet, as he was waiting for the Charlotte market to fall. "My dear sir," said one of the oldest factors in the city, to whom he was talking, "I have been waiting for twenty years for this market to go down, and it has never done it yet."
So it is; cotton is low in New York now, and consequently, low here. High or low, Charlotte pays as close on to New York prices as any place of equal facilities for transportation in the South, and there are few places where facilities are as good.

A Good Idea.
The Mayor has taken a new departure, and it is a good one. Those criminals who are convicted in his court, and who are unable or who from any cause do not pay their cost and fine, he will henceforth put to work on the streets, under charge of Street Commissioner Northey. This rule went into effect yesterday morning, and Ellis Brown, colored, will contribute his muscle for a few days to the improvement of the streets. These characters will be allowed $1 per day, and at this price will work out of their captivity.
This is a good idea. To confine these chronic criminals in the lock up, accomplishes no good whatever. They do the city no good locked up in the calaboose, and the only thing that can be said in favor of the plan, is that while in there they do no harm. Being locked up is no punishment to them. They go in frequently in gangs, are fed by their cronies, and have quite a nice time. When they get out they go and do over immediately the very thing for which they were first confined.
The only defect in this system is the difficulty of keeping them at work. If they were worked in a chain gang this would be obviated, and we hope soon to see all these law breakers, who cannot or will not pay for their devilment, chained together breaking rocks and shoveling dirt in the streets. This will soon take the starch out of them, and then we shall have better order in the community.

South Carolina Affairs.
Gen. Kershaw spoke yesterday at Fort Mill, York county, to a considerable assemblage, and, as usual, made a fine impression upon his audience. He passes through Charlotte this morning, en route to Black Station, on the Air Line Railroad, where he is billed to speak to-day. A gentleman from South Carolina, one who is well posted as to the political condition of the State, informed us last evening, that he regards Kershaw's election, as a foregone conclusion. He is immensely popular with the whites of all classes and conditions, and a great many of the better class of negroes, will vote for him. It is as desirable to the people of the Fourth District, that the infamous "carriage-box Wallace" should be defeated, as that Gen. Kershaw should be elected. Our informant is also very sanguine as regards the success of the Green and Delany ticket. He has late information from Sumter county, (Moses' home) that three-fourths of the negroes will vote against Chamberlain and Gleaves. At Camden Court House, a few nights ago, Delany attempted to speak, and was driven from the stump by the supporters of the ting ticket. It is claimed that this high-handed proceeding will add strength to the Liberal Republic ticket, so thoroughly were the more respectable negroes disgusted.
Next Tuesday will be a day long to be remembered in South Carolina, if she shall then be able to wrest herself from the bonds of the oppressor.

Walter Brem & Marie.
The Piedmont Press, speaking of this Charlotte firm, thus philosophizes: "It is the shrewdest folly for country merchants to be buying their hardware in Northern cities and paying over so much for freight when they can buy it just as cheap as near home as Charlotte." The senior member of this firm, Mr. Walter Brem, is just now rejoicing in the possession of the prettiest baby in the State, and if one strikes him before the novelty wears off he can probably buy goods for less than cost."

Dr. De Bost.
The celebrated chiropodist, is in Charlotte again. He is excellent in his profession, and to those who are troubled with such pests as corns or bunions, we commend him as one skillful in their treatment. He was in Charlotte about a year ago, and did satisfactorily much work on the feet of the Charlotteans.

Gambling on Fair Grounds.
The bane of North Carolina Fairs has been that of a horde of gamblers, confidence men and swindlers of every degree, have been licensed to ply their trades without let or hindrance in the face of the visitors to these exhibitions. The respectable people have been disgusted with this licensed pillage, and naturally so. Fairs have fallen into disrepute more on this account, than any other, and people are disinclined to take hold of them when it is almost certain that the lion's share of the money spent on the grounds, will go to enrich these sharks.
We were glad when the New Fair of the Carolinas was organized, that it was given out that nothing of this sort would be tolerated on the grounds. It cannot be denied that this gambling did more to bring the last Fair held in Charlotte into bad odor, than all other causes combined. The voice of the people and of half the press of the State was raised in condemnation of the management of the Fair in this respect, and had it not been annulled and understood when this new association sprang up on the ruins of the old one, that all gambling and catch-penny tricks would be religiously excluded from the grounds, the enterprise would never have received from the public and the press of the two Carolinas, the countenance which has been given it.
We hope the managers of the New Fair of the Carolinas will persist in their resolution in regard to this matter. They may lose a hundred or two dollars just at present, but it will all come back in its own good time. If the same error is persisted in this year, which prevailed last, it will be useless to attempt to ever hold another Fair in Charlotte, at least for years to come. We guess we know what we are talking about. We know public sentiment in regard to this as well, perhaps, as any one else does, and we sound the alarm in time.
But the gentlemen have seen for themselves, how this thing works, and have had the wisdom to abandon the short-sighted policy which has previously obtained. We commend them heartily for the course they have taken in this respect, and assure them they will find in the long run, that it is good policy. We are glad to be able to invite our country friends to come to the Fair and have no fears of meeting at every turn on the grounds, a fellow ready to seize their pile and send them on, moneyless.

The Concert to-Morrow Night.
There will be a rehearsal of the Concert to-night at the Opera House. None will be admitted but those having rehearsal tickets. To-morrow night's concert for the benefit of the Charlotte Institute, promises to be one of those feasts of the soul that charm and remain in the memory. We hope to see the auditorium resplendent with beauty and elegance, as on the stage will be scores of ladies and gentlemen embodying the musical talent of Charlotte.
Prof. and Madame DeCastro, the ruling spirits of the occasion, have taken great pains for the past month, in training the performers; and we doubt not that the concert will be worthy of Charlotte and of the performers.
Our readers will not forget that the entertainment is given for the benefit of the Charlotte Institute, i. e., to buy apparatus to be the exclusive property of that Institution; and we are assured by Mr. DeCastro, that he will consider himself well repaid for his labor, if he is able to present the trustees of the Institute with a valuable apparatus, for the advancement of science, and the educational welfare of the daughters of Charlotte.
The programme is very attractive. The selections, we learn, being from masters, such as Rossini, Donizetti, Gounod, Bellini, Verdi, &c., and we anticipate a crowded house and a brilliant success.
The management of the Concert is in the most accomplished hands. Prof. and Madame DeCastro, are musicians of splendid talent, and of the highest culture. If the Concert is not all that we predict for it, rest assured it will be through no fault in the managers.

New Fair of the Carolinas.
This exposition, which opens on next Tuesday, will demonstrate that it is intended to make it in reality, what it is in name. Located at a great Rail Road centre, upon the line of the two States, with its lines of Railroad extending from the Pee Dee and Cape Fear on the East, to the Savannah on the West, and from the Atlantic Coast on the South; to the Mountains and the valley of the Dan and of the James on the North; embracing the oak and hickory country which comprises the tier of counties lying on both sides the line, and which constitutes the valleys of the Yadkin and Catawba, one of the finest and most prosperous agricultural regions upon the face of the globe, nothing will be wanting to make it a great social and profitable convocation, annually, of its people, but their hearty encouragement and patronage.
More Horses for the Races.
Col. D. G. Maxwell received the following dispatch last night, from J. W. Crawford, Esq., of Augusta, Ga.: "Running horses will arrive in the morning. Give them what they want. Two stables of trotters and myself will come Saturday." Crawford is noted as a successful man of the turf. He had several splendid racers at the Atlanta Fair, and these will be here. The horses which have thus far been entered for the races next week, are infinitely better and of finer reputation than any that before appeared in the North Carolina turf.
Hitchcock's seven horses arrived yesterday morning, as per announcement. They are thorough bred, and their very appearance, has excited an enthusiasm among the "horse men" of the city.

Our Press Dispatches.
The reader has observed that our press dispatches have been few in number recently. This is no fault of ours, or of the operator here. Press dispatches always have to yield the wires to commercial and private business, and this business has been so heavy since the opening of the fall trade that "press" has been almost entirely excluded. It will, perhaps, be better ere long.

THE LAST FIRE IN CHARLOTTE.
I would most respectfully acknowledge myself under most lasting obligations to the citizens of Charlotte and the public generally for the very flattering patronage extended to my business previous to the late fire in the city, which swept away nearly everything I possessed of this world's goods. Now, since my great misfortune, I have again embarked in the Family Grocery and Provision Business, and would solicit a liberal share of public patronage so lavishly bestowed in the past. I propose to strictly adhere to the same system in the future as practiced in the past, to wit: Fair and honest dealing, keeping the best goods for the lowest money, and in all particulars respecting them, as they are, or no sale. Particulars of my business, and would solicit a liberal share of public patronage so lavishly bestowed in the past.
