LOCAL DOTS.

Clear yesterday and last night, and cold on a dead level.

The Wilmington train arrived at 11 o'clock last night—four hours behind time.

The streets would dry off now if they could only get a showing.

On Sunday there were 30 commercial travelers at the Central Hotel.

Gov. Vance has invitations to deliver his famous lecture on "The Scattered Nation," at Montgomery and Selma, Ala.

The four free Grange scholarships offered in the Carolina Military Institute by Col. J. P. Thomas, have not yet been held.

The mass meeting to be held here on Thursday next, bids fair to be a little Centennial Celebration of itself.

During last month 11,004 bags of guano were shipped to this city over the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad. A heavy business in one article.

"The snow came down like a blanket," for a little while Sunday night, but the earth was too wet for it, and it melted almost as soon as it fell.

Capt. W. F. Avery, of our editorial staff, left the city last night on the North Carolina train, having Johnson county for his destination. But—more of this anon.

It has been determined that the amateur concert, and the supper, for the benefit of the Episcopal Church, shall take place on Thursday evening.

A large crowd of Grangers from all parts of the county passed through this city yesterday morning en route to Charleston, to attend the meeting of the National Grange. Forty of the party took breakfast at the Central Hotel.

An Omission.

We omitted to notice the fresh goods advertised by G. W. Chalk & Co., in Sunday morning's paper, contrary to our usual custom. As the advertisement has been read by five thousand people since that time, we think it is entirely unnecessary to do so now.

A Gushing Letter.

One of those sweet, plaintive letters, such as a die-away young idiot writes when he gets real spooney, has been handed us for publication. The following sentence occurs in it: "My dear, it is agins my power to Express the love that I have for you." Well, under the new postal law, if there isn't a very large package of it, he can send it by mail.

New Crossing.

The Street Commissioner had a force engaged yesterday, in laying a rock crossing across College street, between Trade and Fourth. It is not composed of stepping stones, but is a real substantial crossing, one which will be of some service to pedestrians. It has been needed long, and we congratulate the business men of that street upon its being laid at last. The Commissioner will shortly put one at the crossing of College and Sixth streets.

A Dangerous Ride.

The Rockingham Spirit, says: "Upon the arrival of the train from Charlotte at the Carolina Central Railway depot in this town a few days ago, a little charley was discovered underneath one of the coaches perched upon the truck, having ridden in that perilous position all the way from Charlotte here. He was induced to 'step down and out,' and in reply to questions, stated that he was from Charlotte, where he was employed by a ivory stable keeper. He was in search of work, which was given him."

Entertainment Postponed.

A letter was received yesterday by the proprietors of the Charlotte Opera House, from Mr. W. T. Powell, who is forming engagements for Edwin Adams, asking them to change Adams' engagement in this city from the 12th to the 16th of February. This was done, and the reply telegraphed.

We are sorry that Adams' visit is postponed, even for four days. We are eager to see him, and have, for two weeks past, been counting the days which must elapse before he would appear. Charlotte has never looked upon his like. He is a rare genius, and we know that the appreciate people of our city will crowd the Opera House on the single evening on which he plays here.

A Business House Changes Hands.

It gives us pleasure to refer to the advertisement of Messrs. D. A. Smith & Co. These gentlemen are Wilmingtonians, and have purchased the furniture store of Mr. F. M. Shelton, of this city. They will increase the stock and keep on hand constantly, a large and varied assortment of everything in their line. Messrs. Smith & Co., have been conducting an immense furniture establishment in Wilmington. They are thoroughly conversant with their business and those who need anything in the line of their business, can always rest assured of getting the best, at reasonable prices. We commend them to the public, for their share of patronage.

Lecture Last Evening.

Rev. E. H. Harding, the learned and popular pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, delivered a lecture at the Court House last evening, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., of Charlotte. In the role of a lecturer he proved himself not less happy than he is successful in that of a minister. His theme was John Wesley, his life, times and labors. He brought out finely the many noticeable traits in the character of this great man, and paid him a handsome tribute as a gifted, earnest, untiring worker in the Master's cause. The lecture was heard with deep interest by an intelligent audience, which was not only entertained but instructed by it.

Mr. Harding was introduced by Mr. A. Shorter Caldwell, the President of the Association.

We understand that it is the purpose of the Association to have a series of lectures during the season, by different gentlemen of prominence in this State and South Carolina.

Supreme Court.

On Friday last appeals were taken up in the Supreme Court from this Circuit, and the following cases were argued, as we see from the Raleigh News:

State vs. W. A. & George Wray, from Cleveland; argued. Attorney-General Hargrave for State. No counsel for defendants.

Fanny C. Burton et al. vs. George L. Phifer; argued. Wilson & Son, for plaintiff. Montgomery, for defendant.

Almost a Centennial.

The oldest man in Franklin county is Mr. Willis Mitchell, Sr., aged 93 years. He is yet in vigorous health, and bids fair to celebrate his 100th birth-day.—Ez.

Let the old fellow add five years on between now and the 20th May, and come up to Charlotte and celebrate his Centennial along with that of the Mecklenburg Declaration.

Gov. Z. B. Vance

Spent yesterday morning circulating among his numerous friends in Columbia—he had a regiment before, but they constitute a full brigade now. The Governor is a genial, jovial, whole-souled gentleman, who can spin a yarn which would force a rise in the price of buttons, or relate a pathetic story, which would cause tears to flow. We hope to welcome him again in Columbia ere many moons have dispensed their light.—Columbia Phoenix, 30th.

The Antics of a Balking Horse.

Excited immoderate merriment on the streets yesterday afternoon. He was hitched to a cart, in which was a small darky while another darky rode him. He would stand stock still for awhile, then, giving a sudden start, dash straight across the street. He repeated this two or three times, to the imminent danger of the small boy in the cart, and finally started in a sweeping trot up Trade street, and at last accounts was heading towards the Air-Line Depot, mending his gait at every jump.

The Churches Sunday.

The usual services were held, Sunday, in all the churches of the city, save the Lutheran. The air and the sunshine were peculiarly genial, after so great an abundance of unpleasant weather, and served to call out all congregations to nearly all the churches. In the evening, the skies having become over-cast with clouds, rain commenced falling just before church time, a decided change took place in the atmosphere, and the exceedingly unpleasant evening kept the citizens in-doors. At only two or three of the churches were there any services, and these were only attended by very slim congregations.

In On Time.

The Air-Line train came into this city Sunday morning on schedule time. Unfortunately for its birth, in the matter of accidents and otherwise, the road was unusually so last week, and one disaster followed another until the track would hardly be clear at one place before it was blocked at another. But Mr. Geo. M. Berry, mounted on the coal burner No. 3, rushed her up to the depot on time Sunday, and he'll do it every trip, if he is only given half a chance, or at least come as near doing it, as any other engineer on top of the ground. He is skillful, quick and reliable, and has, as he deserves, the confidence of all the authorities of the road.

Charge Against the Clergy.

Our correspondent "J. R.," complains, in another column, that, of the nine clergymen in the city, not one belongs to the Order of Good Templars. We told "J. R." that he must be mistaken, but he said that he is a member of the order, himself and knows what he is talking about. It is very strange that this is the case. The ministers of the Gospel are generally first in every good word and work, and it is rather strange that none of them lend their presence at the meetings of the Good Templars.

By the by the temperance interest is at a very low ebb in this city at present. Little more than a year ago there were four or five lodges here, and now one is barely making out a miserable existence. The members should beat themselves, and not allow the work to fail. It is of incalculable importance to the community that it go on, and no stone should be left unturned, to revive the in it.

An Elopement which was Nipped in the Bud.

The train which leaves here on the North Carolina Railroad at 8:30 in the morning, was the scene of a real adventure on Sunday. There are a few of our citizens who have not seen the Italian organ-grinder who has been holding forth in Charlotte for some time past; there are few who would not take pleasure in attending his funeral; but de gustibus non disputandum est, (as the old lady said when she kissed the cow), and this organ grinder possesses charms which are irresistible to at least one person. That person is a young girl, whose name it is not necessary to mention here; she is about 17 years of age, a blonde, and is described as quite good looking. This son of music won her too susceptible heart, and an elopement was planned. This elopement was to have taken place on Sunday. She met him at the depot of the North Carolina Railroad, he bought tickets and both boarded the train. A life of happiness and music was all their dreams, as the train moved off; but the mother of the eloping girl knew a thing or two, and just after the train started she bounced upon the rear end of the ladies' coach, from some unknown quarter, and pounced down on the loving couple like a wolf on the fold.

The Italian was at all sorts of odds; in the first place he had a guilty conscience; in the second he was contending with a woman and a mad woman at that; in the third he spoke a very shabby quality of English, while she talked it off like it had been made for her especially, and like she had been engaged for six months in writing a speech for this particular occasion. She shelled him with a large and varied assortment of language, and by the time the train reached the junction, a mile from the depot, he was so thoroughly convinced of the sin of travelling on Sunday, and of the expediency of going on that trip, anyhow, that he yielded to her "persuasion," and all hands got off and returned to the city—he with his organ and his household gods and goods on his back, and the not yet bride on his arm. She carried a red handkerchief, with a dress in it, on her arm, while the old lady brought up the rear with a toothbrush in the left hand corner of her mouth.

Capt. Dave Ligon tells this story, and tells it well. While we would have sympathized deeply with the old lady if she had lost her daughter, we are sorry that she induced that organ-grinder to come back. Maybe, if he had gone on, he would have gone out on the platform as the train was nearing some station, to give them all some music, and would have fallen between the cars.

Proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners.

The Board of County Commissioners met at the Court House yesterday (Monday) the 1st day of February, 1875.

Present, W. E. Ardrey, Chairman; R. L. Dearmond, H. M. Dixon.

Many orders were passed for the payment of bills, but the only business of public interest, was as follows:

Ordered by the Board that an election be held in the Charlotte, Crab Orchard and Morning Star Townships, on the first Tuesday in March next, for the citizens of said townships to vote on the proposed fence law.

In Charlotte, Ward No. 1, under the management of J. P. Alexander, B. H. Moore, W. R. Myers, W. F. Phifer, J. M. Davis, Ward No. 2, J. L. Brown, Register; H. C. Morrow, A. B. Downs, J. L. Morehead and J. W. McMurray; Ward No. 3, W. F. Davidson, Register; W. S. Stewart, J. C. Dowd, J. D. Reeves, A. H. Creswell; Ward No. 4, A. H. Martin, Register. W. J. Hayes, Frank Johnson, D. P. Hutchinson and D. G. Maxwell.

In Crab Orchard, M. B. Wallace, Register; E. P. Cochran, J. C. Hood, W. G. Hodges and J. R. Baker.

In Morning Star, J. P. Smith, Register; T. A. Wilson, Wm. Massey, D. P. Pesperman and J. H. Irwin.

The County Treasurer reported that he had paid out since the last meeting of the Board, the following sums of money on the new jail building, to-wit:

To F. A. McNinch, for cutting stone, $90; to George Welch, freight on pipes, $57.67; to George Welch, as Architect, $100.00; to F. A. McNinch, colored granite work, $23.00; to John Wilkes, for work on new jail, $34 to E. Madden, A. A. Gaston, arched brick work, $1044.50.

The Board adjourned to meet again to-day at 10 o'clock A. M.

[COMMUNICATED.]
Temperance and the Ministers.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—

Ministers of the Gospel, are they not ambassadors of Christ, and did he not say that he that was not for us was against us? Shall I be allowed to call their attention to the fact that, in the City of Charlotte, with its prosperity and continually increasing population, there is alive but one Temperance organization the Order of Good Templars and that is gasping for breath, almost ready to expire, when if death should ensure, there would be no place to which the poor drunkard could go to plead himself to abstain from the use of this most deadly enemy. A demonstration of this fact occurred within the last month. A husband who had unfortunately formed the habit of drinking to excess, was persuaded by his affectionate and suffering wife to go and join a Temperance society. But though with a friend he wended his way to the hall of the Good Templars on two or three meeting nights, he was unable to join for the want of a quorum present to allow them to transact business; and as he desponded, is still a drunkard, spending all his money for liquor and has naught with which to buy the common necessities of life, while his poor starving family weep in despondency and have no help to restore and reform him.

Would it be uncharitable in me to say that the large majority of the ministers in the city of Charlotte, say by their actions toward this Order, that they agree with the liquor leaders in declaring that such a society is useless and of no benefit? Do they not know that the low estate of this Order and its threatened demise is because of the want of their smiles and presence in the lodge room? Do they not know to-day that if they were to give a small portion of their time to this cause and Order, that it would soon flourish and grow and accomplish great good in our community? Then what shall be said in the coming day when it shall be revealed that they totally refused to come up to its help against the mighty.

Now, my dear friends, I am not a member of any church, though I hope to be at some day not far distant. These reflections may be thought impertinent in me, but I deny this. I tell it to the world, however, that I have nine pastors in the city of Charlotte: Two Presbyterians, two Methodists, one Baptist, one Episcopalian, one Catholic, one Lutheran and one Associate Reformed, not one of these favor our Order so much as to come to our help by joining us. I do hope that some one of them or all, will come out in the public prints, and give us a reason for such neglect.

POLISHING PASTE FOR WOODEN FURNITURE.—Eight parts of white wax, two parts of rosin, and half a part of Venice turpentine, are melted at a gentle heat. The warm mass, completely melted, is poured into a stone jar, agitated, and six parts of rectified oil of turpentine added thereto. After twenty-four hours, the mass, having the consistency of soft butter, is ready for use. Before using this paste, the furniture should be washed with soap and water, and then well dried.
