LOCAL DOGS.

The streets are nice and dry again. Who shall be sacrificed on the Aldermanic altar?
Some farmers say that they do not remember a season when the peach trees were so far behind with their blossoms.
Meeting of committees to arrange for the centennial, takes place at the Court House to-morrow night. Don't forget it, gentlemen.

Yesterday 101 persons registered their names at the Central Hotel. We venture to say that no hotel in the State had half so many arrivals.
After two days of unusually cold weather for this season, the temperature became milder last evening. Clouds covered the skies during the evening and night, and the prospect for more rain is fine.

Our Live Count.

The Russian nobleman who was in Charlotte last week, with his wife, servants, diamonds and alligators, has reached New York City. The following is from the Herald, of the 21st: "Count and Countess E. Trzaskiewicz, of Russia, who have been on a trial trip to Havana and Florida, arrived in this city yesterday, and took up their residence at the Windsor Hotel."

Personal.

We were pleased to have calls last night from W. C. Wolfe, Esq., editor of the Monitor Enquirer, and J. P. Babington Esq., of the Shelby Aurora.
James T. LeGrand, Esq., the Senator from Richmond county, and Col. W. A. Stowe, the member of the House from Gaston, were in the city yesterday, returning home from the session of the late lamented Legislature.

The Spring.

The presence of this season, though as yet there have been few evidences of its presence, call to mind these lines from Tennyson's "Locksley Hall":
In the spring a fuller crimson comes upon the robin's breast;
In the spring the willow weeping gets himself another crest;
In the spring a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove;
In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.

The Blind Mathematician.

The Monitor Enquirer says of the blind mathematician of whom we spoke one day last week as living in the southern part of this county: "The blind man referred to is Mr. Francis M. Trull, we suppose. He is a native of this county, and is well known here as a good mathematician and grammarian. Mr. Trull was educated at the Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind, at Raleigh."

Cotton.

There is good reason to believe that there is a great deal of cotton in the country. This is attributable to the fearful condition of the roads throughout almost the entire season, and to the low price which the staple commanded at the time when it could be got to market. The sales of cotton in this market are not near so heavy this year as they were up to the same time last year, and the discrepancy is explained as above. The crop last season was not a "short" one, and the fact that the sales have not been so heavy as during the last cotton year, prove that much cotton yet remains unsold. It speaks well for the prosperity of our farming community that the farmers of this section are able to hold their cotton.

A Prisoner's Poem.

The following piece of poetry was written, a few days ago, by the man Rosenthal, who is confined in jail in this city. Rosenthal, or whatever his name may be, is the man who bought so heavily of dry goods and groceries here, about three weeks ago, and never paid for any of them. We publish the poetry as a matter of curiosity to our readers: "We received it from Deputy Sheriff Farrow, and print it, as to punctuation, do, just as it was written:
The rough door thrown open wide,
Reveals the inn-gate
Behind which stands the prisoner
Who doth impatiently await;
The coming of some friendly soul,
To spirit him with cheer;
To tell him there is yet a hope,
Though future doom look drear.

Few know the way to comfort hearts,
Crushed down with deepest grief;
To not the wish of future good,
Which brings the most relief;
Nor can the lonely heart be soothed,
By gifts of any kind;
But words of loving sympathy,
Believe the saddest mind.

The pressure of a christian hand,
A low and pitying voice,
To drink away misfortune's pain
Is by far the better choice;
It is the heart which feels these things,
As wretched prisoners know;
For every other means doth fail,
To mitigate their woe.

The wants of prisoners may be many,
And various in kind;
Such as "dry food" for "inner man,"
Or books to pass the idle;
But give them "prison bread" and soup,
And keep your "fondles" book;
But refuse them not a pleasant hand,
A word, a smile a look.

Is It True?

We heard yesterday a story of a white man haying on the previous night, from some cause or other, beat his wife in a most brutal, unmerciful manner. The details of the story are too sickening for recital. The police knew nothing of the matter yesterday, and we are induced to hope that the story is untrue.

The Jail.

If crime and arrests continue from now on in proportion to what they have for the past few weeks, the jail will be filled to its utmost by the next term of Court. There are now 19 prisoners confined in it; four of these are negro women, two are white men, and the remaining thirteen are negro men.

Jailed.

Yesterday, special deputy E. A. McCullay arrested the notorious negro, Henry Shaw, who about two years ago, robbed the residence of Mr. William Kerr, of Hopewell neighborhood, of almost everything movable, and stole a horse from him in addition. Shaw has eluded the clutches of the law ever since, until yesterday. He was committed to jail until Judge Schenk shall come again.

The North Road.

The recent change of the gauge of the North Carolina Railroad between Charlotte and Greensboro, cuts that road into two parts, as it stands at present, and what disposition will be made of the eastern portion of it, is a matter of interest. The Goldsboro Messenger thus re-echoes a rumor which we published some days ago:
"Various rumors are afloat. One, that the Richmond and Danville Company will also change the gauge from Greensboro to Goldsboro and co-operate with the Atlantic road in changing the gauge to Morehead City; another that the road east of Greensboro is to be farmed out to the highest bidder, that the Atlantic road has offered the road from Goldsboro to Raleigh, and the Raleigh and Gaston road from Raleigh to Greensboro."

Query.

Why is it that the police, yesterday, put a fellow, who was crying out the merits of some article or other which he had to sell, off the streets and into a vacant lot, to keep the crowd from blocking the streets, and yet allowed an organ-grinder to hold forth from a gutter while his admiring auditors took complete and entire possession of the pavement? We fail to see the justice of this. We think the talking man ought to be allowed to take charge of the pavements, too. We have come to a pretty pass when a gentleman who comes here to do business has to be stuck off in a back lot instead of being allowed the privileges of the pavements. We think pavements ought to be held sacred to organ-grinders and migratory vendors of uncertain wares, and if any body wants to pass along while the crowd is collected, put him in the calaboose, if he objects to going into the middle of the street, or through the back lots to get to his destination. The rights of organ-grinders and folks who want to sell goods in the streets, must and shall be respected, and the ill-mannered populace who object to walking around a mob congregated in the streets, must be made suffer for their temerity.

The New City Law.

We have referred to the amendment which was recently made to the city charter by the General Assembly, and for the information of our readers, publish it, herewith. It is called "An Act to Define the Jurisdiction of the Mayor of Charlotte, and provides:
Sec. 1. The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact, That the Mayor of the City of Charlotte shall be a Special Court for the trial of misdemeanors, and shall have the same jurisdiction within the corporate limits of said city, to try, hear, determine and punish misdemeanors committed therein, and to receive and try appeals as by law, and be a Special Court for this purpose.
Sec. 2. He shall also have the same power as the Justices of the Peace now have to arrest and hold to bail persons charged with crimes or misdemeanors.
Sec. 3. The Mayor shall have the same power as now allowed by law to Justices of the Peace.
Sec. 4. This act shall take effect from and after its ratification, and in General Assembly read three times and ratified the 1st day of March, 1875.

It does not appear to us that this act enlarges the jurisdiction of the Mayor in any material manner. Before the passage of the act, he had the power to "arrest and hold to bail persons charged of crimes or misdemeanors," and this act does nothing more than re-affirm his power so to do. What is wanted, and what is not yet provided, is an act to give the Mayor jurisdiction in non-trivial cases, instead of making it necessary for him to send these up to the Superior Court. Our jail is almost continually filled, and the necessity of this occupancy is now so great, that the Mayor should be allowed to take final action upon. The nature of the most of these offenses, is not commensurate with the expense which is entailed upon the county by feeding and caring for the criminals, and it is for the purpose of avoiding this expense that the public demanded an amendment to the city charter.

It seems to us that the powers of the Mayor have been in nowise enlarged by this new act. All the authority which he confers, he was invested with before its passage, and so far as we can see, nothing whatever has been gained.

CITY AFFAIRS AND FINANCES.

Mr. Editor: We, the people, desire our clever and efficient City Treasurer, to furnish, for public information, a financial exhibit of the receipts and disbursements of his office during the present fiscal year, showing:
1st. The amount of taxes levied for the current year, levied and collected, which is $2,000,000.
2d. The amount of taxes in arrears, collected this year.
3d. The various amounts in the aggregate disbursed during the present fiscal year, and charged to each respective account.
4th. An itemized statement of the salaries of each of the city officers, from the Mayor down to the Street Superintendent, including pay of police, City Surveyor, &c.
5th. The amount of the city's indebtedness and not paid.
This information will save the people from the trouble of each having to examine the city books, and will be gratefully received by an interested

Mayor's Court.

Colton Kirk and James Boyd, both white, or originally so, emerged, yesterday morning from the solitary confines of the calaboose, to answer the charge of drunk and down. They looked for the world as if they had made a Sabbath day's journey through the Slough of Despond, for not a vestige of visible clothing did either wear, but was covered with mother earth. The night before, they had "had the sun very strong in their eyes," and feeling themselves exhausted from carrying groceries around, laid themselves down in the middle of one of the back streets to repose until they should be better able to pursue their journey. The bed was soft and deep, and sweet oblivion, and the mud soon enveloped them as with a garment. Those good Samaritans, the policemen, found them and "took them in." Appearing before the Mayor in the saddest of sad plights, they confessed and bewailed their sins, and were dismissed with the injunction to go and search for clean clothes.
