LOCAL NOTES.

Farewell to garden "sax" this morning, unless it keeps cloudy.

Mr. George Welch, Architect, has had a beautiful design for the proposed Centennial monument on exhibition at our editorial room for the past few days.

We had intended to notice and comment on the Cadets of the Carolina Military Institute and the Mecklenburg "Zouaves" for their invaluable services during the late fire, but the space at our command this morning forbids it.

Well we're in for it—we write Centennial, we speak Centennial, and when we send a dispatch off about anything, and in the case of the recent fire, and sign it plain J-o-n-e-s, the editors in Wilmington sign it c-e-n-t-e-n-nial, without remorse of conscience.

We are requested by the Mecklenburg Zouaves to tender their thanks through our local columns to the Cadet company of our Military Institute for their kindness in relieving them of guard duty during the fire on Friday night, in order that they might have a short time for refreshments.

Postponement.
Owing to the excitement caused by the fire on Friday, the lecture of Rev. Dr. Harding, which was to have taken place on Friday night, at the Female Institute, was postponed until Friday night, the 20th inst.

Postponed.
The Court House being cleaned up for services by the Second Presbyterians of this city, to-day, the lecture that was advertised for Saturday night, by Dr. W. H. Barker, has been postponed till Monday night, 19th inst.

The Fire.
We omitted, in our account of the fire last night to mention the loss of Messrs G W Chalk & Co., and several others. The Messrs Chalk & Co. lost about $1,100 worth of corn, flour, &c., mostly covered by insurance.
Mr R M Crawford had $400 worth of marble burned up, and there may be yet others whose names we have not obtained.

Six Hundred.
The Sheriff of Cleveland county passed through our city the other day with seven prisoners for the State penitentiary, convicted in that county. On his return to-day, he informs us that those he carried down, swelled the number of convicts in the penitentiary at this time, to six hundred even.

The Centennial.—Letter from Gov. J. L.
Kemper.

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.
Richmond, Va., April 15th, 1875.
Thos. W. Dewey, Esq., Secretary Executive Committee.

DEAR SIR:—I gratefully acknowledge your letter inviting me to attend the Centennial celebration of the Mecklenburg Deb-laration of Independence, to be held in the city of Charlotte on the 20th of May prox.

It is fit that the people of all the States should thus honor the occasion which recalls the heroic character of the revolutionary fathers of North Carolina, as well as one of the proudest events in the annals of the whole country.

I cannot promise that my official engagements will allow me the pleasure of personally attending, but if at liberty to do so, I should be proud to join you.
I have the honor to be,
Yours most respectfully,
JAS. L. KEMPER.

From Morganton.
A correspondent writes from this place as follows:

Business is a stand still, and it is feared that Morganton will be nearly depopulated soon, as numbers of persons holding tickets in the Greensboro lottery are preparing to move into the "Rainbow House" as soon as the drawing takes place. Several marriages have been put off until that important event takes place, and to hear our "musician" descant on the chances is entrancing.

Letting for the Centennial.

The following has been sent to us from Portsmouth and is recommended as a sovereign remedy for the complaint. We publish it mainly for the benefit of the orthodox local of this paper, who is languishing on his bed in St. Louis with "rheumatism." Dear Joe, please sit up a barrel at once and "shake well before using":
One egg, well beaten, add half gill of strong apple vinegar, two table spoonfuls of sweet oil, half gill whiskey, one table spoonful of laudanum and half gill of turpentine.
Shake well before rubbing with it.

Communication.
Mr. Editor: Will you oblige me by publishing through your columns a few lines for me?

I wish to return my sincere thanks to those who aided me so kindly in saving my house from the fire. Mr. John L. Deaton, Mr. Zutterhuff, Frank Houston, Mr. Reid and two little chaps at C. S. Holton's store, worked like heroes. They were the first who came to my assistance. Others whom I did not know, and cannot give their names, rendered valuable aid.
Mrs. R. R. Holton.
April 17, 1875.

Iron Hoops for Cotton Bales.

We have an indistinct recollection of the old rope cotton tie, and we further remember to have seen a hundred or so bales of cotton, tied up with these ropes aforesaid, burned on the levee at New Orleans in 1855.
We have a still further recollection of the vivid manner in which an "iron-tie" agent endeavored to impress upon us the fact that if the cotton then burnt had been baled up with the iron tie, the whole would have been probably saved. We thought the theory was a beautiful one, and wondered why everybody didn't go to making iron ties.
Well, nearly everybody did go at it, at last, and everybody else commenced using the iron tie. The theory that the iron tie would hold the mass of cotton in a single bale so closely compressed as to prevent it from burning, in case of fire, was a beautiful one, and we should probably have gone down to the grave fully impressed with that view of the case, had it not been for the destruction of three thousand bales in Charlotte, so compressed, on last Friday. Our beautiful theory is exploded, and our impression is that iron hoops are not worth much as a protection against fire.

Personal.
Mr. J. Wallace Ainger, of Charleston, South Carolina, the General Southern Agent of the Edictio Magazine, of New York, is at the Central Hotel, and will, during the ensuing week, give our citizens the opportunity of subscribing to his work.

The Edictio was a great favorite in the South before the war, and the publishers are now making special efforts to regain their old circulation here, which they will no doubt succeed in doing, for the work has improved with age, (it is now in its thirty-first year), and fully meets the intellectual wants of the times.

It selects from all the English magazines, and its aim is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial.
Nothing is admitted to its pages which is not of permanent value, as well as current interest. It is multum in parvo, containing the very crème de la crème of literature and science.

Aside from its literary excellence, its fine steel engravings, appearing in every issue, render it a most desirable work to possess.
We commend Mr. Ainger and the Edictio to all of our readers.

A Probable Result.

It is said to be an ill wind that blows nobody good, and a fire, such as we had Friday, is a terrible ordeal. We hope to see it have a good result, and that is the building of a common passenger and freight depot, owned and operated by all the railroad companies which do business in Charlotte.
Now that new depots must be built, there is no good reason why the land on which the C. C. & A. depot formerly stood, the depot which is owned jointly by the C. C. & A., and the N. C. Railroads, and the land now owned by the Carolina Central Railway, should not be used for the construction of a mammoth depot, suitable for the accommodation of all the railroads and their business. The Carolina Central Railroad has a depot in one portion of the city. The Richmond Air-Line has one in another, while the bulk of the business has been, and must continue to be, done in a different locality. Now that the fire has made the building of depots a necessity, let us have them all at one place.

Water Works.

For several days we have had on the brain what we think is a very important article on the subject of water works, and now that we have had a tremendous fire, we think our theme is particularly appropriate. When our readers recollect that our loss on Friday cannot fall short of three hundred thousand dollars, and when we tell them that for eighty thousand dollars water works can be so arranged as to make such a disaster as Friday's fire almost an impossibility, and when we tell them further, that by reason of having said water works the cost of insurance would be so lessened during five years as to save the original cost, they will at once see things through the same kind of spectacles that we do.

In other words, for eighty thousand dollars a reservoir and a complete system of pipes, with at least eight cocks to each square, can be constructed. Notwithstanding the stiff wind which was blowing last Friday, when the fire at the depot first started, we hazard nothing in saying that with a good supply of water the conflagration might have been stopped there. We admit there is a difference between reasoning about a thing that is past and doing the same thing at a time when everything is confusion, and when everybody is excited; but we assert most positively that it is our opinion that if there had been a good supply of water at the time of the arrival of the two steam fire engines, the fire could have been controlled before it had spread to the wooden buildings on Mrs. Brown's lot.

The question of a proper water supply, then, is no longer one of expediency, but is clearly one of necessity, and above all, is a matter of economy. This city cannot afford to be deprived of the benefits of a proper supply of water a moment longer than is necessary to complete and carry out the most feasible plan which can be adopted.
We shall have more to say on this subject hereafter.

Match Game Base Ball.

The "Independent Nine" base ballists yesterday challenged the "Centennial Nine," both of this city, for a match game of Base Ball. The "Centennial Nine" beat the "Independent Nine" ten runs in a score of thirty-five. Being very late when the game commenced, only five innings were played.
The following is a list of the runs and outs

Charlotte Business.

There is still a good deal of complaint among the retail dealers of this city of the slackness of trade; but, on the other hand, the wholesale firms are beginning to experience a lively demand for goods from country merchants, and are in a much more cheerful frame of mind than they were a short time ago. The amount of business done since the opening of the spring trade is estimated to be much larger already than that of last year for the whole of the season. The constant appeals of the press to their people to buy their supplies in Charlotte instead of going farther north, seem to have had considerable effect, in conjunction with the assurances of our leading houses that they can duplicate any order, at the same rates, that may be filled by any Northern establishment. We have observed a considerable number of buyers from Western North Carolina among those who have bought their supplies in this city this year, but who have never done so before. Altogether, the condition of commercial affairs in Charlotte is quite satisfactory.

Our observation of the course of business throughout the country leads us to believe that a general revival of trade has set in, and this in turn must give an impulse to manufacturing pursuits and create a demand for labor. In the agricultural districts there are indications of a resolute purpose to make the most of the coming season. All of these developments should inspire more hopeful and buoyant feeling everywhere. Besides, the anticipation of a heavy trade, caused partly by preparations for the Centennial Celebration, is already having its effect in the increase of trade among the retail dealers and the grocery men.

The Great Character Actors.

Baker and Farron, who have for the past three years been playing to crowded and elite audiences in the principle cities of America and Europe, are now on a tour of the Southern States, and will appear at Charlotte Tuesday, April 20th, under the management of D. Bidwell, manager of Academy of Music, New Orleans. Mr. Bidwell will support Messrs. Baker and Farron with his entire company and orchestra from the Academy, New Orleans, which is said to be the best dramatic company in the South.
They are now on their way from New Orleans to New York, and their engagement is limited to one night only. They will come from Columbia here on a special train. Baker and Farron are said to be comedians of high standing, and draw the elite and fashion wherever they appear.

The New Orleans press speak of them as follows:

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Another large audience witnessed the second night of Baker and Farron at this ever popular place of amusement, and the tumultuous applause with which each act was greeted was proof positive of the popularity of these eccentric comedians.
To those who have not witnessed Messrs.
Baker and Farron's character drama, "Chris and Lena," and who are under the impression that the business of these artists is simply that of the Variety Hall, we will say that the play is not so deficient in literary merit, and far superior in dramatic construction, to many of the so-called sensation successes of the day.
It is true that it is constructed with a view of giving Baker and Farron a chance of introducing their specialty business, yet the author did not lose sight of the fact that these gentlemen, however good, would not constitute a "show of themselves"; consequently the text for future distinct characterizations is furnished, and we may say that the excellent company is not found wanting.—New Orleans Times.

EDITOR OF OBSERVER: Please allow me through your paper, to return my sincere thanks to the citizens, fire companies, and Cadets of the Carolina Military Institute, for their disinterested kindness in their efforts to secure and save my property, and protect and comfort my family, in the recent terrible conflagration, during my absence. It is a real satisfaction for me thus sincerely to remember and publicly record my gratitude.
Yours truly, W. R. MYERS.

DIED.

olina, at sunrise on the 16th day of April, 1875, Mrs. Carrie B. Norwood, wife of Capt.
Thos. L. Norwood, of Bingham School.

The Recent Fires—Who is to Blame.

Mr. Editor:—
The property holders and looters by the late disastrous fire demand of the city authorities a public investigation as to the causes of the conflagration and who are to blame therefor. If there was criminal neglect or gross carelessness, let responsibility be fixed where it rightly belongs. It will serve a good purpose in the way of preventing similar disasters in the future. If the city authorities refuse to take immediate steps to investigate the causes of the disaster, let the property holders call a public meeting at the Court House and express their views and take such action in the matter as the case may require.
