New Uniforms. The Pioneer Fire Company have just had new uniforms made. The uniform consists of a red shirt, of crimson flannel, on the breast of which is a blue shield, and the letters "Steamer No. 1," the whole trimmed with gold lace. On the whole it is a very showy nniform, and well becomes the young men who wear it.

JENKINS & CHANDLER.

McL. & S. Election of Officers of the Different Fire main. Very truly yours, BR SMITH & Co. Company.

The annual election of officers in the different fire companies will take place s follows : The "Independent Hook and Ladder Company No. 2," to-night at their hall; the "Hornet Steam Fire Engine Company No. 1." Friday night at their hall. The "Pioneer Steam Fire Engine Company No. 2." held their meeting last night.

Branch Mint, The Branch Mint at this place will continue to transact business as usual antil June 30th, 1875, when it will be closed on because Congress made no appropriation for its further support. We are sorry that this is the case, as the above named institution is in every ways fitted for the coinage of the small silver change which will be so much needed by the banks and merchants. Why erect a building at Chicago, Omaha, or at any other place, at the cost of half a million of dollars when we have one in every way fitted for this purpose in this city?

The Cantata Last Night. The opera house last night contained to partake of the musical treat. Ediiorial duties prevented the attendance of either of the editors now on duty, but from all we could hear, the entertainment was all that the most sanguine could wish. After having published that elegant and elaborate disquisition on the merits of the Cantata, from the pen of a polished writer, we should have hesitated to attempt a discription, had we attended, as anything we could have said would have sounded exceedingly commonplace beside so faultless a piece of word painting.

A Question of Veracity. We are not given to lying, and we are fully of the opinion that there is not an editor in North Carolina whose veracity stands higher than ours, and yet in consequence of the excitement of the election, etc., day before yesterday evening, we made an awful blunder. about the number of miles of calico purchased by Mr. J. Rintels, who has gone North to work up a "corner" in calico. We have it now that he bought one hundred and fifty cases, each case containing fifty pieces, and each piece containing fifty yards, so that the fifty pieces, each containing fifty yards, gives us twenty-five hundred yards to the case, and one hundred and fifty cases the "well done" of the citizens of Charwould be three hundred and seventy- lotte. Respectfully, five thousand yards, which, divided by seventeen hundred and sixty, (the number of yards to the mile) would make a fraction over two hundred and thirteen

The Population of Charlotte. There is much difference of opinion on this subject. While all agree that millions and settles upon our four footed on this subject. While all agree that the last census was a snare and a delusion no two of our citizens agree in their estimates of the population of our city.

Messrs Beasley & Emmerson have been getting up a directory of the city, and from this we are enabled to make what from this we are enabled to make what we believe is a pretty correct estimate of the population. In Atlanta, Charleston and other points these gentlemen found that, after taking, as they always do, the names of all the male adults and boys who are old enough to go into buswas just one-fifth of the whole population as given by the last census. All the cities of the United States make their estimate of the population on the bases that it is five times the number of names in the directory. Messrs names in their Directory of Charlotte and going on the four and a half basis which is making liberal allowances we have $550, or on five basis 9500.

Owens is no ordinary actor and we predict for him a full house. It is quite a compliment to Charlotte that Owens should give us a night, as he stops at no other point in the State .-At New Orleans, Charleston and elsewhere he had full houses. The reserved seats are going very fast and we expect he will have a very large audience. Atlanta Constitution says of him "The successful comedian in keeping up a continuous and uprorious mirth among his audiences is the above named gentleman. This is not altogether attributable to the high degree of a comedy talent he possesses, but is as much ascribable perhaps, to the fact that his plays are of a character as to best suit his broad sense of humor and his generous manner of portraying it. his generous manner of portraying it. a pretty fair audience, who assembled The fun of his plays are so palpable and so good that both the uneducated and cultivated of his patrons enjoy it.
