LOCAL DOTS. To bee or not to bee, that's the question low-a-days.

What about music for the Centennial, now that the Charlotte band has disbanded? The local editor writes us that he will hardly be able to report for duty this week Vegetables of every kind are getting more abundant in market

Why are the Centennial Committees not meeting a little oftener. The 20th is almost Mr. Buchanan, the genial and accomplished editor of the Chester Reporter, visited our sanctum yesterday. We here take occasion to emphatically remark that the spelling bee and the buffalo gnat are not intimately related.

Those who rise to eminence suddenly are very apt to come back by the next

Puffings are again in favor, often very wide, and most frequently formed by rows of shirring. We call the attention of our daily ex changes to an appeal to corporations on our editorial page, and hope they will notice it right away, as the 20th is almost upon Music is the only sensual gratification which mankind may indulge in to excess without injury to their moral or religious feelings.

Old George Cox has a bran new suit of clothes for the 20th, and it is thought when ne gets them on his own children won't recognize him. Attention is called to Mr. Gregory's notice, that ice will not be delivered as heretofore, but can be obtained from the ice house in rear of Burwell's drug store, from 5 A. Col. Columbus Mills, the Grand Master of cent them to Mr. Burrough's Sect, and Treas. of the C. A. The list for taking tax returns will be closed on Monday the 17th ins. All who are delinquent had better call on Esquire A H Martin at once and give n their taxable property.

We were truly rejoiced to welcome to our sanctum Mr F H Pendleton, one of the former proprietors of this paper. No one ever knew Mr Pendleton but to like him. He will be with us till after the Centennial.

Alexander Lord, colored, entered the dwelling house of Jno W Miller and stole therefrom two pair pants, one coat and vest the property of Mr Miller. Alex. was brought before Justice Martin the larceny fully proven and he was sent to board with the jailor until Spoliation of Records.

We are informed that an autograph of one of the signers of the Mecklenburg Resolves of May 20, 1775, who was a Justice of the Peace at that period in our history, and whose name as such appears in the old records of our county courts, has been recently cut out by some larcenous antiquarian. We would suggest to the custodian of this priceless volume that he keep a sharp look out for this sort of antequrian thieves.

B g Gully on Tryon Street. On Tryon street in front of Mr Thos Grier's there is a little gully, a little further down in front of Gen Young's new residence it widens and deepens into a big ugly gully, and still farther on in front of the place occupied by Mr Duls it assumes the proportions of a very big ugly and dangerous gully. The new uncilmen doubtless want to do someneeded in this matter except a force with the war reputation of Mecklenbur

CHARLOTTE, N. C., MAY 12, 1875.

The Charlotte Observer. A Narrow Escape. A pistol accidentally went off in the hands of Mr. W. M. Long in his store yes-Charles R. Jones, Proprietor. erday, and a negro in front of him narrowly escaped being shot through the body, The ball grazed the negro and embedder itself in the wall.

Yesterday, we were the recipient of a nice lot of "snaps," the first of the season, at east the first we have seen, for which we reern thanks to the donors, Messrs. Sumrow & Minton. This firm deserves, and will receive a full share of patronage.

Editorial

It is reported that each daily paper in Atanta has from five to ten editors on its staff. none less than five. And yet those papers contain very little more reading matter than the OBSERVER, and frequently not as much original matter, editorial and local. We envy the Atlanta editors the comparatively easy time they must have.

Keep Cool!

Every one should have an Awning They are great luxuries and cheap ones too. Every store and office in the city should be supplied with one before the Centennial. Mr J M Mahone will call and fill orders if directions are left at Burwell's drug store.

A Centennial Dodge.

Some silly gump in Tennessee, we learn, has written to Mr. Dewey, Secretary of the Centennial Association, making the most ridiculous proposition we have ever heard of. This Tennesseean knows of a negro in his neighborhood that is certainly a 125 years old, and he wants to know what chance there would be to get a place to exhibit his negro at the Centennial Celebration, at 50 cents a sight—as if Centennial negroes were incommon in this country. Why there are a half dozen in McDowell and Caldwell counties 125 years old, and one in Burke 150 at the very lowest calculation. No, he had better keep his negro boy at home.

The Mystery Solved at Last.

Our readers have doubtless been puzzled over the mysterious advertisement. in this paper and wondered what, 'Everobody will have one," be ready," and all meant. Mr Welch, the prince of advertisers, solves the mystery in this issue of the OBSERVER. Mr Welch deserves the patronage of the the State Grange, is in the city.—a fine his ingenious method of advertising. community, if for no other reason, for But the enterprise advertised is of itself deserving of the encouragement and patronage of our citizens. We shall notice this lithograph more at length hereafter.

A New Book.

By referring to our advertising columns, it will be seen that Messrs. E. J. Hale & in press, "the original evidence of the Mecklenburg Declaration of May 20th, 1875," which will be ready in a few days for sale at all the book stores, for the benefit of the Centennial and Monumental Association. Although, the whole ground as to the Mecklenburg claim was fully traversed some fifty years ago, yet the arguments then published in elucidation and proof thereof. are inaccessible to the mass of the inquisitive readers of the present day. To these enterprising publishers, sons of the Old North State, the reading public will doubtless be gratified for collating and publishing in a tangible and imperishable form so that t can be transmitted to future ages all the documentary evidence bearing upon this much discussed and controversed event.

Reportorial.

The representative of the New York Times put in an appearance in this city a few days ago, and called for Centennial documents. A gentleman pointed to a cart load in a closet, when the Times man became demoralized, and took the evening train. Some persons attribute his disgust to "pop skull," and they are not far wrong. The report that the gentleman who was put in jail as an insane person is a reporter of the Washington Republican appears to be without foundation.

Frank Leslie has written to Mr. H. C. Eccles of the Central Hotel, in reference to engaging a reporter and photographer for his "Illustrated Weekly." to "do" the Mecklenburg Celebration. Where is Mr. Rufus Morgan? Can our Raleigh exchanges inform us? Or is Broadway in the State? Let the photographers see to it that our celebration is pictuaed properly; Let every lady look her prettiest on the 20th, for she may appear in "Frank Leslie's" the week follow-

The "Zouaves."

This organization paraded in uniform for the first time on Monday, and took part in the memorial ceremonies. They made a very fine appearance in their picturesque uniforms, and had quite a soldierly bearing considering the time they have been an or ganization. However, it is not our purpose to compliment the "Zouaves," but to make an appeal in their behalf. Attention Canvassers.

We hope the canvassers of the different Wards appointed by the Centennial Committees will go to work manfully at once. We have no time to spare; only nine days and the 20th is here. The names of the canvassers will be seen in the proceedings of the Executive Committee, in another column.

In the paucity of local news, we cannot afford to loose a witticism that was perpetrated Monday! evening. General Rains, who made so much 'reputation during the war in the torpedo line, and who is now a Professor in the Charlotte Institute for Young Ladies, happened to pass by a squad of ex-Confederates, when one of the number remarked that there was quite a contrast in the General's occupations during the war and now, to which a distinguished visitor replied: "Not at all, the sex are very ex plosive, and frequently "blow a fellow up" unaware. We might have thought he spoke from experience, had we not known tha the speaker's ffood lady was one of the love ment of Professor Frontis, of the Charlotte Institute for Young Ladies, umpire. The words first gave out were taken from the last three issues of the OBSERVER, and then Captains of the respective classes gave words to the opposite class. Capt. Brenizer's side came out victorious, the opposide going down on the word "diphtheria." The umpire then proceeded to cross-examine Capt. Brenizer's side, and spelled them down to two, Messrs, Hanna and T. H. Brem, Jr., who were left in possession of the hard fought field. We are sorry the lateness of the hour prevents a more extended notice. This is a very good start, and we expect more fun at the next.
