

DEATH OF JESSE D. BRIGHT.

The death of this honored son of Indiana, removes another of the strong men who controlled the destinies of this country in the political contests which preceded a resort to arms in 1861, and it would have been well if his counsels had prevailed.

Mr. Bright was born in Central New York in 1812, and there studied law. Soon after removing to Indiana, he became deeply interested in politics, and almost from the outset of his public career, was a public leader. He was successively a circuit judge, State Senator, United States marshal, Lieut. Governor and United States Senator. His service in the federal senate began in 1845 and continued unbroken, down to his expulsion in 1862.

Although his position in the Senate was a strong one, and he served on some of the most important committees, he earned the most enduring and honorable fame when the radicals expelled him, in a time of high excitement, for disloyalty. The judiciary committee had reported resolutions in favor of the expulsion of Senators Johnson and Polk, of Missouri, which were unanimously adopted; but they were compelled to report that the facts charged against Mr. Bright were not sufficient to warrant his expulsion. The subject was postponed one week, and in the meantime it was decided in the councils of the war party that Mr. Bright must be expelled in spite of the report from the judiciary committee, which was composed almost entirely of republicans. He was expelled by a vote of 32 to 14, and here is all that the resolutions recited against him and all that the action of the Senate was confessedly based upon:

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1861.

My DEAR SIR: Allow me to introduce to your acquaintance my friend Thomas B. Lincoln, of Texas. He visits your capital mainly to dispose of what he regards a great improvement in firearms. I recommend him to your favorable consideration as a gentleman of the first respectability, and reliable in every respect. JESSE D. BRIGHT.

To his Excellency Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederation of States. Mr. Bayard tried in vain to have the war inflamed majority take a sensible view of this letter of mere introduction, and Mr. Bright explained that he gave the same man a letter of introduction several months previous to Gov. Floyd, then Secretary of War, and that he came back and bored him for a letter to Jefferson Davis, which he gave. It is to the credit of several republican Senators that they could not be induced to sanction by their votes such an unjust act of arbitrary power.

After his expulsion Mr. Bright did not return to public life. Some time ago he bought a fine residence in Baltimore, where he died. His disease was rheumatism of the heart. He was a man of fine presence, of persuasive oratory and of commanding abilities. He was an unwavering democrat, and posterity will regard his expulsion from the Senate under the circumstances, as an honorable event in his long, useful and powerful career.

IN MEMORIAM. At an informal meeting of the North Carolina Press Association, held at the editorial rooms of the Charlotte Observer, in the city of Charlotte on the 20th of May, 1875, the undersigned were appointed to prepare resolutions expressive of regret at the death of Chas. F. Harris, Esq., late a member of this Association. The following resolutions were submitted and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Supreme Ruler of the Universe, on the 15th inst., called from time to eternity, our late friend and brother, Chas. F. Harris, late editor of the Concord Sun, and the State Agricultural Journal, therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of brother Harris, this Association has lost one of its brightest members; the scintillations of whose brilliant wit and sparkling genius will be seriously missed in the State.

Resolved, That whatever the faults, and foibles of our late brother may have been, we cheerfully cover them up with the broad mantle of charity, and remember only his virtues, which were as many and as bright as the sparkling dew-drops on the morning rose.

Resolved, That as a token of our affection and remembrance, of our late brother, and in token of our regret, the members of this Association wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That as a further mark of respect, one page of the minute book of this Association, and one page in the published proceedings of the 3rd annual meeting of this society be left blank, in honor of his memory.

Resolved, That the members of the North Carolina Press Association, be requested to publish these proceedings, and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of the deceased.

CHAS. R. JONES, JOS. A. ENGLEHARD, J. F. MURRILL, Com.

INSANE. Mrs. Lincoln has been consigned to a lunatic asylum in Illinois by the order of a competent court, and the necessity for this explains, we think, very fully her eccentricities of behavior a few years ago, when she covered her friends with mortification at her queer performances. It is alleged that her mind has never been sound since the terrible taking off of Mr. Lincoln, whose assassination was, perhaps, the most disastrous event for the South, after the surrender, which even the ingenuity of our enemies could have devised. It is not unnatural that the assassination of her husband should have shaken her reason, and as such seems to have been the lamentable fact, we have no doubt that insanity will be generally accepted by the public in explanation of her undignified and eccentric behavior to which we have referred.

There is a young man named Glorhorn in Pitt county, not yet 21 years of age, who has his third wife.

THE PRESS AND THE CENTENNIAL CEREMONIES.

If there is one thing more than another which we are proud of in connection with the ceremonies attending the late Centennial celebration, it is that the press generally have spoken well and favorably of the action of the people of Charlotte in regard to the entertainment of her guests, on that occasion. Had we time and space at command, we should like very much to reproduce the high commendations which appeared in the columns of our contemporaries, but in other matters we have fallen so far behind in our effort to do the Centennial justice, that we are necessarily compelled to pass them by. It is, perhaps, sufficient for us to say that we have yet to find the first editor or newspaper man who was not well pleased with the reception he met with at the hands of the people during the celebration.

Many thought that it must be otherwise, when the vast crowd in attendance was considered. A certain railroad man was cautious enough to advise us to have our hair cut short and prepare to have what must be left severely pulled by disappointed pugilists. He even went so far as to promise a special engine to carry us where no offended persons could "go for us." We are glad to say that his precautions were entirely unnecessary, and that our locks are in no danger from disgruntled visitors at the Charlotte Centennial. In addition to the extensive arrangements which had been made by the various committees, every citizen of Charlotte threw wide his doors, and invited visitors to partake of the hospitality so necessary on such an occasion.

As to the good feeling which was exhibited on all hands, we must quote the following paragraph from the last Atlanta Herald:

"Wilmington and Fayetteville, the lower capital and the upper metropolis of the Cape Fear region, appeared to have been transported, almost en masse, to add the lustre of the revolutionary fame of the Cape Fear to the commemoration of the glory of the mountain region of Carolina. Besides her organizations, delegations, and her historic families. As "one star differeth from another star in glory," so the deeds of the revolutionary patriots of Cape Fear, and those of Mecklenburg, are to be separated only by a question of locality and not of degree. Co-operating in the worthy commemoration of yesterday with the descendants of those Grahams and Alexanders whom Cornwallis made illustrious forever as the "Hornets of Rebellion" were descendants of that Hugh Waddell and John Ashe, who openly flouted British authority by destroying the stamps of the Cape Fear, and of that Moses, John DeRosset, who as Mayor of Wilmington, headed the demonstrations of disloyalty with which Wilmington seized the boat of the Diligence, lying in the Cape Fear, to enforce the Stamp Act, and afterwards made an illumination in honor of the enforced concessions of the royal Governor."

Fifty-Ninth Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of North Carolina. The session of this Convention, held in Newbern last week, was of a most interesting character to the Episcopal Church in the State. We glean the subjoined condensed account from the Newbern Times of Saturday:

Bishops Atkinson and Lyman were both present. Thirty-two clergymen were present and fifty-six lay delegates. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. Aristides Smith, of Halifax. Rev. J. Worrall Lamour, of Goldsboro, was elected Secretary.

On Thursday, on motion of Dr. Armand J. DeRosset, of Wilmington, the following resolution, signed by Bishops Atkinson and Lyman, was forwarded to the Charlotte Centennial:

The Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of North Carolina, sends its greetings to the citizens of Charlotte, and to all those engaged there, in celebrating the Centennial Anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, praying that peace and happy memories of the Revolution may be cherished among us and throughout our whole country for all generations."

Dr. Armand J. DeRosset was unanimously re-elected Treasurer of the Convention.

Bishop Atkinson made a statement in regard to the late Dr. Mason's pamphlet on Baptism, commenting on it in the highest terms as a work of great merit, and stated that persons desiring it could purchase copies from Rev. Dr. Marshall.

The Bishop on Thursday delivered his Annual Address, which was listened to with great interest, and gave the most cheering account of the progress of the church throughout this State.

Assistant Bishop Lyman next delivered his Annual Address, which he read in an earnest and forcible manner, recounting the many labors and beauties of his church and forward the cause of Christ. He alluded also to the establishment of a school for boys near Morganton, N. C., as a most praiseworthy undertaking, stating that a beautiful site had been selected and donated to the Church for the purpose, and that he hoped, would soon be in operation.

The following gentlemen were re-elected the Standing Committee of the Diocese: Revs. Drs. Smedes, and Watson, and C. Huske, and Hon. Wm. H. Battle and Gen. W. R. Cox, and the following gentlemen were re-elected as the Executive Missionary Committee: Revs. Dr. Watson, Mr. Huske, Dr. A. J. DeRosset, Robert Strange, Esq., and Col. S. L. Fremont.

The Bishop appointed the following Examining Chaplains: In Southern part of the State, Rev. Dr. Watson, and Rev. Mr. Patterson; in the Eastern portion, Rev. Messrs. Forbes, and Larmon; in the Central, Rev. Dr. Marshall and Rev. Mr. E. C. Smedes, and in the Western portion, Rev. Dr. Buxton and Rev. Mr. Buel.

Rev. Mr. Buel read the report of the Committee on the State of the Church, which gave very cheering accounts of the growth of the Church in the Diocese and from which we gather the following statistics: Baptisms, 663; confirmations, 548; communicants, 4,385; pupils and catechumens, 4,200; marriages, 115; burials, 260; contributions, $52,480.92; church consecrated, 1; clergymen received, 5; clergymen removed, 3; clergymen died, 1; presentation of candidates, 1; inculcating, 1; the Bishops, deacons, 8; postulants, 5; Rev. Mr. Barber reported favorably on the motion to admit St. John's Church, Rutherfordton, to a representation in the Convention.

Rev. Mr. Buel offered the following resolution, which was adopted: Resolved, That the resolutions presented by the Committee on the Division of the Diocese, be referred to the consideration of the next Diocesan Convention, and that meanwhile the Committee be continued and requested to report further upon the two points of a Federate Union of the Diocese and an equitable division of parishes. Mr. Bynum warmly supported his resolutions in a short but effective speech.

J. B. Bachelor, lay delegate from Raleigh, seconded the amendment, and offered also an amendment to canon 15, sec. 3 striking out the words "confirmed persons of age" and inserting in their stead the word "communicants." Rev. Dr. Smedes opposed the amendments. On motion of Hon. W. H. Battle the amendments were referred to the Committee on Canons, with instructions to report to the Convention during the evening session.

Mr. Martin offered an amendment to the report to the Division of the Diocese, appointing a committee to devise a plan to carry out the scheme as proposed. The resolution being adopted, the Bishop appointed, Rev. Drs. Smedes and Marshall, Rev. Mr. Rich, and Gen. G. Martin, as said committee.

On motion of Col. W. N. Martin, the clergy of the Diocese were requested to read the Bishops' Addresses or extracts therefrom within four weeks after their publication in their respective churches.

On motion of J. B. Bachelor, lay delegate from Raleigh, it was resolved that the next annual session of the Convention be held in St. Matthew's Church, Hillsboro.

Rev. Dr. Marshall made an informal report on the part of the Church Building Committee, stating that the total amount raised during the past year, which was far in excess of $100,000, was $120,000. Upon the clergy the necessity of attending to the matter.

Rev. Mr. Joiner read a memorial from Ascension Parish, Hickory, Catawba County, asking the aid of the Clergy and laity of the Convention in raising funds to build their church.

The Committee on Canons presented through Judge Battle their report, recommending the establishment of six convocations in the Diocese, to be presided over by a Dean, etc., styled as follows: Edgerton, Newberne, Wilmington, Raleigh, Charlotte and Morganton.

Also, recommending that no action be taken in regard to the suffrage in parochial elections, and also recommending the appointment of five to take the matter into consideration and report to the next Convention.

The Mecklenburg Centennial. [From the New York Herald.] The great success of the celebration at Charlotte yesterday, following, after a month's interval, the equally successful celebrations at Lexington and Concord, relieves us from misgivings respecting the grand Centennial of 1876, which will not be local, but national. These recent demonstrations, in the South as well as the North, attest an all-pervading national pride and fervent spirit of patriotism which kindle into enthusiasm as occasions are offered which render them of great value to the people. We have not dissimulated our deep anxiety that the Mecklenburg Celebration should satisfy public expectation, and our columns for the last month bear witness that we have done all in our power to invest it with interest. Our zeal has been rewarded by a genuine sympathy with the local feeling in North Carolina; secondly, by a conviction that these preliminary festivities are a gauge of the patriotic feeling of the country by which the country may judge of the celebration to be held at Lexington and Concord, especially, by a feeling that the success of these patriotic festivities at Charlotte would be a test of the interest of the South in the great occasion which is beginning to attract the attention of all civilized nations.

We feel great satisfaction in the Mecklenburg celebration, than in Lexington, Concord and Concord, because it has taken place in the South and is a conspicuous proof that the recent civil war has not quenched nor abated the patriotic spirit of that section of the country. The glorious memories of the Revolution are the strongest bond of union between the North and the South, and we fervently rejoice at the proof given yesterday that the emulous patriotism of Carolina founded on Revolutionary memories is not inferior to that of Massachusetts. How trivial is the recent quarrel of the States, and how insignificant in comparison with this proof that our civil war has not dimmed the fires of patriotism! The Centennial Celebration in North Carolina deserves more credit than that in Massachusetts. Charlotte is not like Lexington and Concord in the immediate vicinity of great cities like Boston and Lowell. It is not located in a densely populated section like Eastern Massachusetts. It had not the attraction of the presence of the President and his Cabinet, or the participation of literary men, known throughout the world, who thronged its military and civic display as imposing, and the success of its celebration as great as that in the most densely populated part of New England. This speaks well for Southern patriotism. It proves that the more brightly in Southern than in Northern hearts. It shows that the South, in its unsuccessful attempt to secede, did not intend to desert the principles of the American Revolution. The fact that the Confederate constitution was voted almost a word for word from the constitution of the United States proves that while aiming at a geographical separation they still clung to the same political principles which were held by the founders of the Republic. We have the success of the Mecklenburg Celebration, the great outpouring of people, the pride in national memories, the reverence for our Revolutionary fathers, its satisfaction in Southern priority in efforts for independence, as the most auspicious and healing event which has occurred since the South laid down its arms in the spring of 1865. We are confident that the great Centennial Celebration next year will restore the harmony of the Republic after the unfortunate estrangement of the last fifteen years.
