

The Observer Job Department has been thoroughly supplied with every needed want, and with the latest styles of Type, and every manner of Job Work can now be done with neatness, dispatch and cheapness.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily Year, (postpaid) in advance, $8 00. 6 mos. " " " " " 4 00. 3 mos. " " " " " 2 00. 1 mon. " " " " " 75.

GREAT REDUCTION IN BOOTS & SHOES

SMITH & FORBES, HAVE MARKED DOWN PRICES OF THEIR ENTIRE STOCK OF BOOTS & SHOES.

THESE PRICES ARE FOR CASH ONLY.

SMITH & FORBES,

NEW IRON FRONT BUILDING, TRADE STREET, ju31

THE ATLANTIC HOTEL, A SEASIDE RESORT.

THE above establishment, so favorably introduced to the public last Summer, by the new owner, Capt R D Graham, of Mecklenburg, is for the season of 1875, MAY 1ST TO OCTOBER 1st, open to such Visitors only as the undersigned may be willing to admit to his family circle.

THE peculiar situation of this house affords all the pleasure of a voyage without peril or seasickness.

NO DUST! NO FLIES!! NO MOSQUITOES!!! Railroad Tickets good for the whole season from Charlotte and return, $19.05. Ten Day Tickets, 9.55.

Applications must be made to GEO W CHARLOTTE, Proprietor.

Burgess Nichols & Co.,

WHOLESALE & RETAIL

FURNITURE BEDDING, &c., No. 5, West Trade Street. CHARLOTTE, N. C. JUST RECEIVED. A FULL ASSORTMENT OF Parlor Suits, in Hair Cloth Terry and Reps. Also, a new Supply of Lounges, all grades. A full assortment of Metallic Cases, Caskets and Wood Coffins, on hand. ju13

J. S. PHILLIPS, MERCHANT TAILOR, UNDER CENTRAL HOTEL, CHARLOTTE, N. C.

ALWAYS GUARANTEES SATISFACTION. ju13

A CARD. Having sold my entire Stock of Groceries to the well known strictly wholesale Grocery House of Messrs R M Miller & Sons, I recommend my former customers to this house, when in want of any goods in their line. Respectfully, W. J. BLACK. ju12 1/2

On and After

THIS date date, all persons who want to rent Sewing Machines, will be charged $1.50 per week, in advance, before removing from my office. D G MAXWELL, General Agent, Three doors below Tiddy's Book Store. ju13

Rockbridge Alum Water,

AND BUFFALO LETHEA WATER.

RECEIVED fresh from the Springs every week. We are the authorized agent for the celebrated Springs, and have perfected arrangements to receive fresh supplies every week direct from the Springs. Excelsior Saratoga Water on draught and in bottles. Congress Water. Harbors Water and Star Saratoga Water in bottles, for sale at McADEN'S Drug Store. ju11

Notice. The Democratic Executive Committee for this county, will meet at my office in Charlotte on Thursday, the 15th inst. J. B. BROWN, Chairman. July 11th, 1875.

Dog Tax.

TAX paid collars are now ready and will be sold by Richard Moore only, at his store on Trade Street. On every dog one dollar, on every cat two dollars. Every dog or cat seen without a tax paid collar after the 8th day of July next will be killed. C W ALEXANDER, Marshal. ju24

THE GRAND DEPOT For Mineral Water, MEADEN'S DRUG STORE. ju14

The Charlotte Observer.

PUBLISHED BY Charles H. Jones, Proprietor. Office, Observer Building, Corner Trade and College Streets.

ANNOUNCEMENT. JAR. H. MOORE is authorized to collect accounts for this office and receipt for the same, to receive subscriptions, &c. CHAS. R. JONES, Editor and Proprietor.

City Bulletin.

Files are not near so numerous. Dr J M Miller returned to the city last night. W C Wolfe, Esq., of the Monroe Enquirer is in the city.

Clark Hall is in jail. He was unable to give that little peace bond of $200. Yesterday was the anniversary of the first battle of Manassas.

Old Sol was obscured, a great part of yesterday. The clouds "didn't give the old man a chance."

This is the sort of weather that impels the young man to have all his hair cut off and his head sand papered.

Thus far 915 deeds and mortgages have been registered this year in the office of the Register of Deeds of Mecklenburg county.

It don't take the streets any time at all to get dusty. A rain is hardly over and the sun fairly cut, before the street sprinklers are on the go.

W W Peake, of Wintnsboro, S. C., has been appointed route agent on the Air-Line Railroad, vice Adam Crews, transferred to the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta. He enters upon his duties to-day.

Mr G S H Appleget, showed us, on yesterday, a beautiful design which he has made for a Methodist Church in Statesville. It is 42x70 feet, and 126 feet square, and the estimated cost is $5,000 to $6,000.

The brick work has been actively begun on the new building which Mr A B Davidson will erect on Trade street, next to Burwell's drug store. The building will probably be occupied by the Commercial National Bank.

The New Postal Cards. Will be out in a few days. The color will be light gray, and the heavy border and lines of the old kind will be omitted. The stamp will be square instead of oval, the printing will be in black ink, the size of the card unchanged, and the quality of the paper improved.

Convention Meeting. There will be a convention rally at Matthews Station, 10 miles from this city, on the Carolina Central Railroad, on Wednesday, August 4th. The meeting will be addressed by Col John E Brown, W W Fleming, Esq., and other gentlemen.

Delinquents. We are daily striking off from our subscription books, the names of subscribers who have not paid up, and some of them are the best men in the city. We dislike to do this, but business is business, and we are not publishing a paper for gratuitous distribution.

Got Hold of the Wrong One. Day before yesterday, a colored man in this city was trying to get a strange dog from under his house, by chucking him with rocks and punching him with sticks. The howling of the intruding brute attracted a neighbor's dog, which came bounding into the yard with all his might, and in his zeal to set things straight, seized the man by the leg and bit him twice before the situation could be explained to him.

St. Margaret's Day. Day before yesterday was "St. Margaret's Day" in the Church calendar. St. Margaret was one of the most popular saints in England, no less than 238 English churches being dedicated to her. She was the daughter of a pagan priest at Antioch, but was educated as a Christian. She refused to marry a Roman governor, and in consequence was exposed to the most dreadful tortures, and at last beheaded A. D. 278.

University of North Carolina. We take great pleasure in calling the attention of the public to the advertisement of this institution, to be found in our columns this morning. The exercises will be renewed on the 1st Monday in September. The buildings have all been repaired. The courses of study are very thorough and complete, fully up to the standard of those in the very best colleges and universities in the South.

A Dog. Attempted to bite a young gentleman on the street, yesterday morning, when the young man seized a plank and knocked him lifeless for awhile. The dog is a pet in the family of Mr James Hart, and was doctored up until he got well. Charlotte is now in that state when there is almost nothing to cause a variation of the monotony, and even this little incident soon drew a crowd to the scene.

Discarding the Pin-Back. We understand from a young gentleman who is just from the Catawba White Sulphur Springs, that the young lady visitors at that resort, have discarded the pin-back style to a great extent, since reaching the rural districts. Catawba, consequently, does not present so many attractions to the young men, and they are leaving for the towns and cities.

Struck With a Plank. A negro drayman was driving along the streets, when one of the planks that serves as a side-board, standing up against the standard, worked back and dropped with one on and on the ground. This caused the other end to fly up, and, reversing ends, the plank struck the negro fairly in the back of the head. It seemed to hurt him no more, however, than it did the bosom of the earth which it had previously struck, and, picking up his hat and plank, he re-mounted the wagon and the incident faded from his mind, no doubt, before he had gone half a square.

It Was His Maiden Name. The other day a negro man came into this office to subscribe for the OBSERVER, and gave his name as Pethel. The book-keeper told him that he was under the impression that his name was so-and-so. "Yes," responded the darkey, "that was my maiden name, but you see my wife was a Pethel!" This was a clincher, and he was accordingly booked as Pethel.

Committed to Jail. Allen Davis, the negro who attempted to perpetrate a theft at the store of Messrs J A Young & Son, on Tuesday night, was in the Mayor's Court yesterday morning, and was committed to jail in default of bail in $200. He is the same negro who was jailed on Sunday evening, charged with having stolen a show case and shoes from Mr H J Norris, and released on Monday for lack of evidence against him.

Supreme Court Decisions. The Supreme Court, on Tuesday rendered decisions in the following cases from this section of the State: By Bynum, J.: E L Sherrill vs. Martha Sherrill, et al., from Catawba; judgment affirmed. By Pearson, C. J.: State vs Thomas Gladden, from Cleveland. Error. Venie de novo. Mary B Day vs George Howard, et al., from Edgecombe. Error and reversed. Judgment for plaintiff according to case agreed.

The Tax Gathering at Collins' Store. Yesterday was tax collecting day in Berryhill Township, and quite a large crowd gathered at Collins' store. Col Johnston was present and made a speech. Dr Kerr was there also, and spoke, saying among other things that he was an old-time Republican, of the time of 1875. He is regularly on the track for Convention. We understand that there is not a white Radical in this township now. There was one last year, but he moved away.

Row in Five Points. There was another row in the Five Points last night about 10 o'clock. A crowd had gathered at the house of Alfred Lander for a dance, when a difficulty sprang up. Lander states that he was shot at by a railroad hand who had just come, and that three other drew knives on him. The police arrested only one of the offenders, Henry Tomlin, and he was taken to the guard house. The affair drew quite a crowd to the Five Points, in addition to the usual denizens of that sweet-scented locality.

Disaffected or What? Neither Dr Wm Sloan nor Col C J Cowles, attended the meeting on Tuesday, of the 18-17 Conventionists. Be those brethren lukewarm in the cause? Messrs C A Frazer and H B Peters, who have in times past, done a great deal of work for "the party of great moral ideas," neither one will support the ticket put out; but why are the two gentlemen first named so silent, when there is so much danger of our being "landed on a troubled sea," and when this may be the "last chance the poor white men and negroes will ever have to vote?"

Greasy Sam Watts. Has forwarded an inquiry to this city, if he must come to fulfill his appointment here? He apprehended that no Republican ticket would be put out in this county, and if there was none, His Greasiness thinks "he could do more good elsewhere." By all all means let him come. We want the people of Mecklenburg to see him and to realize that it was the present Constitution which caused the elevation to the judgeship, of one who has no regard for the dignity of his office, than to descend from the bench and enter the political arena, stripped and girded for the fight.

The Sumac Season. The season has commenced for the gathering of sumac in the surrounding country, and for two or three months there will be no lack of work for the small colored folks who want to turn an honest penny. There are hundreds of children in this city who might make quite a handsome thing of it by going to the country to gather sumac. In the neighboring town of Statesville, much money is paid out every year for sumac and every other description of roots and herbs which can be utilized for medicinal or other purposes. Messrs Wallace & Eves, have a large botanical warehouse there, from which they ship large quantities of these wild growths to which, until recently, no attention has been paid. This is a source of no inconsiderable revenue to Iredell county, and we wish that Charlotte had a similar establishment.

The Republican Nominees. It is not known what course will be pursued by Col W R Myers, with reference to the nomination which was tendered him on Tuesday, by the Radical Convention in this city. He is absent at the Virginia White Sulphur Springs, and has been written to by Gen Barringer to know whether or not he will accept the nomination. Our opinion, made up from conversations with Col Myers' friends, both personal and political, is, that he will decline. Just before leaving, he announced positively, on more than one occasion, that he would not run, and he has little idea that the action of that meeting on Tuesday will weigh enough with him to induce him to change his mind. Dr Kerr, however, will run, if it makes him sick. He always runs, and would very probably have run even if he hadn't been nominated. Fortunately though, his running never amounts to anything. He walizes all over the county with the Sheriff every summer, when there is an election, and when the election is over, goes home to stay until the next campaign opens.

A Historic Stick.

Our friend Jas H Orr, received by express yesterday, a stick which had the following words written on the back of the shipping tag: "This stick struck the first link in the great riot at Rock Hill." The stick will be preserved and handed down to posterity, to be exhibited on the centennial celebration of the battle in which it played such a conspicuous part.

Fell in a Fainting Fit.

Last night Mr. J. Riley Davidson was standing at the corner of Burwell's drug store, in conversation with Dr. J. M. Miller, when he suddenly fainted, and before Dr. M. could catch him, fell to the pavement. He recovered in a few moments and walked home. Mr. Davidson had been unwell for two or three days previous.

Magistrate's Court.

Before Just. E. W. Davidson.—Jim Morehead, colored, for not providing for his family. Fined $50; he appeals. Pinck Mason, for assault and battery upon Mary Billeter. Case compromised. Harriet Lawing, colored, petty larceny. Returns the property (a dress) and is released upon paying the cost. Ann Smith, peace warrant sworn out by Charlotte Henderson. Bound over.

Somewhat of a Coincidence.

Mighty near everybody knows Jim Trotter. He is long legged till his legs are nearly circular, and you can throw a round pug between them without its ever touching. Just at any time you pick him up he can out-dance anybody in town, and when he is dancing, he extends his mouth till a saucer can be set in it. He was in the fracas at Rock Hill, on Monday, and while stooping down to pick up a rock, "a lump of old red sand stone took him" in the back of the head, causing him to perform a revolution which is vulgarly known as turning heels over head. The coincidence is that just as Jim fell Charlotte, that morning, he placed a stick at shoulder arms, and remarking that he was the "Gigader Brinerel," fell into the procession, while a gentleman standing by, prophesied that he would get knocked in the head before he was six hours older.

Almost Lrowned in a Tub.

Yesterday afternoon, a little child of Mr. J. E. Cassidy, who lives on the corner of Ninth and College streets, came near losing its life under the following circumstances: The child, which is about two years old, was out in the yard at play, while Mrs. Cassidy was in the house sewing on a machine. Having occasion to send a girl up street, she went out to look for her and it was then that she noticed the absence of the child from where she had seen it playing a few moments before. Looking all around she could see it nowhere, when it occurred to her to look in a large tub which was standing in the yard. She did so, and saw the child lying in the bottom completely covered over by the water. Mrs. Cassidy caught it up and ran in the house with it, where she worked with it and applied to it what restoratives were at hand. For some time it gave no evidence of life, but after awhile began to gasp, and by the time Dr. Jo. Graham, who was sent for, had arrived, the recovery was complete.

Midsommer Fashions.

For the benefit of our lady readers, we compile the following notes from some of our fashion exchanges: The novelty in belts is the gros grain ribbon, more than two inches wide, and worn at the waist, to fasten in front on the left side in a bow, with loops and ends reaching nearly or quite to the knee. Undressed kid gloves retain their old favor and are much used, not only in traveling but for country and street wear. Cotton gloves, for extreme warm weather, come with kid-finish backs and two or three buttons.

For indoors, beautiful waists and overskirts are made of lace and insertings, (usually white), designated to be worn over silk and velvet long skirts, while, if the wearer is possessed of fair neck and arms, a low bodice, without sleeves and edged with handsome lace, is worn as an underwaist. Hats of English straw are much more serviceable than those of chip, and are consequently accepted as most suitable for traveling, and are pretentiously trimmed. The light, airy dresses of organdy, linen lawn, and other translucent textures, are fast being abandoned because of the impossibility of that crisp freshness which constitutes their chief attractiveness.

Traveling dresses are almost invariably made in three pieces, consisting of a plain draped and finished on the edges, like the basque, with a piping, a crimped fringe or other equally simple trimming, and an overskirt sufficiently short to escape the ground in walking, and sparsely ornamented. The favorite color is brown.

Broad-heeled shoes, having a tendency to square rather than round toes, furnish the favorite walking boot, and a half-low tie is also admissible. Colored stockings are more in vogue than ever, and come both plain and striped. The former are the latest of the two, and show the new red, for which there are such a furor. After the silk hose, the most expensive as well as the handsomest are the Lisle thread, and many of them bear the old-fashioned clocked instep and ankles.

USE OUTLERS.

Patent Pocket Inhaler for Asthma. W R BURWELL & CO., Agents for the Manufacturer. ju122

COMMUNICATED.

A CARD. CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 21, 1875. MESSRS EDITORS:—

I notice in your issue of the 20th July, a communication from Mr Mc Arledge, stating that his jaw had been poisoned by a dentist of this city. Having done no work for Mr Mc Arledge, I am not the man he has reference to.

DR A W ALEXANDER. The Ninth of April, 1865.

[From the London Spectator.] It is a Nation's death-cry! Yes; the agony is past; The stoutest race that ever fought, to-day hath fought its last. Ay; start and shudder; Well thou mayest! Well veil their weeping eyes! England, may God forgive thy past; Man cannot but despise.

Yes, shudder at that cry that speaks the South's supreme despair; Thou that couldst save and saved'st not dare! Thou that couldst save and didst not dare! Thou that hadst might to aid the right and heart to brook the wrong; Weak words to comfort for the weak; strong hands to help the strong!

That land, the garden of thy wealth, one haggard waste appears, The ashes of her sunny homes are slacked with patient tears. Tears for the slain who died in vain for freedom on the field; Tears, tears of bitter anguish still for those that lived to yield.

The cannon of his country pealed brave Stuart's general knell; Her soldiers' cheers rang in his ears as Stonewall Jackson fell. Onward o'er gallant Ashby's grave swept War's triumphant tide; And Southern hopes were living yet, when Polk and Morgan died.

But he the leader, on whose word these captives loved to wait; The noblest, bravest, best of all, hath found a harder fate; Unscathed by shot and steel, he passed through many a desperate field; Oh! God that he hath lived so long, and only lived—to yield!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

Along the war-worn waste ranks that loved him to the last, With saddened face and weary pace the vanished chieftain passed, Their own hard lot to the men forlorn; they felt what his must be: What thoughts in that dark hour must wring the heart of General Lee.

The manly cheek with tears was wet, the stately head was bowed. As breaking from their shattered ranks around his steed they crowd, "I did my best for you," 'twas all those quivering lips could say; Ah, happier those whom death spared the anguish of that day.

Weep on, Virginia! Weep, the lives given to thy cause in vain; The sons who live to wear once more the Union's galling chain; The homes whose light is quenched for aye; the graves without a stone; The folded flag, the broken sword, the hope forever flown.

Yet raise thy head fair land! thy dead died bravely for the right; The folded flag, is stainless still, the broken sword is bright; No blot is on thy record found; no treason soils thy fame; Weep thou thy dead;—with covered head we mourn our England's shame!

FINE SALAD OIL.

Mustard and Spices, just received. W R BURWELL & CO. ju122

PAINT AND VARNISH BRUSHES.

Shoe Brushes, White Wash Brushes, W R BURWELL & CO. ju122

WE ARE

Selling our stock of fine Cigars at very low prices. W R BURWELL & CO. ju122

NOTICE!

COL. WM. JOHNSTON, DEMOCRATIC-CONSERVATIVE nominee for the Constitutional Convention, will address his fellow-citizens of Mecklenburg, at the following times and places, at which time and places the Sheriff will attend to collect the State and county taxes for 1875:

Table with 2 columns: Location and Date. Locations include Paw Creek, Long Creek, Lemley's, Davidson College, East ab Church, Mallard Creek, House, Crab Orchard, Clear Creek, Morning Star, Providence, Sharon, Pineville.

ROCKINGHAM A SHEETING,

For sale by the bale at Factory prices. SPENCER & ALLEN. ju122

CRYSTAL FLOUR.

A fancy brand just received, by SPENCER & ALLEN. ju122

WE KEEP

Constantly on hand a good stock of Salt Molasses, Sugar, Coffee, Bacon, Lard, &c., which will be sold at bottom prices. Give us a call. SPENCER & ALLEN. ju122

BOARDING.

Desirable board can be obtained at Mrs M Asbury's, corner of Church and 3d streets, on terms to suit the times. ju11 1/2

MASON'S

Improved Fruit Jar. A large stock just received by W R BURWELL & CO. ju17

ENGLISH

Breakfast Packet Tea Company. All kinds of Tea at $1 per lb. Samples free. W R BURWELL & CO. ju17

A LARGE LOT

Of Window Glass, all sizes, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, &c. W R BURWELL & CO. ju17

CATHOLIC

PRAYER BOOKS, FOR SALE BY TIDDY & BROTHER. ju121

Take a Bottle

OF Gregory's Dyspepsia Mixture with you to the Springs—trial bottle 75 cents. T C SMITH & CO. ju121

Buy Coach Varnish

OF T C Smith & Co's corner drug store. ju121