THE GRAND DEPOT

The Charlotte Observer.

Charles H. Jones, Proprietor. Office, Observer Building, Corner Trade and College Streets.

ANNOUNCEMENT. Jas. H. Jones is authorized to collect for this office and receipt for the same, to receive subscriptions, &c.

City Bulletin. Two weeks from yesterday until the election.

They are "hiking" out for the cool places now, in a hurry.

The excavation for the new insurance building will be completed to-day.

The crop reports are cheering, from every section of the county.

Jim Harris, colored, is billed to make an anti-convention speech in this city, on the 31st inst.

There will be a sale, on Saturday, of nearly 150 unclaimed packages, at the office of the Southern Express Co.

The matrimonial market is dull in the city at present. It used to be with the girls, "Who is he?" and now they have whittled it down to a final point and wall, "Where is he?" and echo answers "Where?"

When you see a little boy coming out of a drug store with two inches of liquor in his mouth, and a smile of delight on his countenance, you can bet safely on the drug store clerk knowing that boy's sister.

The Temperance. The following was the range of the thermometer, yesterday, at the drug store of W. R. Barwell & Co.:

At 9 A. M. 83°; 12 M. 88°; 3 P. M. 92°; 6 P. M. 91°.

Favorite Resort. The passage of the Court House is the best looking place in town, and the large number of persons who appreciate this fact, gather there every afternoon and discuss and settle questions which have been perplexing the brains of philosophers for ages.

The Macadamizing. The work goes bravely on. The grading has been finished from in front of the Mint to the Air Line Depot, and the rocks put in; these are now being broken up. A small section of the rock work has been covered over with dirt to the depth of four or five inches, and is completed, as far as it goes.

Match Game Base Ball. A friendly match game will be played on Monday afternoon next, between the second nine of the Centennial Base Ball Club, and the first nine of the Independent Club, both of this city.

The Only Thing. Which occurred yesterday, to cause the slightest ripple on the streets or to even modify the monotony, was a fight between two little negroes on the corner of Trade and Church streets.

The Female Institute. Thus far all efforts to secure a lessee for this building have proved ineffectual. It was at one time regarded as certain that Col E. A. Osborne would take it, but he and the board of trustees failed to agree upon terms.

A Little Girl on Pin-Backs. "What do you think of pin-backs? Do they all say you talk a heap 'bout 'em, in de paper?" is the salutation we received from a little angel (who cannot yet talk plainly, whom we met on the street, yesterday evening.

Business is Business. The young men in this city whom it is proposed to "proscribe," have held a meeting and decided not to go West.

Illegible Telegram.

An associated press telegram was received by us last night, concerning the session of the National Cotton Exchange at the White Sulphur Springs yesterday, which would no doubt be interesting to our cotton dealers, but we will wager our precious life against a ginger cake, that there is not a man in the world who can read it or make sense out of it even if he could.
