City Bulletin.

The sale of express packages to-day at 11 o'clock. Two bales of cotton sold yesterday! Ain't us hoses?

No session of the Mayor's Court, yesterday. Charlotte has base ball on the brain; no sort of doubt about that.

A pleasant shower last evening, cooled the atmosphere very materially.

One of the double acting stone force pumps, is being put in the well in front of the Court House.

A calculator says there is a net profit of eight cents on a glass of soda water or lemonade sold at ten cents.

A barefooted negro playing a banjo, while he and others sang, was the attraction which the vicinity of the Central Hotel presented last night.

The Rock Hill Grange speaks in terms of commendation of the bearing of the mass of Charlotte freemen, at the riot in that town on Monday last.

Our handsome young citizens, when playing base ball, perspiration streaming from their faces and shirts sticking closely to their backs do look "just too sweet to live."

The left eye of the young lady of the period is constantly cast heavenward to see where the rim of her hat on that side has gone.

We would say to the Statesville Landmark that the Bailey who said a piece in the Radical meeting here on Tuesday last, is not W H Bailey, but J L Bailey, his son.

A friendly match game of Base Ball was played, yesterday evening, between the 2nd nine of the Centennial Base Ball Club and the Independent Club, in which the former were victorious.

We fellows who work nearly all night, get all the benefit of the moonlight these nights while it is missed by folks who go to bed early. We occasionally enjoy, too, the distinguished privilege of seeing the sun rise.

Messrs. Jenkins & Dowd, who have opened a wholesale and retail grocery establishment on the corner of Tryon and Eleventh streets, will be pleased to see their friends at their place of business.

"Green apples and cucumbers," was the response we received. We had asked, "What's the matter?" of a small boy who was running along home, blubbering, with his hands clasped across the basement of his stomach.

The boys on the streets have a new machine for making noise. It is made of a wooden match box, and beyond this beggars description. The sound it produces is unlike anything else ever heard on the face of the earth.

We confess to some disappointment in Greasy Sam Watts having been beat off the track, and of having broken faith with his Republican brethren of Charlotte. His coming would have been worth 100 votes to us.

A woman fight was reported to the police last night by one of the participants, who had her dress torn nearly off. The matter will probably be investigated this morning.

The Temperature. The following was the range of the thermometer, yesterday, at the drug store of W R Burwell & Co.:

Table with 2 columns: Time (At 6 A. M., 9 A. M., 12 M., 3 P. M., 6 P. M.) and Temperature (81, 84, 89, 92, 84).

Tank Repaired. The repairs to the tank in front of Mr J H Wilson's residence, corner of Tryon and Third, were all completed yesterday afternoon. The tank has been found to hold water, and yesterday evening a portion of the Pioneer Company turned out and filled it up.

President to be Elected. A meeting of the Ugly Club will be held to-night, to elect a President in the place of Capt Kenneth Finch, whose railroad duties, since conductors on the Carolina Central now run through from Wilmington to Buffalo, will not permit his discharging the duties of his late office.

Sunday Trains. A telegram received in this city yesterday announces that the regular passenger and mail train on the Western end of the Carolina Central road will leave the depot in Charlotte on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock for Buffalo, so that passengers can go up to Cleveland Springs on that day and return Monday morning.

Like South Carolina. A friend of ours, a merchant, heard two negroes talking in front of his store a day or two ago, when one of them remarked in the course of conversation, that he had made up his mind, at one time, to move to South Carolina, but believed he would wait now "till after the election here, and if we (the negroes) carry the State, it will be fixed then just like South Carolina." Delightful prospect, is it not, white men of North Carolina?

Obtaining Goods Under False Pretences. Jake Brown, colored, was before Justice Martin, yesterday, for false pretences. The complainant was Mr. C. H. Wolfe, who lives five miles from town, in Sharon Township. Brown was late an employee on the Carolina Central Railroad, and was indebted to Mr. Wolfe for $22 worth of goods. He gave him an order on Mr. Allen, paymaster of the road for the amount, and then, before Mr. Wolfe could present it, went down himself and drew the money. He was committed in default of bail in $200.

Personal.

Maurice Q. Waddell, Esq., of Chatham county, arrived in this city yesterday.

Our young friend, J. J. Hemphill, Esq., of Chester, S. C., was at the Central Hotel last night, and leaves this morning for the Cleveland Springs.

Prof. J. H. Carlisle, of Spartanburg, S. C., was registered yesterday at the Central Hotel.

The Mecklenburg Republican Ticket

Six white radicals and 150 negroes were in Charlotte yesterday and nominated Col W. R. Myers and Dr. Wm. Kerr for Convention. Col. Myers was beaten for the Senate by Waring three hundred and more votes. The democrats of staunch old Mecklenburg have done it unto them once and they will do it again, if the Lord spares them until August 5th.—Raleigh Sentinel.

Scholarship in a Medical College.

Capt R P Waring, late State Senator from this district, has been furnished a free scholarship in the Louisville Medical College, Louisville, Ky. He will give the scholarship to any deserving young man who desires to pursue the study of medicine and who will apply for it. This is an excellent opportunity for some young man to obtain a medical education at little cost. He will have no tuition or other college fees to pay, and his board, clothing and incidentals, will be his only expense.

Geometrical Progression.

A man laboring under the combined effects of sun and rum, after having described nearly every angle possible in his perambulation on one of the streets, yesterday noon, attempted to illustrate a horizontal, and succeeded in making a severe cut on his chin, from which he bled profusely. He laid down in a back lot, and went to sleep, and woke O. K. at a later hour of the day, and went on his way rejoicing, promising to confine his geometrical studies in future to paper, and in his walk to only make straight lines and perpendiculars.

St Mary Magdalene.

Day before yesterday was observed by the religious in honor of St Mary Magdalene, who is believed to have been the sinner to whom much had been forgiven, and the saint who loved much. She was the most constant of all our Lord's followers:

"Not she with traitorous kiss her Master stung, Not she denied Him with unfaithful tongue; She, when apostles fled, and danger brave, Last at His cross and earliest at His grave."

After the Ascension she is said to have lived for some time in Judea, and then to have retired to Ephesus, where she resided with the Virgin Mary.

Postal Rulings.

Unsealed circulars for local delivery are subject to a postage of one cent each circular, which must be prepaid. An address may be written on a circular, but any other writing thereon except the mere correction of a typographical error, will subject it to letter postage.

When packages of merchandise or samples of merchandise are wrapped so as to prevent examination, or have any writing upon them except the address it is the duty of the postmaster to tax them up with letter postage, to be collected on delivery. Samples may be marked in pencil or ink with letters or figures by which they are to be distinguished in a descriptive letter or invoice without subjecting the package to letter postage.

So Many Farmers There.

In the report of the proceedings of the Radical Convention held in this city on Tuesday, as made up by the Secretary and furnished to the Raleigh Constitution, the following sentence occurs:

"It was a cheering sign to see so many farmers present, men who earn their bread by honest toil, and who have the backbone in the face of party displeasure, to come out and express their sentiments in opposition to Convention."

"By shimin'; ish dots!" Now we would like to know the names of some of these horny-handed sons of toil who, "in the face of party displeasure" expressed their opposition to Convention. There were only three farmers in that meeting—Jo Gillespie, Bissel and Martin—and they have ever been Radicals, dyed in the wool and double struck in the weaving. What amount of 'party displeasure' do they incur in opposing Convention? Wouldn't they be kicked out of the party if they didn't oppose it? "So many farmers!" indeed!

An Unusual Case.

A case of some interest, and one which presents some rather novel points, was tried yesterday before Justice W. F. Davidson. It will be recollected, perhaps, that some weeks ago, we published an account of the marriage in this city of an ex-United States soldier named Kline, to the widow of a soldier, who was killed in the Modoc war, named Parker. Before the marriage of Kline and the woman, however, he had worked her farm, and upon their falling out, sued her for work and labor done. Justice Davidson tried this case, and granted an execution in favor of the man for forty odd dollars. Before the process was served, the two made up their differences and were married, and this, of course, put an end to all legal proceedings.

A few days ago, the couple quarreled again, and the woman ran her husband off. Yesterday he appeared before Justice Davidson and revived the suit for the recovery of the $40. W. H. Bailey, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff, and Col. H. C. Jones for the defendant. The trial continued for two hours, and many law points were raised and discussed. At the conclusion of the arguments, the Court announced that it would reserve its decision.

Summer Absentees.

Mr. Geo. E. Wilson and wife, Miss Bessie Dewey, Miss Emma and Pena McDowell, and Mr. W. P. Myers, left last night for Beaufort. (The three last named proposed leaving yesterday morning, but delayed their departure, rendering premature our notice in yesterday's paper.)

Mr. J. S. Williamson is recreating in South Carolina.

Gen. R. D. Johnston and family, are summering in the mountains of this State.

Mrs. J. A. Young, Jr., and family, left the city day before yesterday morning, for the Cleveland Springs.

Burned to Death by Kerosene.

Miss Jane McNinch and Mrs. J. W. Brown (sisters) who died from the effects of a kerosene explosion in Chester, S. C., a few days ago, were cousins of the McNinch brothers of this city. The Chester Reporter says that Miss McNinch in attempting to kindle a fire poured out some kerosene oil into the stove. The blaze, at once, was communicated to the oil can which exploded and set fire to the clothing of the unfortunate young lady. She was horribly burned and lingered, in the greatest agony, for a few hours and then died. Her sister, Mrs. Brown, sank rapidly under the shock received from this terrible disaster, and died at midnight.

The Campaign in the West—Greasy Sam Watts Driven Off the Track.

Maurice Q. Waddell, Esq., of Chatham, arrived in the city yesterday, to meet Greasy Sam Watts who is billed for a speech here to-day. Mr. Waddell he and Gen Leach arrived at Marion, McDowell county, on Thursday about 2 p. m., and found the Court House filled with people listening to His Greasy Honor and Col (?) W S Pearson on the one side and Maj W J Montgomery on the other. Maj Montgomery spoke only a short time after these two gentlemen entered, and Pearson followed him in a short talk. Greasy had already spoken once, but he made another speech of a half hour in length. When he had concluded, Gen Leach rose and introduced Mr. Waddell. Greasy had not seen him since he had entered the Court House, and, speaking to him asked him if he would not excuse his absence from the Court House for a few moments, that he would soon be back. He was told yes, and as he cleared the door, Mr. Waddell turning to the crowd, said: "You will never see that man in here again," and they didn't. He had too lively a recollection of the drubbing he received at the hands of Mr. Waddell in Pittsboro last week, to meet him in debate again. Gen Leach and Mr. Waddell both spoke, and when they finished, Pearson had disappeared.

Yesterday morning the whole crowd got on the eastward bound train. Mr. Waddell told Greasy he supposed that he was coming to Charlotte to fulfill his appointment on Saturday? Greasy asked him where he was going and being told that he was coming to Charlotte to meet him on the stump, Greasy took his satchel in his hand at Morganton, and slipped out of the train! So we shall be deprived of the pleasure of seeing the fur fly from him here to-day.

Gen Leach fulfilled an appointment at Morganton yesterday, and Greasy went to a place ten miles in the country, where he had no appointment.

A Thief Captured and Stolen Goods Recovered.

During the latter part of May, a thief stole from Mr D C Malloy, two suits of clothes and parts of other suits, a gold watch chain and seals belonging to it, a pair of gold cuff buttons, a quantity of underclothing, and other articles. Just previous to this, a suit of clothes and some underclothing had been stolen from Mr C N Vance, a coat and pair of pants from Mr Charles Chunn, a pair of pants and some gold coins—relics—from Mr Long. Until yesterday no clue had been found to the missing articles.

Yesterday morning Mr Malloy was standing in the door of Brem, Brown & Co's hardware store, when a negro passed along the street, wearing a watch chain dangling from his vest. Mr Malloy recognized it in an instant, and stepping in front of the negro, seized him and demanded the chain. The negro made no denial, but said he had bought it, and announced his willingness to give it up. About this time Mr Malloy recognized his cuff buttons ornamenting the negro's sleeves, and, sending for a policeman, the party was held until the officer arrived, when he was taken to the lock-up. A search warrant was then sued out before Justice Martin, and the house of the negro, (one of those hovels in rear of the Central Hotel) was searched. However, the negro, after being locked up, had sent word to his wife by a friend who accompanied him to the calaboose, to take the stolen articles, stolen from the house and hide them elsewhere. When the officer arrived with a found some she was removing them; and on Fourth street, making away with an armful of clothing. She was arrested, her load taken possession of, and the house searched, when a portion of the articles stolen and enumerated above, were found. In addition to these, some clothing the property of a man from St Louis, and also some articles belonging to Gen Rufus Barringer, were found in a trunk which was well stocked with stolen goods.

The negro gave his name as Causey Blair alias Kosiuko Blair. He is identified by a gentleman from York county, South Carolina, who knows him as a great scoundrel and as a Penitentiary bird. He and his wife Jane were carried before Justice A H Martin, where the owners of the stolen goods appeared, and identified their property. Gen Barringer appeared for the prosecution, and Geo E Wilson, Esq., for the defence. After a full investigation, which was attended by a large crowd, and which excited a great deal of interest, bail was fixed for the man at $500 and for the woman as accessory at $200. Being unable to give bond, they were committed to jail to await trial at the Superior Court next month.

A Refreshing Sight.

It is a rare thing that one ever sees a sight indicating more don't-care-damn-iveness than that presented, yesterday, by the driver of one of the street sprinklers. He had a watermelon stuck in the hole in the top of the hogshead through which the water is put in, and while he drove his mule with one hand, he reached around and grabbed the out the heart of the watermelon with the other. The perfect nonchalance of his manner, added interest to the scene, as he munched away on his melon, with all the breezy vigor of a backwoods nut-cracker.

Blackwood's Magazine.

The Leonard Scott Publishing Co, 51 Barclay Street, New York, have just published the July number of Blackwood's Magazine. It is, as usual, highly interesting.

Of the serial, "The Dilemma," we have already spoken in terms of approval, and we can only add that the old adage, "When a man marries his troubles begin," seems likely to be proved equally applicable to a woman.

"Paulo-Post-Mortem" is the sad self-communing of a disembodied spirit who has returned to visit his former haunts, where "all seems other than it used to seem."

The mysterious story, "Under the Mask," which appears to be the first part of a serial, tends to show how the witchcraft of the alchemist is rendered powerless by the smiles of a young maiden.

The "Sketch of Canada as it now is" is a very comprehensive article on the geographical features, resources, and government of Canada.

We have reached the last paper of travels through the "Abode of Snow," and find it as interesting as the first. It gives an account of the lawless tribes that infest the borders of Afghanistan.

Then comes the review of new books, five in number.

"Speke's Nile—Livingstone's Congo" is a letter written to correct some erroneous statements made in the Quarterly Review for April in reference to the water-shed of Inner Southern Africa.
