A novel feature of a recent entertainment at the Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, was the perfuming the house with geranium and bergamot, while the programmes were rich with the odor of roses.

A Spencer, Mass., tonsorial firm dissolved under peculiar circumstances. One partner ordered a man out of the shop and the other told him to stop. In the fight that ensued one partner got on top of the trespasser, and the senior member of the firm sat on them both. It is the senior who may be found at the old stand.

A recent city census of Boston shows a total population of 341,919. This is a gain, including the outlaying towns since annexed to the city, of 73,288 since the State census was taken in 1865.

Brigham Young's wife died last Saturday, but he doesn't come within fifteen funerals of being a widower.

The late Judge Grover, of the New York Court of Appeals, was a rough diamond, and very funny anecdotes are told of him. Once, when practicing before a petty judge, he declared that he would not give a peck of potatoes for his honor's law. Upon being called to account for his language, Mr. Grover humbly apologized, but seriously weakened the force of his retraction by declaring that if he had said a half bushel he never would have taken it back.—Boston Post.

Americans in Paris get Cardinals to officiate when they marry off their daughters. The more recent their nearness to the ancestral shoemaker, the more they want a Cardinal to do the job.

When a Canada girl loves, she loves like a hand engine going to a fire. In a breach of promise suit the other day it was shown that a young lady wrote to her lover eight times per day.

A Northtown man has invented a shell which deserves the immediate attention of Secretary Bingham. It is filled with dinner bells, and when it bursts among ten thousand soldiers, these smaller shells are scattered in all directions, and, bursting in turn, and but still smaller shells, which travel around recklessly, and by the time the miniature bells are exhausted in the third size explodes, the army is nearly wiped out, and the few men remaining want to go home.

According to the Gazette, Baltimore is the only city in the world that sells the bulk of the South American trade. The most serious talk of transferring from Gotham to the Monumental City is heard.

Spurgeon considered a fine weight for a young lady, and we have seen some of them who actually looked proud as the scales balanced at one hundred and thirty-five. We like substantial things.

A fellow very queer, was the remarks of a coroner, in Chicago, with whom a party of friends were trying to play a little deception from the general conduct of corpses inside the ultra-up-to-date-ness, too, and they cleared out of there, leaving the "body" to sit up with itself. If dead bodies are going to act in this manner, they will have some trouble in getting people to sit up with them.

If any Yankee can find a reason why Boss Tweed should not be allowed to live in this country, we would like to hear it. Boss has been a public benefactor, and has done more for the country than any other man living. He has given employment to thousands of men, and has been the means of building up many cities. Boss is a good man, and we hope he will live long and prosper.—Memphis Appeal.

THE CONVENTION.

Before another issue of this paper the Convention which is to meet in Raleigh to-morrow, will have assembled. This body is charged with grave and responsible duties involving to a certain extent the destinies of the people of North Carolina for the present, as well as the next generation. There will probably not be a sufficient majority of either party to call another Convention, within the present century, and the Legislative mode of changing that instrument is slow and bungling. We consider then, that the delegates which will assemble in the State house to-morrow, will hold the political destiny of North Carolina, in the hollow of their hands. Aye! more, as the weal or woe of the State commercially, depends mainly upon her political status, we feel that a more important body has never assembled.

It would probably be out of place in us to say what changes ought to be made in the present Constitution, or whether the present one ought to be set aside, as a whole and a new one adopted in its stead. The wisdom of the delegates, and among them we number some of the best minds in the State, will suggest the proper line of policy to be pursued, but it would probably not be too much for us to say that we want a good old North Carolina Constitution. One adapted to the wants and necessities of the people, and one which the present generation can hand down to their children, with pride and satisfaction, and if the delegates will act with an eye single to the good of the people, the question of which party has a majority in that body will not be of as much consequence, as it might appear otherwise to be. One thing at least is certain that this question of majority is so evenly divided and so nicely balanced, that there will be little room for the adoption of partisan measures by either party. And we are not sure that this is not best for the people.

There is one clause which we would like to see engrafted into any Constitution which the delegates may refer to the people for ratification, and that is that the voters for the Senators at least, in the Legislature should be required to have some property or educational qualification, and be required to pay the taxes assessed by law for the regular maintainance of the government. This last qualification would be a wise provision for all voters, and one which we hope to see well discussed in the Convention, but if it cannot be done, we think there ought to be no objection to requiring this prerequisite in the case of voters for candidates for the State Senate. This, as it were, would make that body a picked delegation fresh from the people, and it would always be a check upon any wild-cat legislation, which might be proposed by the House of Representatives. This was a cardinal principle with the old whig party, and one which endeared it to many of our best people. It was shaped after the English law, and in many respects might be compared to the House of Lords in the English parliament, where the nobles were held in check by the House of Commons, fresh from the people, and directly responsible to them, and who knew better what would best suit the people. To follow up the idea a little further, we might say that the government of the United States, fully represents our idea. The United States Senate, is the highest body known to our laws. The members who compose it are not so much the delegates of the people, as they are the representatives of sovereign States, while the Federal House of Representatives, are elected by the people of certain districts, and each particular member is supposed to represent his constituents, in that particular boundary. If the Convention will properly consider this question, we feel sure in its wisdom and intelligence, it will adopt it, or something which in some way will be an equivolant.

It would be time and labor thrown away for us to speculate at this early day, upon the probable action of the Convention, but we can assure the readers of the OBSERVER, that it will commend the good measures adopted by that body, as well as condemn that which is bad. We will have a staff correspondent at Raleigh for several days after the Conveation meets, and hope to give our patrons full and accurate accounts of its actions.

ANOTHER MONSTER OF THE BRINY DEEP.

And now comes the story that a sea Captain of "unimpeachable veracity" saw a sea serpent off the coasts of New Foundland, last July. It is said that this monster of the briny deep was over a hundred feet long, striped white and black, head like a bull frog and protruding eyes. In motion, it is said that his snakeship carried his head at an elevation of ten feet. The Captain was preparing to interview him when he sank beneath the waves.

Of course it makes the editorial scribe of this paper feel good to be complimented upon the fact of having "able editorials," as has been the case frequently, but it rather dampens our ardor for our complimentary friends to insinuate that said editorials were written by some eminent lawyer.

We refer all such to the head of our editorial page, for the name of the author of whatever appears editorially in these columns. Communicated articles are invariably inserted as such.

WON'T HOLD GOOD.

We have been "interviewed" by several of the business men of the city in regard to our strictures upon them in sustaining the Bank of Mecklenburg when they believed it was insolvent.—Some of them say that in case of a privite individual the charge of insolvency, if unsustained legally might subject the person who brought the charge to heavy pains and penalties. Exactly so gentlemen; but, all banks are public institutions, made so by law, and the rule will not hold good.

TO YOUR POSTS.

The importance of the subject induces us to repeat our statement of a few days ago, in regard to the prompt appearance of every Conservative member of the Constitutional Convention which meets in Raleigh to-morrow.—Elsewhere we say, truthfully that the weal or woe may be in the keeping of that body. To go further we may say that this responsibility may rest upon any single Conservative delegate. Let every man be at his post then, remembering that not only the interests of his particular Constituents may be at stake, but that in reality he has in his keeping the destiny of the State for the next fifty years at least.

COMMERCIAL PROSPECTS.

Charlotte, like most commercial communities has experienced depression in business because of business failures, which have occurred lately. We are satisfied that there is a feverish excitement in the public pulse, occasioned no doubt by false impressions. So far as we know, and we believe we have a right to know, there never was a, time when business confidence was more needed, than at present, and there was absolutely less real cause for suspicion. There has been a scarcity of money in the South ever since the war. This has been a theme which has furnished us long leading editorials, for the past ten years. It is nothing new, and this scarcity has oftentimes made the money market depressed. We believe that with the good crop which Providence has given us this year we will be able to get back on the right track. From everywhere the reports reach as that the crop of '75, will be the best that has been raised since the surrender. As a people, then we may confidently expect to roll in plenty for another twelve months. The average Southern farmer is out of debt, and can look his merchant in the face with a good conscience—One cause for this, is that he has learned by the bitter lesson of experience, the bad effects of being in debt, and another is that he was not able to obtain credit. Having done without many things which he would have bought, had his credit been good, he will put his money in his pocket, when he sells his crop, and look around complacently before purchasing, and when he does purchase it will be for cash.

So far then from there being cause for feverish excitement about money matters, there ought to be everything to allay that feeling. It is true the Bank of Mecklenburg has suspended, but the exhibit of the Trustee shows that it has been insolvent several years. It has only come to light now, and it still leaves four other Banks in tact, ready to meet all their obligations as usual. It seems to us that it is bad policy to grieve over the single sheep that went astray, when we have ninety and nine with us, that have not gone astray.

If B fails from any cause that is no good reason why C should not be perfectly solvent. It is true that it may affect B, but because it may, that is no reason why it will. There will be more to sell in Charlotte this fall than there has been since the city has been in existence and our word for it, there will be more money to buy it with. Let everybody resolve to pay his honest obligations, and keep what money we have in constant circulation. Nothing will do more to create confidence than this, and we know of no advice more worthy of being followed.

Judge Herschel V. Johnson, of Georgia, in charging the Grand Jury which is to inquire into the alleged insurrectionary plot in that State, commands a wisdom and moderation which are highly complimentary to his judicial foresight and fairness. The poor deluded negroes, if they have been entrapped into a plot against the whites, must be severely punished; but it is highly important that neither prejudice nor passion should enter into the deliberations of the Grand Jury. If there was no plot there must be no indictments, and this point Judge Johnson took care to impress upon the jury.—N. Y. Herald.

The Scientific American describes a method of putting any rooster into a state of catalepsy. Select a dark colored table with a smooth top. place it so that a narrow streak of sunlight will fall across the surface. Then set the rooster on the table, and hold his head down so that his beak comes in contact with the wood. Now with a piece of chalk, and in the sunlight, draw a line straight from the bird's beak. Move the chalk very slowly, and by the time the line is a couple of feet in length the rooster will fall into a cataleptic or trance like condition, and although the bands are removed from his body he will remain perfectly rigid for a minute or two. It is said that a black line on a white surface will produce the same effect. Hens may be similarly treated, but it takes much longer to get them into the trance state, it being necessary to hold the head down several minutes before they come under the influence.

Mr. Herbert Fentress, of Raleigh, has gone to San Jose, California, where he will make his home.

STATE NEWS.

Edgecombe cotton has been badly injured by rain.

The report that Col. T. M. R. Talcott, has resigned the Richmond & Danville Railroad, is not true.

Quite a number of Convention delegates had arrived in Raleigh up to Friday, among these, Clingman, Robbins, Shober, Tourgee and Hanson.

The Shelby Banner is reliably informed that a young married woman in Rutherford county, Mrs. Walls, lost her entire eyesight a few weeks ago and has since become perfectly insane.

The News says that Mr. W. H. Lyon, of Raleigh, recently drew in the Texas lottery a valuable lot in Kaufman, Texas, said to be worth several thousand dollars. He has received the deed to the same.

Our accomplished Christian Reid is writing up North Carolina scenes and life for Appleton's Journal, under the title, "The Land of the Sky; or, Adventures in Mountain Byways." The first chapter appears in Appleton for Sept. 4.

Greensboro State: A drummer came along here the other day and vouchsafed the information that Henderson, in this State, is the largest incorporated town in the world, being 140 miles square. Miles ought to be rods in the act of incorporation, the immense boundaries being caused by a clerical error.

A special to the Richmond Dispatch says that Major George W. Grice, president of the Bank of Portsmouth, Va., on Thursday was elected president of the Raleigh and Gaston and the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line railroads at a salary of $8,000 per annum. Colonel W. J. Hawkins resigned the presidency on account of bad health.

B. H. Bunn, Esq., of Rocky Mount, and a member elect from Nash county to the State Constitutional Convention, had his pocket book, containing $80 in money and $5,000 worth of notes, stolen one day last week. A negro was suspected, and on being arrested the papers and most of the money were recovered. So we learn from the Toisnot Transcript.

A Raleigh horse got frightened and ran into a house while the family was at breakfast. Not liking the looks of things he turned to retreat, when he snapped the shafts of the vehicle which he had pulled up to the door but could not pull in. One of them ran into his body, inflicting a wound from which the animal died. This is learned from the News.

Asheville Citizen: The trial of young Strange for the killing of Murray in Haywood brings in the legal talent of the West. Messrs. Ferguson, and Henry and Welch, of Waynesville, and McLoud and Pulliam and James H. Merrimon, of Asheville, appear with Solicitor Tate, in the prosecution, and Messrs. Howell, and Gudger, of Waynesville, The Davidson, Erwin and Coleman, of Asheville, for the defense.

Raleigh News: The greatest man in the Convention will undoubtedly be the member from Hertford, one Horton, whose weight is only 340 lbs. It took seven yards of cloth, double width, to make up his Convention suit, and we understand that notwithstanding his size he required the aid of a negro speaker to assist him in his canvass, as his speaking powers do not comport with his size.

Capt. E. P. Lewis, of the schooner "Annie G. Midgett," tells the Wilmington Star of a big bear fight which he had a few days ago in Hyde county. He saw the bear attempting to swim a bay, and set out for him, in a canoe, armed only with an axe. He struck the animal several times with this, but the thing showed fight, and to make matters worse he lost his axe in the water. Finally by a series of manoeuvres, he succeeded in drowning bruin, and found him to measure 8 feet and weigh 300 pounds.

Rumors of a Mad Scheme.

In the absence of the Judges of the Supreme Court the duty is devolved by law upon the Secretary of State to administer the oath to the members of the Constitutional Convention next Monday, that oath which solemnly binds them to observe the restrictions imposed by the act of the Legislature calling the Convention. It is said that the Secretary has declared that he would not administer this oath to the members from Robeson county. Indeed, it is charged that the Secretary has affirmed in the most emphatic manner that he would not administer the prescribed oath at all.

Are these reports true? Did Secretary Howerton make any such declaration? Does he entertain any such revolutionary idea?

The Convention will meet. The delegates from Robeson will present their regularly certified credentials. No Judge of the Supreme Court will dare to reject these gentlemen at the hue and cry raised by the Radical party. Will every one of these five Judges stay away in order to permit Mr. Howerton to attempt an act of unsurpation and defiance of law? Will Mr. Howerton dare to undertake the execution of such a crazy project?—Wilmington Star.

The Mob Still Deny Burial to Quinbard's Remains.

Montreal, Canada, September 3.—After the departure of Quinbard's remains from the Catholic cemetery gates yesterday the mob remained in force on the ground until the arrival of the mayor and 50 police, when they abandoned the gates and dispersed. Before this they had filled the empty grave and torn down the cross over it. Then the Prince of Wales regiment reinforced last evening, and is held in readiness for any out break. A mob, numbering several hundred, and well armed, is at the cemetery to-day. It is not known when the funeral will be attempted again. The priests deny that they instigated the riot. The feeling runs very high between the Catholics and Protestants. The Orangemen talk of turning out at the funeral.

LIGHTNING TIME.—The fifth and closing weekly trip of the New York Herald's lightning train, to Niagara Falls was made on Sunday last, and was signalized by the indulgence in an excursion over the route of repressentatives from the papers in New York upon the invitation of the managers of the Herald. The run from Rochester to Palmyra, fifty-eight miles, was made in fifty five minutes, and between Batavia and Buffalo a portion of the distance was run at the extraordinary rate of seventy-five miles an hour, while the whole run, thirty-five miles, was made in thirty minutes.

A Washington letter says: Before Gen. Spinner left for his home in New York, he said to a friend, with an emphasis peculiar to the ex-treasurer, that he only wished he could be a Democrat during the Ohio campaign, take the stump and tell the people what he thinks of the conduct of the administration on the currency question. "But," said his friend, "your remarks would be attributed to prejudice." "Not if I tell all I know," replied the General. He alluded to the abuse heaped upon Secretary Richardson for putting out a little silver in lieu of fractional currency, but now when it was proposed to force it on the market, the plan was applauded as a great scheme. "Yes, the poor people shall have silver, the rich gold, and the nation be further oppressed with taxation to pay the bonded indebtedness——such a party

G. S. H. APPLEGET, wishes to inform the public at large, that he is prepared to furnish Plans of all kinds of buildings, with working drawings in full, which will be found much plainer than those of any other man in the State, he being a practical builder, having an experience of 15 years in three of the largest cities of the United States. He can answer any question or give any information in regard to the construction of any part of the building, as he is fully qualified to go and do the work himself. With 15 years as a builder and 14 as an Architect, he knows just what is necessary for a mechanic to get along with, and with this experience you will at once see that he has a pretty good knowledge of the business. You can judge for yourself as to whether a man is an Architect without being a practical builder. Some in this State claim to be Architects when they have no knowledge of the business and can only be called draftsmen, and need some one to instruct them at all times should they undertake a job. For the last six years he has been employed in this State, and has done all the best buildings, with only a few exceptions in Raleigh, Goldsboro and Greensboro, and almost all over the State, where persons can see his work.

In Charlotte he would call attention to S P Smith's Iron Front Building, and Sims & Dowd's Store, and a number of the private residences here.

He refers to all who have employed him as Architect and Superintendent as to his ability. He can furnish, if any desire them, the name of parties and buildings, but cannot do so here for the want of room.

He can show as many fine buildings as any other man of his age, and will take pleasure in doing so. Any person visiting Charlotte is invited to call and examine his drawings, which he has at least 500. He guarantees to have 50 to 1 of any other person in the State. (All are invited to examine them whether they are going to build or not. The ladies are specially invited.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

After 5 years hard labor I have found the only way I can continue my business is to deal exclusively for CASH. No 30 days or first of month charges, but cash down or no trade. On and after July 1st I will sell no one goods except for cash, and parties having work of any kind done at my establishment must expect to pay for it when done, as under no circumstances will work be delivered to any one until paid for. All who are indebted to me either by note or account will please call and settle by the 1st of July, as I am badly in need of money, and further indulgence cannot be given. I will close out my present Stock of goods at greatly reduced prices to make room for fall and winter Stock, which I hope to be able to largely increased under the cash system.
