Capt F M Wooten, the proprietor of Wooten's Express, has gone to Salisbury, to meet with the Commissioners of the Western North Carolina Railroad, who were to have held a session at that place last night, to learn if he cannot make some arrangement whereby he can run an express line on the Western Road.

The Cotton Weighers' Office.

The office for the cotton weighers, under the shed on the new platform of the North Carolina Railroad, has been completted, and on yesterday the weighers took possession. It is about where the office stood before the fire of last April, and sellers can now deliver their cotton either at this place or on the wagon way of the Carolina Contral Railroad, as of late, as it suits their convenience. 2 weigher will attend to it at either place.

Some of them have to work all day Sunday. Last Sunday one the jobs at the North Carolina Depot was loading 285 bales of cotton, and another was taking up 300 from the junction and handling them. And all the time, day and night. the clerks were working like Turks in the office, just as though, when the command "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy" was given, s bill of exceptions had been filed in behalf of milroad men and the case was still pending.

The Churches on Sunday.

Last Sunday was one of the most glorious days of this splendid season. The decided atmosphere, was in a measure dissipated by the genial rays of the sun, which poured steadily down from a cloudless sky. The splendor of the day had its good effect upon the population, and the streets leading to the different sanctuaries were crowded with willing feet. In three of the churches there Smith & Forbes' shoe store. We hope they | were no services, and this added to the congregations in the others; so that crowds of unusual size listened to the different sermons, all of which were of a character appropriate to the day.

Two of our young friends returned, Sunday morning, from the Raleigh Fair. After the ball of Friday night they had each spread of a considerable addition to these between their good clothes out on the bed and folded them up carefully. One of them put his whole black suit in his trank, and the other put his swallow-tailed coat with the lilaccolored lining, in there with it They left Raleigh Saturday afternoon, receiving a check for the trunk when it was put on ing. The testimony was heard and to Jack, who carried the trunk that it called for to the Central Hotel. The young men went to the hotel that day and examined the trunk. It was worth $1.75, and though it didn't have any ball-room clothes in itit was as full as it could be packed of straw and glass-ware.

The proper trunk has never been found, and now when the lost object is mentioned to the young men, they "laugh to hide a broken heart."

LATER-It arrived.

Just Wanted Him to Throw Again. A gentleman living in this city has in his yard, a walnut tree, the branches of which extend over the palings and cover part of the pavement. A few notes will be ready for issue this week the nights ago the gentleman's baby was sick, and he was sitting up with it. Oced by the rejection of badly printed backs casionally a gust of wind would sweep along, and as it did, the walnuts would come pattering down. As our friend sat up and nursed the baby, he listened to the walnuts falling, and as the night advanced, and the time drew near for its "sombre shades to be touched by the reseate hues of morn," he heard footfalls on the pavement. A Large Day's Work.

We are informed that last Saturday's was the largest day's work ever done on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad. At Columbia, the road dedred car loads of cotton, fourteen car loads of other freight, and sent from there fifty-six loaded cars, besides the regular passenger trains and one excursion train; from Charlotte it sent two circus trains, with sixty cars, making in all two hundred and forty-one cars hauled in one day AMOW

A negro named Henry Maxwell, was up for theft and was bound over to the Superior Court. On last Saturday night George Ayers was standing at the counter of Long & Bro's, bar-room on College street, with a shawl thrown loosely around his shoulders, when this negro came up behind him, and, snatching the shawl, made off with it. Pursuit was given and the thief was overhauled in the Five Points. The shawl was recovered and the negro turned over to the police, who confined him until yesterday morning.

Clarke Hall was up on the usual charge of being d. and d. He was guilty, of course, and was fined $5 and There were no cases of a criminal character before any of the Magistrates and it was a dull day with these functionaries.

The Company guarantee to return to each purchaser at least, treble the value for his HOW CAN THIS BE ACCOMPLISHED? is a question many will doubtless ask them selves and foreseeing this we offer the fol-lowing lucid explanation:

The Trade assignee, anxious to dispose of and realize on the entire stock of the bank-rupts in one sale accepted our offer of $200,000 cash for the lot; after advertising same for sale for one month, and not receiving a single offer, which in the present depression of business and almost total stagnation of trade is not to be wondered at; notwithstanding that our offer was one third less than the actual cost of the manufacture of the Pocket Books. The assignee having to at once realize the effects of the bankrupts, in the interests of the creditors he had no alter ative but to accept this offer and sell us the lot at our own price, thereby enabling us to distribute in prizes $100,000 amongst the purchasers, and at the same time retain a fair marginal profit for ourselves; thus you obtain fully double the value of the amount you forward us and it depends on your luck what amount you gain of the One Hundred Thousand Dollar Money Prizes.

The sale will positively close on MON-DAY, the 22nd day of November, 1875, and orders for pocket books should therefore be forwarded us at once—no application by letter Saturday November 20th can be en-1000 of the Pocket Books are of the patented manufacture, superior in value to the re-mainder, the retail price of the same being
