Scarcity of Material.

Yesterday was a distressingly dull and unimportant day for items. The Five Pointers were as quiet as lambs; there was almost nothing in the Cour.s; there were numbers of people about the Court House, but nothing transpired; not a solitary dot could be picked up at any of the depots, a.d, in short, it was a dull-a vexationally dull day for an i.em gatherer.

Amputation Perhaps Necessary.

Dr. McCombs has apprehensions that it will be necessary to amputate the left foot of the negro, Lucius Clarke, who slipped while coupling cars on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, last Sunday morning, and had that member badly mashed. Gangrene has already well-nigh destroyed two of the toes, and the whole foot will probably have to come off.

Escaped From Juli by an Artifice.

We have had occasion to refer several times to the notorious Stamper brothers, who, about a year, murdered a man in Alleghany county, and had their cases removed. They were known as bold, bad, wily ferlows, and Solicitor Cowles knowing that it would not do to allow them to be confined in the same jail, sent one to Statesville and the other to Leno'r. About three weeks ago we mentioned the escape of the one who was confined in Statesville jail; he sawed a bar out of the window and swung to the ground by means of his blanket, which he just from Lenoir, of the escape of the other, by an artifice which is not new, and which is too often successful. He had a wife who was very much devoted to him, and who visited him frequently in prison and was always allowed access to his cell. A few mornings ago, she called at the jail before daylight and told the jatior that she was about starting over to Alleghany; that the journey was a long one and she had started very early because of this, and begged to be aiawed to see her husband before she abouid go. The kind-hearted jailor a tmitted her unseasonable as the hour was, and she was allowed a few moments' private conversation with her husband. She present'y emerged from the cell, her face covered with her handkerchief, and weeping piteously The door was closed behind her, and she got

At the usual breakfast hour, the jailor as conded the steps to Stamper's cell, for the purpose of carrying him his breakfast.
