CITY BULLETIN.

No probabilities came to us from Washington last night.

We learn of the failure of Newsom & Co., of Rockingham, Richmond county. Assets and liabilities unknown.

The National Banks elect officers to-day. All four of the banking institutions of this city are now National Banks.

The auction of goods at Purefoy's store, continues, with interest. It was attended by quite a large crowd last evening.

There was a genuine, old-fashioned "can-y-pulling" in the city, last night. A big crowd and a glorious time.

Katie as "Fanchon, the Merry Crickeet," day after to-morrow night. The box sheet will be open to-night at Phifer's book store.

The Managers of the leap year party request those expected, to go early. The music will commence at 8 o'clock, sharp.

Mr. Thos M Pittman has been appointed by Gov Chamberlain, as Commissioner of Deeds for South Carolina, resident in this city.

Mr T Simmons Clarkson has been appointed passenger conductor on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad. He has hitherto had a freight train.

The members of the Juvenile Hop Club are requested to meet, this evening at 7 o'clock, at the front room over the building of Stenhouse, Macaulay & Co., corner Trade and College.

On yesterday Judge of Probate Edwin, appointed M E Kistler, guardian of Elizabeth McLeary, and Sarah Eliza guardian of Jane Hilton. Both of wards have recently been adjudged lunatics.

It seemed on Saturday and Sunday as if January had usurped the prerogatives of March. The wind howled lustily, and on Sunday night about midnight, it blew as if "twad blow its last."

The Richmond & Danville Railroad Company has recently reduced its expenses $10,000, on the Richmond & Danville Railroad proper. It has also reduced on the North Carolina Division, but not to so great an extent.

Last night was no time for swinging on gates, and we are reliably informed that even the teeth of the young lady who had said she would never grow cold if he would just keep his arm around her, chattered audibly as she parted with Charles Augustus at the door.

The Hornet Fire Company was out for parade and practice, yesterday. They threw from the tank in front of the Charlotte Hotel. Five sections of their hose are busted; two bursted yesterday afternoon, and the company works at a disadvantage in consequence.

Personal.

Messrs J T LeGrand, Senator from Richmond county, Platt D Walker, member of the House from Richmond, and John Duckett, editor of the Rockingham Courier, all arrived by the Wilmington train last evening, and registered at the Central Hotel.

Dr. S. B. Nye.

We have omitted, contrary to our usual custom, to call attention to the new advertisement of Dr S B Nye, which appears on our fourth page this morning. Dr N comes to our city with considerable reputation, and his crystal specialties, of which he makes a specialty, are said to be among the best. Read his card.

Sketch of Anna Berger.

A copy of The Baltimorean, of January 8th, has been sent us by an unknown friend. It contains a very fair illustration of Miss Anna Berger, together with a sketch of her life. For the information of our young and susceptible gentlemen readers we will state that this sketch puts the wretched Anna down as having been born in Baltimore on the 16th of May, 1863. According to this she will be 23 years old next May.

Hot Remedy for a Cold.

A hot lemonade is one of the best remedies for a cold. It acts promptly and efficiently, and has no unpleasant after effects. One should be properly squeezed, cut in halves, put with sugar, and covered with a pint of boiling water. Drink just before going to bed and do not expose yourself the following day. This remedy will ward off any attack of chills and fever, if used promptly.—Ex.

Foot Amputated.

Dr. J. P. McCombs, assisted by Dr. T. F. Pharr, on yesterday morning amputated the foot of the negro, Lucius Clarke, who sustained a railroad accident near the pump house of the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad on Sunday, the 24th inst. The foot was cut off at the ankle; the heel being left. The stump has begun to gangrene, however, and further trouble is expected. At present the man is doing tolerably well.

The Churches on Sunday.

Sunday cannot be said to have been a pleasant day. The sun was out brightly and the air would have been pleasant if it had come in simply the temper of a breeze, but the wind swept the streets from morning till night, and slow, waddling pedestrians very unpleasant and keeping at home many who would otherwise have gone out to church. As it was, however, there were very fair congregations at all the sanctuaries, and all of these saw one—the Lutheran—were open for services. There were no visiting ministers to occupy any of the pulpits, and the order of exercises in all the churches was just as usual.

The Courts.

Mayor's Court.—There were no cases again, yesterday, and hence, no court.

Before Justice Hilton.—Harriet Miller, colored, for an affray. She was fined $5 and cost.

Before Justice Davidson.—A five point crowd, for disorderly conduct; fined $1 and cost each. Also, Henry Fulsom, colored, for trespass, in breaking down the door of Burwell Johnston; judged for the cost.

Change of Weather.

Yesterday morning the weather began to grow cooler than it had been for some days previous, and in the space of an hour the change was very perceptible. The mercury continued to descend throughout the remainder of the day, and last night the real feeling of snow was very strong in the temperature. We are informed by the wires, of sudden coldness in the Northwest, yesterday morning, and judging from these reports and the change here, we suppose the influence of this cold wave to have been general.

Notice to Liquor Dealers and Others.

City Marshal Alexander gives notice by an advertisement in another column, that liquor dealers who desire to renew their licenses, or those who wish to become dealers, must apply to the Board of Aldermen, at its meeting on Monday next; as this is the last meeting this month, and as licenses must be taken out by the first of February. The Marshal also gives notice that those who are in arrears to the city in the matter of taxes, must make immediate payment, else proceedings will be instituted to force them to measure. He is a man of few words and generally means what he says.

The Leap Year Party.

Which the young ladies of the city will give this evening at the residence of Mrs S V Young, is expected to be the occasion of a great deal of pleasure. The preparations have been extensive, and all the details are arranged. Expectancy is on tip-toe, and the nerves of many of the gallants are, even now, far from steady. In fact, the young man who wears a four-and-a-half shoe, and says it is too large for him, stopped us on the street, yesterday afternoon, to ask if he looked much frustrated, and the young man who always has a flower in his coat and speaks of wearing spectacles in the future, is sure that he will "just die."

Fell in the Street.

Two mules hitched to a covered wagon, tried to get up, yesterday morning, and couldn't. They were going along down Tryon Street, near the corner of Trade, looking around at the signs, and the show windows, and one thing and another, just as two country mules will do, when one of them, in an unguarded moment, stumbled over the tongue of the wagon and fell, tripping the other, and he also took to the ground. The harness had to be taken off them before they could get up, and then they looked as if they had a perfect contempt for themselves, particularly the one which had first blundered over the tongue. Come to think of it, it was a mortifying situation for a well regulated mule.

To Leave Us.

We are very sorry to know that Mr D R Leak is to leave us, sure enough. He will move his tobacco factory to Salem, and thence to business, where the weed is abundant. There are a great many people in this town whom we would rather see leave it than Uncle Davy Leak. In all the range of our acquaintance, there is not a man who can take his place; he ain't like anybody else; he don't look like anybody else, nor he don't talk or act like anybody else. He can say funnier things, and say them funnier than anybody else, and he is getting off anything ridiculous. Though not much bigger than a 14-year-old boy, he can throw down and drag out three-fourths of the six-footers in town, and in short there is just more life and fun in him, than in anybody we ever saw. He is a good man to have around, and we are as sorry as can be that he is going away. However, since he'll go, we bid him God-speed, and hope that he will have all the success imaginable in his new home.

Accident to One of the Japs.

The Savannah News gives the following report of an accident to one of the Japs, who were recently in this city. They excited great interest by their performances here, and anything concerning them is of interest to our people.

During the matinee performance by the Japanese troupe at the theatre yesterday afternoon an accident occurred which for a time, threw the audience into a high state of excitement, and nearly resulted in bringing the entertainment to an abrupt termination. The accident occurred during the feat of Que Taro on the slide rope. The rope is stretched from the stage of the theatre to the third tier, directly over the parquette. Que Taro ascended the rope when near the top wheels around and slides with astonishing rapidity on his feet, down the rope to the stage. The feat is a marvellous and daring one, and has been performed with rare grace and skill. Yesterday afternoon, whilst on the rope, Que Taro, in wheeling round, lost his footing and fell; but grabbed at the rope with his right hand. He clutched the support with the third and little finger, the others being useless from the injury received by the explosion of the toy cannon on Christmas, as he was unable to hold it. He was unable to retain his hold and dropped to the parquette, about forty feet below, striking plump upon the cushion seat and rebounding a foot or two. A cry of horror ran through the house, and many started from their seats under the impression that the daring little fellow had been killed, as he wobbled away just as Gagner, the leader, sprang from the stage and hastened to his side. Gagner commenced striking him in the back to start circulation, but, apprehensive that he was being hurt, the boy expressed indignation, until, when he was again struck, he threw up his hands and shouted the ladies cried, "Oh, don't!" "Don't let him do it!" etc., and threatened to leave the building if that performance was not abandoned. Under these circumstances Que Taro retired, but afterwards made his appearance in other feats. After the close of the matinee Que Taro stated to a gentleman, who interviewed him on the subject, that he was not much hurt, having only slightly broken his fall and struck "comfortably" on the cushioned seat.

Direct of Freedom.

A gentleman of this city, who has just returned from a business visit, to South Carolina, encountered a darky over there who said that he was tired of freedom, and who offered himself to the gentleman for $20. He said that he has tried freedom ever since the war, and isn't worth anything yet, and believed that he was now willing to return to the "before-the-war" times.

Air Line Railroad Report.

In publishing the report of Col J B Peck, Master of Transportation of the Atlanta & Richmond Air Line Railway, in regard to the receipts, expenditures, condition, &c. of the road, our neighbor of the Democrat says:

"We happened to see the report in the Greenville News and determined to copy it, as it is important to the people of this section. We are surprised that a copy was not furnished the Charlotte papers by Maj Peck or some one connected with the road.

So are we. The first intimation that we had that such a report was extant, was when we saw it in the Democrat, yesterday morning. We would gladly have published the report if a copy had been furnished us, and we think, in view of the amount which Mecklenburg county invested in this road, that the papers of the city had the right to expect the courtesy of having one of these reports sent them, that they might give it, or extracts from it, to the people who have $200,000 in stock in the road.

Suit Against the C. C. Railroad.

The Rockingham Courier states that on the night of Saturday, 1st of January, Mr W S Ramsey, a Baltimore drummer, bought a ticket at Lileville for Rockingham, requesting the conductor to inform him when he reached that point. At Pee Dee Station he was told that that was his stopping place, and he got off accordingly, the conductor giving him directions as to the streets, &c. Not finding any street, Mr Ramsey returned to the train, which was just then moving off. The conductor called to him, telling him that he was at the wrong station, but did not stop the train, and it sped on its way, leaving the late passenger, behind. There was only one white family in the vicinity, and they could not take him in, owing to sickness in the family. This was about midnight, and he made his way to a negro cabin near by, where he sat up over the coals all the remainder of the night, fearing to go to sleep, lest he should be robbed of a quantity of money which he had in his possession, and which belonged to the firm which he represented. The next morning he rode a mule 10 miles to Rockingham, and now announces his intention to sue the company for $1,500 damages.

Gov Vance in Danville.

Ex-Gov Vance of this city, went to Danville, Va., last week, and delivered his lecture on "The Scattered Nation." Of the production the Times says: "The lecture which has been so favorably received in other places, afforded no less pleasure to his audience in Danville. It was indeed a rare literary treat." The same paper has the following: "Yesterday Gov Vance in company with Maj Sutherland, Col Flournoy, and Mr J L Tack, visited the Planters' Warehouse, while the sales of tobacco were going on. As soon as they were over, the crowd called for 'Vance' vociferously. The Governor expressed his surprise at being called on, on such an occasion. He made a little speech, however, of about five minutes, which exceedingly amused his auditors. Among other things, he stated that he was surprised at the prosperity of Danville, when he reflected how near it was to North Carolina. The crowd would have been disappointed, if he had not told them an anecdote, and sure enough he brought a very funny one most appropriately. We never saw such a man as Vance. He is ready on all occasions and always pleases the people."

Robbery on the Highway.

Last Saturday evening, while two Union county farmers, R A Ford and M M Norcott, were returning to their homes, having been to this city with produce to sell, and when about half a mile beyond the residence of Mr B H Moore, which is within sight of the city, on the "Lawyer's Road," they were assaulted on the road by a party of five negroes, who stepped from the road side. Mr Ford was walking a little distance behind the wagon, when he secured the money, they released him, and he got in the wagon. As this moved off, the soundrels fired at the occupants, and one ball lodged in the thigh of Mr Norcott. He was brought back to the city on Sunday morning, and Dr R H Gibbon extracted the ball. The occurrence described above, took place a little after dark.

A few evenings previous to this, while Mr Jesse Sanders, was going home by the same road, he was accosted at the residence of Mr Moore's residence, about midnight, by three negroes, who ordered him to "stand and deliver." They robbed him of $20 or upwards, and satisfying themselves that he had no more, told him to go on his way.

One afternoon last week, (Thursday we believe), Mr R B Wallace was going home from Charlotte, in a buggy, and at a point on the Monroe road, a few miles from the city, a party of several negroes stepped from the side of the road and halted him. One of the number jumped upon the buggy with his hand, and while pistols were held at his head, he was ordered to hand over his money. Having no other resources, no assistance being near at hand, he handed them his pocket book, which contained $25.

The three paragraphs above indicate a state of affairs which is not pleasant to contemplate. It seems to be regarded as certain that some of the idle sharpers who lounge around this place, are ever on the watch for countrymen who have money paid to them. There is no doubt that these robbers had been money in the possession of the men named above, and had gone out on the public highway for the purpose of waylaying them. The soundrels cover their tracks so well that it seems almost impossible to ever apprehend any of them; and our chief hope is, that one or more of them will soon fall by a well aimed bullet from one whom they expect to find unarmed.

A Diabolical Transaction.—A Grave Entered and Part of the Body Thrown Out.

A correspondent writes us from Gastonia, a station on the Air Line Railroad, in Gaston county, that the grave yard at that place is the scene of a great mystery. On Sunday night the grave of Rebecca M Bradley, who had been dead and buried for nearly eight years, was opened by some burthen hyenas, for the purpose, as our correspondent supposes, of obtaining a gold plate, which was in her mouth when she was buried. The plate, however, was not taken, and it is supposed from this fact, that the robbers were frightened away. A part of the body was exhumed and thrown out of the grave. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the diabolical act, but our correspondent promises us more information to-day.

This is one of the most diabolical deeds ever recorded in these columns, and it is to be hoped that the fiend will be speedily apprehended. One who would thus violate the sanctity of the grave, should not be allowed even the form of a trial but should be made to dangle from the limb nearest to which he is found. We hope that our correspondent will keep faith with us, and give us something more in regard to this unaccountable devilish transaction, in time for our next issue.

A Rare Production.
