The Sheriff however repels cording to the constable's allegation, was very wroth, and pronounced against him in terms quite the opposite of complimentary. Among other things, he threatened to institute action against both the Constable and the Magistrate (McNinch) who had issued the process, and Mr. King states that he feared to open his mouth lest he should be ordered under arrest, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Wallis' court was not in

In consequence of the treatment which he received on that occasion, the officer has sued out a warrant against the Pineville Magistrate, charging him with interfering with him in the discharge of his official duties, and proposes to have him before one of the Justices of the Peace in this city on Saturday next, for trial. The case is an unusual one, and will excite interest.

Mr. John T. Ford. It is to this gentleman that the people of Charlotte are indebted for the opportunity of witnessing the finest actor known to the American stage, and for another who, in his specialty stands without a rival : we mean Mr Edwin Booth and Mr John T Raymond; and yet is hardly admissible to speak of the two in the same connection-the gifted, quiet Booth, and the hair-brained, erratic, speculative Col Mulberry Sellers, in whom Raymond has sunk his identity. Both of these actors are traveling this season, under the management of Mr. Ford, and he it was who sent them both here. We are glad to know from Mr F. personally, that his imsold in front of the Court House, 26 boxes both as a"slow town" and otherwise, and to Something of Mr Booth's contract with
