CITY BULLETIN

Blind Tom at the Opera House to-night.

The depots were itemless, yesterday; likewise all other places.

There was a well attended hop at the Charlotte Hotel, last night.

Fuchsia's Fifth Avenue Company will probably not be here at least during the present month.

The auction of the stock of goods of Mc. Murray & Davis, began yesterday, and will continue until all the goods are sold.

The streets, last night, were as still as death. A footstep on the brick pavement could be heard for the distance of a block.

Paw Creek spoils were in poor demand, yesterday, and what sales were effected, were made at low down figures.

Mr E M Andrews has retired from the firm of F. H. Andrews & Co., and Mr E. C. Jones takes his place. The firm will hence forth be known as Andrews & Jones.

The sun did not shew its face all day yesterday. The day was horribly gloomy, and one preferred rain to that undecided, faltering weather that don't know what to do.

The old front is being taken out of the store of Messrs J A Young & Son, preparatory to a new and beautiful one being put in. The door of the store is filled with rubbish.

Cash is certainly the rule down at the Commercial Dining Rooms. If a fellow obtains rations or fluids down there, and hasn't got the cash, they just take his hat for collateral.

Farmers are anxious to see a snow. They say it would improve the wheat immensely, and that without it, there is danger that this crop will be a failure. So far there have only been a few sprinkles this season.

An auction of books, &c., will begin to-night at Frankenthal's late stand, on Trade street. The parties who offer these books, are the same who were here about 18 months or two years ago, and disposed of a large number of books by auction.

Mr John F Weddington, of Concord, who has relatives living in this city, died last week at Ocala, Fla., whither he had gone in the hope of restoring his failing health. He was a young man of many noble and generous impulses.

The young ladies from abroad, who have been visiting in this city for the past two or three weeks, are leaving, one by one. One left night before last, and one leaves this morning; thus they go, and we notice that, in some instances, some of our young men go also.

Sheriff Alexander has issued circulars to a large number of persons who are in arrears to the county for taxes, informing them in the most delicate possible manner, that if they do not settle up he will be compelled to sell their property. The Sheriff is getting in earnest, now.

Religious Meetings.

At the meeting of the Y. M. C. A., last night, it was decided that, owing to the interest manifested, the Association hold a series of meetings, beginning to-night with a social meeting at their hall. The exercises will commence at 7 o'clock, and everybody is invited to attend.

Another New Name for It.

It's a singular thing, but a man can get whiskey when he can't get anything else at all. There has been a drunken tramp here for several days past, who goes about to the stores at night, and begs for money with which to get a bed. If his pleadings are successful, he goes off and invests in unknown quantities of whiskey and gets in that condition where he is regardless of beds.

Railroad Slides.

The mail train on the Carolina Central Railroad, which arrived here last evening from Wilmington, Capt Everitt, conductor, ran into a rock slide, just this side of McAlpine's creek, not far from Charlotte, and broke the plow of the engine. This was the only damage done, and the delay was only slight. Capt Leggett's train, which left here yesterday morning going East, on the same road, also ran into a slide but occasioned no damage and very little delay.

Charlotte B. & L. Association.

At the last meeting of the Charlotte Building and Loan Association, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President.—S. Wittkowsky.
Vice-President.—J. R. Holland.
Secretary and Treasurer.—R. E. Cochrane.
Attorney.—John E. Brown.
Directors.—Dr J M Miller, H Baumgarten, J W Miller, C S Holton, J H Van Ness, Dr I Simpson, W L Boyd, J Asbury.

The report of last year's business was highly gratifying, showing the association to be a healthy and prosperous financial condition.

Personal.

Whitner Simms, Esq. of Greenville, S C, was registered yesterday at the Central Hotel.

Dr C J Fox, who has been in a critical situation for some time past, seems to have undergone a favorable change in the last day or two. He is measurably free of pain, but is very much prostrated by his recent suffering.

Messrs Hall and McConnaughey, the christian workers who were in this city week before last, and held services, closed a week's meeting in Charleston on Sunday last, a meeting which, according to newspaper reports, accomplished great good.

Circulating Library.

We are requested to state to subscribers, and those who may wish to subscribe to the Library, that the following periodicals have been added to the large list already ordered, viz: Harper's Monthly, Rural Carolinian, Scientific American, Manufacturer and Builder, London Lancet, and American Law Register. Office at Koellsch's book store.

Chromos With Drinks.

We are told that a man will shortly establish a bar-room in this city, and will give a chromo with every twenty drinks, for which drinks cash is paid.—Observer.

For the benefit of those who propose going on this blind, we would state that in addition to chromos offered, the holder of twenty Charlotte drinks will entitle him to a full life-size potrait, taken in mud colors and rustic frame, and ready to hang up in any station house.—Concord Sun.

We yield the palm. Go head.

Barton and Medinger.

The last named person having been acquitted of the charge of violating the rules of the Savannah Jockey Club, of which Mr Barton had been found guilty, a petition was presented to the club for his reinstatement, in order that he might not be debarred the privileges of other racing clubs. The Jockey Club declined to reconsider its action suspending both Barton and Medinger, on the ground that in helping Medinger they would help Barton.

A Clearing Up.

After three successive days of horrible weather, the clouds cleared away last evening about sunset, and the moonlight last night, glorious and beautiful at any time, was rendered all the more so by contrast with the clouds and the rain which had previously been our lot. A portentous feature of the clearing up, however, was that there was no change in the temperature for the cooler, and this would seem to argue that rain may be expected very soon. Last night was very warm; indeed, comfortable enough without fire.

Assessment for the Presiding Elder.

We see from the published proceedings of the meeting of the District Steward of Charlotte District, North Carolina Conference, which was recently held at Menroe, that the salary of the Presiding Elder was fixed at $1200, and that it was apportioned among the different churches as follows: Charlotte, $185; Monroe Station, $120; Mt Pleasant, $110; Pineville, $90; Albemarle, $90; Ansonville, $80; South Charlotte, $80; Wadesboro Circuit, $70; Wadesboro Station, $65; Lilesville $65; Concord Station, $65; Monroe Circuit, $60; Pleasant Grove, $60; Stanley, $35; Concord Circuit, $25.

Blind Tom.

The people of Charlotte will have an opportunity, this evening, of listening to the wonderful performances of this celebrated musical phenomenon. He is, indeed, a genius. Nature, deprived him of almost every other gift, and endowed him in the most wonderful manner, with the gift of music. His performances have excited the wonder and the delight of the people of the largest cities in the United States, and those of our citizens who attend to-night will be entertained by a highly artistic performance. The price of admission is only 50 cents, 75 cents for reserved seats.

"Ingratitude, Thy Name is"—Tramp.

We are informed that, a day or two ago, a tramp called at a house in the suburbs, and besought a meal. It was given him, and the tramp, taking advantage of the absence from the room of all the members of the family, stole an over-coat. The theft was not discovered until after the scamp's departure, and then it was too late to overtake him. We have repeatedly warned our citizens, particularly those living in and around the outskirts, against these wretches, and yet there are people who, in the generousness of their hearts, open their doors and invite them in to a square meal. The beggars that go from door to door with some heart-rending tale of suffering, want and distress, are nothing more nor less than tramps, and should be treated accordingly.

A New Colored Organization.

A new order was instituted among the colored people of this city, last night; it is known as the Independent Order of Good Samaritans and Daughters of Samaria. The Lodge here was organized by J H Collett, of Wilmington, Supreme Grand Deputy for North Carolina, and is called Reliance Lodge No. 10. The following officers were elected:

Past Worthy Chief—A Alexander; Worthy Chief—J W Wilson; Vice Chief—G W Miller; Rec Sec—A P Hunter; Fin Sec—W W Smith; Worthy Treasurer—Thos Orr; Prelate—Jacob Bates; Worthy Conductor—C S Springs; Inside Sentinel—E Cooper; Outside Sentinel—Jerry Morehead.

A Alexander and J W Wilson were appointed delegates to the Supreme Grand Lodge, which meets in Raleigh in May.

Trespass Upon Private Premises.

On Monday night about 11 o'clock, Mr Krueger, who lives on Third street, between Tryon and College, was sitting in his house with his family, when he was attracted by the violent barking of his dog, in the back yard. Going out, he saw a negro man trying to keep the dog off, and accosted him to know his business. At first he made no reply, but finally answered that he had come to see the nurse. Mr Krueger knew this was a lie, for he has no nurse, and told the negro so. He then seized the intruder and bestowed several vigorous kicks upon him, all the time dragging him toward the front yard. As they reached the corner of the house, the negro jerked loose, and, drawing a pistol from his hip pocket, told Mr K, with an oath, that if he did not stop he would shoot. Just then a young friend of Mr Krueger, who was spending the evening with him, came out of the house with a pistol, which he handed to Mr K. The latter cocked it and pointing it at the negro, pulled the trigger, but the pistol snapped, and the negro taking advantage of this, dashed from the yard and ran up street with all his might, Mr Krueger snapping the pistol at him several times, at brief intervals, but without effect. He was followed to the corner of Tryon street, up this as far as the Opera House, when he eluded his pursuer and they turned back.

The Retail Whiskey Trade.

Most everybody notices that there is not near so much drinking in this community at present, as there formerly was. One barkeeper, a prominent one, says there is not as much by half as there was two years ago. This may be too low an estimate, but it is certain that the decrease is very considerable. It speaks well for the community that this is the case. It would be a great thing if everybody would "quit." There is one citizen, however, (though it may be wicked to say it or think it) whom we would like to see on one more bender. The last time he was "on it," he threw a brick at the organ grinder, and if the musical son-of-a-gun hadn't dodged, it would have killed him. If he is a benefactor who causes two blades of grass to grow where only one grew before, how much more of a benefactor is he who gets drunk and flings rocks at an organ grinder.

The Advanced Freights and the Reduced Price of Cotton.

There was a good deal of complaint, yesterday, among the farmers who brought cotton to town to sell, because of the fact the price was much lower than they had expected to find, lower than their neighbors had sold for only last week. It must be understood that the cotton buyers of Charlotte are in nowise responsible for this reduction. They must have some margin, and in order to secure this under the new rate of freights, they must pay a less sum for cotton than they have done hitherto during the season. Even before this reduction, cotton was so low that there was no money in it to the farmers, and now, when it has become even lower, every one who can possibly do so, will hold his cotton in the hope that the market may, at some time or other, take a more favorable turn. Meantime, those whose necessities force them to sell, may lay the blame for the low prices to the charge of the railroad companies which have formed this pool and put up freights.

Didn't Know the Name of His Future Wife.

A negro appeared in the office of the Register of Deeds, day before yesterday, and asked for a marriage license. The Register proceeded to fill it out, and premised by asking the applicant the name of her who was to be the bride. The negro was not certain whether it was Harriet Foster or Harriet Carter, and said he never was much "sequainted wid dat gal nohow." He finally concluded, however, that Carter was the name, and so the license was made to read. Upon being informed that $3 was the price, the to-be groom was struck almost dumb. "Free dollars! Good G—d! And I dunno wheder de gal is gwine to marry me, nudder!" He finally produced the requisite amount, however, and with a saddened countenance and heavy heart, turned it over to the official, whom he then tried to make promise that he would take it back if the gal went back on him. The Register declined to do this, and the two compromised on a promise from the gentleman of licenses that, if the gal did consent to marry the applicant, and the name was found to be wrong, that he would change it without extra charge.

Immigration Setting This Way.

It pleases us to note the fact that this State is beginning to attract a large amount of interest from immigrants and those interested in immigration movements. This interest has been growing for several years, until now the tide is sweeping this way from the North and East, and men of capital and enterprise are taking advantage of the opportunity offered to open up the way and supply the demand for new homes to those of their State or section who contemplate a change. The great immigration movement which in years past flooded the States of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Iowa, the people going from the Southern, Eastern and Middle States to commence anew in these highly praised sections, has in great measure quieted down; and though some interest is still manifested in that direction, the fact cannot be denied that this State is now attracting its share of attention. Recently we noticed in our State exchange, several prospecting parties from Northern sections, looking for homes in North Carolina, and reporting that if they settle, their example will be followed by many of their neighbors. One of the most important accessions which has yet been made, is that of Col Julian Allen, a prominent citizen of Brooklyn, New York, who, not long ago, bought a plantation near Statesville, and moved his family to it with a view of making it his future home. Largely through his instrumentality, a corporation known as the "Piedmont Land Company," has been formed in the town named, having for its object to induce immigration; and well-directed steps are being taken to further this end. There is no doubt that if a proper course were pursued, many persons who are tired of the rigorous climate of the North, and who have their eyes turned Southward, could be brought to this State. The last Legislature organized a Bureau of Immigration, but it was only a nominal institution, and having no money with which to operate it of course, accomplished no tangible objects. This State presents many advantages to settlers, and when these become better known, a tide of immigration will set in and continue until we shall have a new North Carolina.

The Courts.

MAYOR'S COURT.—Ferry Morehead, colored, was up, charged with selling liquor on Sunday. He was fined $50, that imposed by a city ordinance for this offence. Defendant takes an appeal to the Superior Court.

BEFORE JUSTICE MCNINCH.—Lizzie Koopmann, colored, for obtaining a load of wood under false pretences; sentenced to pay the cost and the price of the wood, $1.50.

BEFORE JUSTICE DAVIDSON.—Abraham Henderson, colored, for failing to supply adequate support for his family. Judgment suspended upon payment of cost and upon promise to reform his ways in this particular.

The Great Minstrel Troupe.

We learn that there is some probability that Haverly's Minstrels will re-visit us during the present season. We trust they will. There's millions of fun in it, "Ladies an' gintelmen: I hab bin 'quested by Governor Vance and oder spectable citizens of Stumptown, to make a few floatin' remarks, dis evenin, concernin' of de whar' bouts of Jonah for dem seben long days; a question which has very much agitated a cullered 'batin' siety, in dis city; now dar is no doubt in my mind, but dat, Jonah war, eat up by de whale." [Extract from Milt. G. Barlow's speech here last season.]
