Bear in mind the lecture of Prof Tripp

The Air-Line Railroad is reducing its force, cutting off hands all around

March has made a very bad start. Yesterday was one of the most dismal looking days of the season.

W S Ball, Esq., the editor of the Greensboro New North State, arrived at the Central Hotel last evening.

Gloom, rain and some sunshine, yesterday. Last evening, rain again; at night clouds, heavy fog, and a damp, chilly and unpleasant atmosphere.

That "little bill" again now; and the genial collector may smile and smile, but he can't do away with the desire which is lurking in the bosom of the dunned man, to

The fellow Smith, who stole a hat from Moyer's store some time ago, and never denied it until yesterday, argued his own case before the jury in the Superior Court, and was acquitted! He is fromOdesa, Delaware.

Freights are very light, at present, on the railroads. On the North Carolina Railroad, more is coming in than going out, which is very unusual at this season. Very little cotton is going North.

Newsom, who was to have been tried for fraud before Probate Judge Erwin, last evening gave a justified bond, on yesterday, in $500, and was released, Allen Newson and A H Newsom becoming his sureties.

The meeting of the Democratic County Executive Committee, was not held yester day in consequence of the non-attendance of many of the members. A meeting will be called by the Chairman for another day, not far distant.

Change on the Carolina Central.

A telegram received last night from Col S L Fremont, states that henceforth the night trains on the Carolina Central Railroad, will make but three trips per week, arriving in and leaving Charlotte by the present schedule, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

A very drunk white man who was found in College street at a late hour on Tuesday night, and put in the lock-up, was released yesterday morning. He had a gash in his face, and says it was given him by a negro but he was unable to give any details of the occurrence, and it is probable that he received it by a fail.

Hard Running.

Capt Finch had a mighty severe run the first day and night of his transfer from the Western to the Eastern Division of the Carolina Central. He ran up to Shelby yesterday morning, back here in the afternoon, then straight through to Wilmington, making a trip of 295 miles, consuming about 30 hours, without rest or sleep.

Displays of Superior Knowledge.

Last Sunday morning "elicit" was put by the compositor for "illicit" in the head line of one of our items. It was marked in was properly used, however, in the body of the article, but notwithstanding this, every journalistic "smarty" who happens to know the difference between "elicit" and "illicit," is airing his overwhelming knowledge before the public.

Why He Hadn't Been Employed.

Jo Johnston, colored, (what's in a name?) was before the Judge, yesterday, to be sentenced. "Where are you from?" was asked by His Honor. "Hanover county, Virginia," replied the prisoner. "How long have you been here?" "Thirty days." "Who have you been working for?" "Nobody at all; sir." "What! been here thirty days and haven't done any work yet?" "Well you see I've been in jail twenty-eight days.' "I'll give you 3 years in the Penitentiary," remarked His Honor, and this closed the

The Weather.

That the wisest and best of men differ on the most common subjects, is forcibly illustrated by the various and very diverse predictions of the weather-w se about the weather for the near future. Some who assume to know whereof they speak, say that the gold weather for the winter is yet to come; that we may look for very cold weather part of this month. Others equally as well informed say that we are to have an early spring, and that we may expect very little | Celebrating His Marriage. opinion before April or May. Few public officers have heavier duties than are those of Solicitor Montgomery. Very many of the bills of indictment which for the reason, as Maj Montgomery says,

Executive Committee of the Davidson Trustees.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Thistees of Davidson College, was held at that place on yesterday. Little more than routine business was transacted. Accounts were audited and preliminary arrangements made for the Commencement exercises in June. The Committee resolved to recommend to the full Board, at its meeting in June, a re-distribution of the professorships and elections or transfers to fill the chairs of Mathematics and French and Nothing Serious After All.

We mentioned, Tuesday, that Mr. R. F Stokes had been called suddenly to his home at Union Court House, S. C., by a telegram which assigned no reason why his presence was required. Messrs. J. A. Young & Son, for whom he is a salesman, received a letter from him yesterday morning, informing them of the illness of his brother, with pneumonia. It was feared that he would die, but he has rallied and is much better. Mr. Stokes feared that his father(one of the South Carolina editors who speaks out) had become involved in some ever you hear he is after you, you ought to difficulty growing out of his newspaper go and meet him. Effect of a Seal on Promissory Notes. The Court of Appeals of Maryland has recently decided a case of much interest to business men, associations and all others who deal in promissory notes. The note of a building association, in the usual form of a promissory note, but with a symbol representing the seal of the association was issued signed by the proper officers, and the question before the court was whether the seal made the paper a specialty and non-negotiable, or whether it could pass by mere endersement as an ordinary promissory note without seal. The Court of Appeals decided that the paper issued as a promissory note and was intended to pass as such, having been given instead of money, and on which it was intended to raise money. To Fasten Loose Window Sashes.

The most convenient way to prevent loose window sashes from rattling unpleasantly when the wind blows, is to make four onesided buttons of wood and screw them to the beading which is nailed to the casings of the window, making each button of proper length to press the side of the sash outward when the end of the button is turned down horizontally. The buttons operate like a clamp. By having them of the correct length to crowd the stiles of the sash outward against the outer stop of the window frame, the sash will not only be held so firmly that it cannot rattle, but the crack which admitted dust and a current of cold air will be closed so tightly that no window-strip will be required. The buttons should be placed about half way between the upper and lower end of each sash,

Western Sketches."

Dr C L Hunter, of Cottage Home, Lincoln county, is preparing a book which he will call "Western Sketches," and which he hopes to have published very soon. It will be in the form of biographies of some of the oldest families of Western North Carolina, the history extending back to and beyond the war of the revolution. Dr Hunter is well qualified for this task. He is very much of an antiquary, and his researches for many years past have been deep; he has gathered together already, much of the material of which this book will be formed Dr H is a gentleman of culture, and will put his material together in readable shape. The work will be very foll, so far as it professes to go, and we have no doubt that the facts will be stated with entire accuracy. and put in concise form. Life-Like Descriptions.

A "lady" before one of the Magistrates, yesterday evening, after her case had been disposed of, indulged in some remarks upon the constables, "There's Whitley," said she; "Whitley comes after you a-panting, with that old cap sot on the back of his head, and his eyes sot, and pulls you right out and up town no matter what you are doing or whether you've got on more than fifteen cents worth of clothes or not. The Public's Tardiness.

Why is it that people won't do a thing at the right time? Let there be a meeting of any kind, and let the hour be specified, and no matter how late it may be, the people will be later than it. We have the lecture which was delivered on Tuesday evening, in our mind. Every person who was there knew that 7.30 o'clock was the hour appointed for the lecture to begin, yet at that time not one-fifth of the crowd which was weeks past, closed last evening. The re- present at the close, was there. They stragsults have been very gratifying, 8 persons gled in from the time the lecture began uninterrupting those who had begun with the beginning and were keeping up with the thread of the narrative. Many of these late-comers were business men whose labors had closed with the close of the day, and who could easily have been there an hour earlier if it had been necessary, while some were men who haven't struck a lick of work

Jo. Johnston colored, for larceny, was sent up for 3 years. Jim Porter, colored, for larceny, was given 5 years. Bob Alexander, colored, charged with larceny, was from the notable ceremony of the day in the tried and found not guilty. WH Smith, white, charged with the larceny of a hat, was tried and found not guilty. The robbers had no counsel, and Dennis McCoy did the examining of witnesses and the talking for the crowd. They were all found guilty of the charge preferred, after a short absence of the jury. They were then tried for assaulting Mr R B Wallace, and found guilty on this charge also. Sentence was not passed upon them, as they are to be tried in other cases to-day. About 30 cases were disposed of by non-suit, submission, nol pros, and in other ways. Court adjourned at 3 to meet this morning

There was no session of the Mayor's Court, vesterday morning, and the only criminal case before any of the Magistrates was that of Isaac Bartlett, for assault and battery. He was found guilty and held to bail in the sum of $100 for his appearance at Court.

A Chat With a Farmer. We had a little talk, yesterday afternoon, with Capt S B Alexander, one of the best farmers in all this part of the State, regarding agricultural matters. Capt A says he is about done with cotton. He is satisfied that our farmers cannot compete with those of the Gulf States in the production of this staple, and henceforth he expects to devote but a very small amount of his attention to it. He is going into the raising of more cold weather. When the savans are The other evening as S.H. Capt Alexander talked also about wheat the year, the wheat looked miserably, yet this State has rarely ever seen such a yield as there was then, His wheat averaged 18 bushels to the acre, which is unusual. Year before last, too, it looked badly, in the early spring, and turned out well, and last spring it looked well and yet the turn-out was poor. So there is little judging wheat this far in advance. It may be an excellent crop. Oats, ally well for this season.

Two Eloping Children.

We published, on yesterday, the list of lad of 60 Summers, and the bride a blushing serious lung affections. girl of 30. The parents of the latter had decreed that they should part. A few evenings since, the father of the loved, loving and lovely female, went out to the cow-pen where she was engaged in the sentimental task of extracting the incipient butter from the blaze-faced cow called "Suke," and found the passionate youth hanging around the ragged edges of the fence corners, pouring his tale of love into the ear of the fair one, who listened and blushed as she manipulated the bosom of the cow.

Parents are too often cold and heedless of the tender emotions which find a place in the breasts of their children, and this old gentleman had no more consideration than to seize an unsentimental pitch-fork and chase his contemporary over the fence and down the lane, yelling to him as he reached the quarter stretch, that if he ever came back there he would be put to sudden and ignominious death. But these two lovers had vowed a vow, and this marriage license of which we have spoken, is the consequence. Now we are waiting to hear of the marriage, and if the old man did sure enough slay his venerable son-in-law.

The Lecture To-Night.

The second lecture of Prof Tripp's course in this city, will be delivered at the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Chapel this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The subject will be the Second Empire, and will embrace the Crimean War and all the other | Court House. interesting events of that period. We assure our readers that these lectures are highly instructive and meritorious. They have been received with applause before the finest audiences in America, and to lovers of French history a splendid opportunity is presented for the gratification of their tastes. The recommendations which Prof Tripp brings from Dr Charles Phillips, and other well-known and distinguished gentlemen, are sufficient guarantee of the worth of his productions, and in addition to these, all who were out on Tuesday evening, will bear testimony to their excellence and interest. We shall expect to see the room crowded this evening.

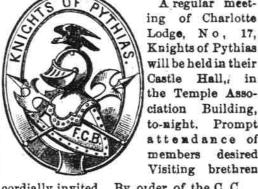

The lecture, this evening, among other interesting topics will embrace the life and career of Maxamilian and Carlota with personal reminiscences, the lecturer having seen Carlota and her father and mother and two brothers, one of them the present King of the Belgians. The Crimean war will be illustrated by a large map recently painted by Mr Rawson, of New York City. Tickets for the two remaining lectures 75 cents, evening 50 cents.
