The cats are partaking of the demoralization of the times. The other day an old Maltese Thomas cat in this city, ate up two kittens-barely leaving enough of them to tell of their fate-and killed a third one, tearing it all to pieces with his teeth.

Honors to the Orphans.

Yesterday afternoon the two orphans appeared on the streets, mounted on horseback, and as they passed in front of the Court House, the crowd there assembled united in a handsome and spontaneous demonstration in their honor. A red flag was produced, and held up as they passed, until juncture it was lowered to half mast, but when he re-appeared, it was again hoisted, the crowd waved their hats and cheered, the two orphans rode gleefully down the streets, and disappeared from view.

She Seeks Us With a Rolling Pin.

It is said that a mother-in-law in the city keeps a little grand-son standing constantly on the front steps, and whenever, in accordance with instructions, he sushes in exclaiming, "La, gramma, here comes an OB-SERVER man!" the old lady reaches for the rolling pin andmakes for the front door. The wary journalist, however, is posted, and like the Levite of old, "passes by on the other side.'

A Young Lady's Offering,

A kind-hearted young lady friend, has placed in our hands a sum of money for the benefit of the poor old man, Granville Caviness, of whom she has lately seen a good deal in the papers. This unsolicited offering from this gentle and lovely little lady, does credit to her tender and sympathising heart, and like the bread cast upon the waters, is sure to return even if it be after many days. In behalf of the poor old man we thank her, and assure her that her contribution has been properly applied.

The Courts.

These were a failure again on yesterday The Mayor had no cases, and there were no criminal cases before any of the Magistrates, neither were there more than a very few of any other kind. The community is now enjoying a period of good behavior, but these unnatural calms are always forerunners of storms, and those who are interested to the extent of costs, in the collisions between their fellowmen, may pluck up their

The body of Tryon Street M. E. Church, was filled again, last night, with an attentive congregation, to hear the sermon of Rev W W Duncan. There were five or six penitents, and the meeting will be continued through the week, with services this morning and this evening. The pastor announced, last night, in giving this notice that there had been about thirty conversions so far. The success which has attended this meeting has been remarkable. He warns simple folks who may be tempted painfully to go thither that the auriferous caformed that a new counterfeit five dollar pacity of that part of the country which is now accessible, has been over-rated, that the diggings are already overcrowded, and that the most fortunate do not do more than make wages by hard work in the midst of danger and discomfort.

> > THE CALHON MONUMENT .- The long delayed project of erecting a monument to John C Calhoun is about to be carried into effect by the Ladies' Monument Association of Charleston, ite, and surmounting this will be a colossal figure of Calhoun in bronze to be modeled after the statue of Powers, which in former years occupied a place in the City Hall of Charleston. The site of the monument has not yet been determined.

A singular decision has been rendered by the Missouri Supreme Court, ordering a new trial in the case of Kring, a condemned murderer, not from any doubt of his guilt, but simply because he was manacled in court while under trial-the shackles being put on him on account of a murderous assault he made in the court-room upon the hus- BUTTERband of the woman for slaying whom he was condemned.-Chicago Times.
