Writer of Political Economy Dead—The Turkish War, &c.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Mr Wlowski, writer on political economy is dead.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—A Reuter dispatch from Belgrade contains the following official bulletin: "The Turks attacked Odeljurgalovata's army at Treasibava, yesterday, the fighting lasted from 1 to 8 o'clock in the afternoon. The centre of the Turkish army was driven back one mile.

Gen Hartavavitch attacked the Turks, the engagement continuing several hours. The Servians took the entrenchments at Miamor, and penetrate the Turkish camp.

A dispatch from Athens to the Times reports that the French and German ambassadors have intimated to the Porte that they will leave Constantinople to-morrow, unless indemnity for the two consuls murdered at Salonica is paid, and the sentences of the military and naval commanders publicly read. The Porte hesitates to execute the sentence fearing resentment of the Mussulman.

The Standard's Paracher correspondent says the indications are that the fighting at Maliezoor has resulted in another Turkish success. If this is true communication between Sait-schar and Alexinitz will be interrupted. A fact in corroboration is the arrival of Tchernayeff and Chief of Staff, here, who is going through this place for Sartschar, which place has been opened.

A dispatch to the Daily Telegram from Nissa, reports that Alexinitz is in possession of the Turks.

Upwards of forty fishermen and sailors of the coasting vessels perished in a gale which prevailed on the coast of Scotland and England, last Thursday.

The Turkish ambassador here, announces that he has been authorized to engage twenty or thirty English surgeons for field service in the Turkish armies.

RAGUSA, Aug 5.—Yesterday, the Turkish garrison at Neum and the Turkish portion of Klek destroyed the fortifications and embarked for Antivari.

There was a battle yesterday near Trebinje but no particulars have been received.

MADRID, Aug 5.—Intelligence received here from the West coast of Africa announces that the blockade by the British squadron on Whydah coast has been raised.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Mr Walter Burwell, conservative, has been elected to Parliament for Shoreham in place of his brother, Sir Percy Burrell, deceased.

WASHINGTON.

Resolution in Senate to Print 10,000 of Grant's Hamburg Message—Filibustering in House on the Silver Bill—Hendrick's Letter of Acceptance—His Financial Views.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug 5.—The Senate has up a resolution to print 10,000 copies of a message of the President and accompanying documents on the recent trouble at Hamburg, S. C. The position of Gibson and Wike are wrongly stated in proceedings of Banking and Currency Committee, yesterday. On the motion in committee directing the chairman to report a bill repealing the time fixed for the resumption of specie payment. Mr. Gibson voted no and Mr. Wike voted aye. The amendment proposed by the Senate Military Committee to the House bill for the protection of the Rio Grande border is verbal making its provisions mandatory.

HOUSE.—Bland's silver bill came up in order. He was remonstrated with as vote could not possibly be reached. Bland replied the minority might filibuster and be; (balance of sentence lost) he was determined to call it up every morning during the session. This course will defeat continually an important hour every day. The House is now filibustering.

Gov. Hendricks has published his letter accepting the nomination. On the financial question he says: Our financial system of expedients must be reformed. Gold and silver are the real standards of value, and our national currency will not be a perfect medium of exchange until it shall be convertible at the pleasure of the holder—as I have heretofore said. No one desires a return to specie payments more earnestly than I do—but I do not believe that it will or can be reached in harmony with the interests of the people by artificial measures for the contraction of the currency any more than I believe that wealth or permanent prosperity can be created by an inflation of the currency. The laws of finance cannot be disregarded with impunity. The financial policy of the government, if indeed it deserves the name of policy at all—has been in disregard of those laws and therefore has disturbed commercial and business confidence—as well as hindered a return to specie payments. One feature of the policy was the resumption clause of the act of 1875—which has embarrassed the country by the fluctuation of a compulsory resumption for which no preparation has been made—and without any assurance that it would be practicable. The repeal of that clause is necessary, that the natural operation of financial laws may be restored. That the business of the country may be relieved from its disturbing and depressing influence and that return to specie payments may be facilitated by the substitution of wiser and more prudent legislation, which shall mainly rely on a judicious system of public economy and official retrenchments, and above all on the promotion of prosperity in all the industries of the people. I do not understand the repeal of the resumption clause of the act of 1875 to be a backward step in our return to specie payments, but the recovery of a false step, and although the repeal may for a time be prevented, yet the determination of the Democratic party on this subject has been distinctly declared. There should be no hindrances put in the way of a return to specie payments. As such a hindrance says the platform of the St. Louis Convention, we denounce the resumption clause of the act of 1875 and demand its repeal.

I thoughtly believe that by public economy, by official retrenchments, and by wise finance, enabling us to accumulate the metals, resumption at an early period as possible without producing an artificial scarcity of the currency, and its being public or commercial credit, and that these together with the restoration of pure government, will restore general confidence in the useful investment of capital, furnish employment to labor and relieve the country from the paralysis of hard times, with the industries of the people there have been frequent interferences, and our platform truly says that many industries have been impoverished to subsidize a few; our commerce has been degraded to an inferior position on the high seas; manufactures have been diminished, agriculture has been embarrassed, and the distresses of the industrial classes demands that these things shall be reformed.

On the school and sectional questions Mr. Hendricks says of sectional contentions, and in respect to our common schools; I have only to say, that in my judgment, the man or party that would involve our schools in political or sectarian controversy is an enemy to the schools. The common schools are safer under the protection and care of all the people, than under the control of any party or sect; they must be neither sectarian nor partisan, and there must be neither division nor misappropriation of the funds for their support. Likewise I regard the man who would arouse or foster sectional animosities and antagonisms among his countrymen as a dangerous enemy to his country. All the people must be made to feel and know that one more there is established a purpose and policy under which all citizens of any condition, race and color will be secure in the enjoyment of whatever rights the conditions and laws declare or recognize, and that in the controversies that may arise, the government is not a partisan, but within its constitutional authority, the just and powerful guardian of the rights and safety of all.

The strife between the sections and between the races will cease as soon as power for evil is taken away from a party that makes political gain of scenes of violence and bloodshed, and the constitutional authority is placed in the hands of men whose political welfare requires that peace and good order shall be preserved everywhere.

Dr Sears' Report of the Peabody Schools.

GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. VA., Aug 5.—Dr Sears reports to the Peabody school fund trustees in session here, a general flourishing condition of public schools in the Southern States, except in Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana. Mr Geo Peabody Russell, of England, who spent the last winter in the South, expressed the opinion that nothing could be expected from the States, named in the way of advancing their educational interests until there was an entire change in their State governments.

Silver Bill—A Substitute Offered and Defeated.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—HOUSE.—The Silver Bill went over with the expiration of the morning hour. The reports of Committees on Expenditures in the War Department, and the Department of Justice were made. They were ordered to be printed. Cor, Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, reported a bill repealing the resumption act, he said he would allow an hour and a half for debate, but decline to allow amendments. He opened by saying that fixing a day for resumption was a hopeless menace to prosperity, it did no good, and that it was utterly useless for all practical purposes. In the vote on seconding the previous question, most of the Republicans abstained from voting, thus leaving the House apparently without a quorum and preventing action on the bill. After some time wasted in the call of the House, Cox allowed Hewitt's proposition to be offered as a substitute, and then the previous question was seconded without objection. The vote was then taken on Hewitt's substitute, which provides for a commission of three Senators, three Representatives and three experts to be selected by and associated with the Senators and members, to consider what measures are necessary and practicable in order to bring about the resumption of specie payment at the earliest possible time, consistent with a due regard to the interest of the country, and to report a bill embodying the results of its investigation on or before the 15th of Dec., 1876. Fort, of Illinois, wanted to know whether Hewitt offered his substitute as Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, but was only answered by loud calls to order and great noise and confusion, in which the Speaker's gavel took a leading part. As the vote progressed great interest was manifested in the result. Finally the vote was announced, yes 92, nays 104. So the substitute was rejected. The vote was then taken on the bill reported by Cox, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, and it was passed, yeas, 106; nays, 98.
