The the election of Hayes would now be Republicans of New York, therefore, have it in their power to say whether the nation shall be put beyond all possible peril of a baneful and threatening crisis." Our advices from New York State, are so favorable to the Democrats that none but a lunatic would dare to claim the electoral vote of that State for Hayes. According to their own count radicalism is in its last gasp.

Mr. Holden has recently published "a Card" in the Raleigh Era, eight and a half columns in length, which he is pleased to term his "vindication," them to victory. There are no errors He uses this language, "while I was a "states rights man, as Jefferson and "Jackson were: I had determined in "my mind, never to consent willingly "to a dissolution of the Union." CARD PROM MR CRESSWELL

To All Whom it May Concern:

In the issue of the Southern Home of hearing, and his card is published in Monday, is a letter from Rev J I Dales. In reply to that letter permit me to state that when I first heard it read at Berryhill, I wrote to Dr Dales the Presidential contest, and now, damaging charges of three or four stating that a letter was in circulation here purporting to come from him and the Republican lines, the truth has just dawned upon those who persisted in following false gods to escape just criticism for Republican wrongs. The worse than blunder was made in the face of line upon line and precept upon precept from the singers man who

The Bayonet Proclamation.

It Renders the Election of Hayes Utterly Hopeless. [From the Philadelphia Times.]

Probably the bayonet election proclamation of President Grant and its twin order by Secretary Cameron, were necessary to make certain the election of Governor Tilden to the presidency; but that they have made the election of Governor Hayes next to impossible, if not utterly hopeless, must be patent to every dispassionate observer of passing political events. The deliberate assault upon the peace, good order and individual safety in sovereign States by the Grant administration will stand out in our history as entirely exceptional in the abuse of the most sacred public trust, and the crimsoned records they have written, and are still writing from day to day, are but the lawlessness and deaths contracted for by by desperate political leaders. A characterless a Senator from South Carolina, who would be overwhelmingly impeached as a perjurer in any Pennsylvania court where he is known, is the master can remember my note to which you spirit of the conspiracy to plunge that State into martial law to save his bankrupt political fortunes, and the President of the United States and the Secretary of War, both of whem know him to be wholly unworthy of credit, have obeyed his mandates and flooded the country with his studied falsehoods.
