An exchange pathetically and truthfully remarks that it is terrible to get up these mornings at five o'clock, with the mercury trying to get out of the bottom of the thermometer, to find every fire in the house gone dead out, the key of the wood house down at a charity ball in the hired girl's pocket, and the hatchet borrowed the evening previous by a bay in the next street to make a sled, and not returned. It makes a man want to sell his stoves and move down into Louisiana and endure bull dozing the rest of his life.

It will amount of hugging and blessing, but it be remembered that the 1st of January the bad weather prevented the farmers from attending at that time, and it was agreed to meet on the 20th. This again was considered too far off and it was determined to hold the meeting on Thursday, the 12th, when it is hoped that there will be a full attendance. The Democrat and Home are requested to note the change.

Governor Vance Contradicting Judge

The assertion reported to have been made by T J Mackey that Gov Vance had said that he believed Hayes to have been fairly elected, was contradicted in this paper yesterday on the assurance of gentlemen who heard the conversation between the two gentle men on Christmas day, when Judge Mackey was in the city. As a further confirmation of this, if any need be, the New York Sun of the 2d, says:

"A dispatch was received yesterday at the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee, in this city, from Gen W R Cox, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee of North Caro-There will be a three days meeting lina, contradicting in the most posi-The Rev Mr Boshamer will preach the | Herald correspondent at Columbus, published on Saturday last. Gas or Kerosene?

One of the principal subjects of street corner discussion now is that of lighting the city with kerosene lamps. The pros and cons are presented with much animation. One party will say that these are hard times, and the less money that is spent by the city the better; that people have no business running about of nights any way; let them stay at home like he does, and they'll not need any lights at all. We hereafter be used for both wholesale and retail. Workmen are now engaged in preparing it for this purpose. glad we had meat and bread to eat. This is generally said by an elderly men to help the police fill the lamps and keep them in order.

And there it goes. Kerosene or gas is the great question of the hour, in comparison with which the present great question as to who is to be our next President pales into utter insignificance.

Before the Mayor.

A man by the name of Scott who lives in Gaston, and is a writing master by profession, was up before the Mayor for drunkenness and general nuisance yesterday morning. He was fined $5 and commanded to leave the city at the earliest possible moment, under penalty of further punishment. He has been lying around here for a week
