The Opera House Last Night-Spiritual-

As large a house as has appeared at to witness the manifestations which he had advertised would be seen. That many were disappointed it is hardly necessary to say. Spirits are tricky you know, and do not come or go at man's bidding. Another peculiarity about spirits is that they are invisible. Many people can't be induced to believe a thing without seeing it. Some even insist upon eating it, as in the case of the man who said that "the proof of the pudding is the chewing of the bag." As the audience could neither see nor eat the spirits why of course it was impossible to believe that they were there.

However this may be the spirits were there, or at least Mr Everett said they were. There were no guitars floating through the air played by invisible fingers, no forms or faces recognized by the audience and no flowers materalized, but some very clever tricks were done, if they were performed in the The President of the Young Men's dark. By this mail I forward you copy of a letter written by an individual calling night, and concluded to give a hop at death by violence. The three men himself "Rev Parsons," who has been the Central Hotel next Friday, the 19th. were brought before Justice McNinch and for aught I know (though for your It will not be conducted by the Hor- yesterday. This letter is published in their or ing it you will see that the said Parsons does not give you the best of characters; in fact he trys to make it out that he has been shamefully ill treated in your

If his statement were true I should only say you "served him right" for meddling with what does not concern him. So I shall be great obliged if you will kindly honor me with a reply, giving and also any other particulars you may think desirable to mention.

The Good Templars of this country disclaim sending this individual out. The whole blame rests with the seceeders, and consequently he is not instituting Good Templar lodges but ones of a ong and tells how that a neighbor limits, and chased for some distance a bogus order. In England we would call this obtaining money under false pretences and it is punishable if brought under the cognizance of the law. I don't believe Parsons has any Trusting you will favor me with a reply, and sympathizing with you at the Opera House this season, greeted having the burden of such a firebrand remain, yours sincerely,

P 8-Should you wish references apoly to either Col J J Hickman, Louisville, Kentucky; Dr Oronlryatekha, London Onlain, Canada; Mrs L L Poughington, Portland, Maine; Dr Lees Leeds, England.

In the paper alluded to above he gives a terribly distorted account of his interview with the Mayor, and talks much about an infuriated mob outside, when it is a well known fact that there were scarcely 2 dozen white people who knew he was in the city till an account of the interview with the Mayor was published on the following morning.

The Mayor did order him to appear before His Honor's Court, to answer he charge of obtaining money under false pretences, but he did not appear, and as the evidence against him was at that time meagre, and as he expressed the determination to leave immediately, the matter was not pressed.

The letter is too long for reproduction, but we quote the following as a fair specimen, which is too absurdly untrue to need correction :

Having got safely away to Statesville, N. C., after taking refuge for a day or two in a wood at the house of Dr Mattoon the principal of a colored school Bro Parsons writes under date Nov. 17 The whites are following me about wherever I go.
