

Daily Charlotte Observer.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
Daily Year, (postpaid) in advance $6.00
" 6 mos. " " " 4.00
" 3 mos. " " " 2.00
" 1 mos. " " " .75
WEEKLY EDITION.
Weekly, (in the country) in advance $2.00
" " " out of the county, postpaid, 2.10
" " " 6 months, " " " 1.05
Liberal reductions for clubs.

VOL. XIII.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 1877.

NO. 2,447.

JOB PRINTING.

The Observer Job Department can thoroughly supply every need wanted, and with the latest styles of type, and every manner of job work can now be done, with neatness, dispatch and cheapness. We can furnish short notices, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, LETTER HEADS, CARDS, TAGS, RECEIPTS, POSTERS, PROGRAMMES, HAND BILLS, PAMPHLETS, CHUBBS, &c.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Noon Dispatches.

WASHINGTON.

Spirited Debate on Louisiana Affairs.

Packard Denounced as a Public Robber.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.

Nomination: John E. Hamilton, Attorney of the Kentucky district.

The first half a million was awarded to the Eades Jetties.

Before the Committee on Privileges and Elections Col. Pelton had no recollection of sending a dispatch to Senator Kelly, that Oregon would be depended on for one vote.

The evidence of Superintendent Brenner before the Committee on Privileges and Powers was confined to the manner of handling dispatches. He was discharged.

House—Wells and Anderson were presented at the bar of the House, but their cases were postponed till the arrival of the other members of the board. The day was devoted to private bills.

Senate—A motion was made to adjourn to Monday. Mr. Edmunds said the bill reported by the select Committee yesterday should become law the first act to be done under it must be done a week from Tuesday.

The Senate should take the bill up to-morrow, so by next Tuesday they might destroy it by many blows or pass it, and not destroy it by smothering it or postponing its consideration.

He hoped the Senate would not adjourn over the motion was withdrawn.

The Louisiana affair was discussed at great length by Sherman and Bogy, during which the galleries were cleared on account of demonstrations of applause.

Sherman defended the action of the returning board and quoted from the testimony to show that violence and intimidation did exist during the canvass, and the board was justified in throwing out certain returns.

He argued that the ex parte testimony presented by the Senator from Missouri, did not show that violence did not exist.

The Senator, Mr. Bogy had spoken against Packard; that was not right.

Packard was a man of character and standing; what had he done? Had he murdered and robbed?

Mr. Bogy—He has been robbed, robbed, and done nothing else.

Mr. Sherman was surprised to hear such a remark from the Senator.

Mr. Bogy said the character of Packard in New Orleans was that of an infamous robber. (Great applause in the galleries on the right of the chairman.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.

Mr. Morton of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. (He [Mr. Morton] was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him speak off as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business.)

Mr. Sherman after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries referred to Louisiana again, and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor.

When a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous he abused his privileges as a Senator.

Mr. Bogy—I do not admit that he is Governor.