The President sent the dispatch so that he might have time to retire his pretensions if so disposed. The President says: Instructions have been issued which cancel all orders for the preservation of the status quo, and that neither you or Packark are bound to of serve that. He means that the people of Louisiana are as free in their afpeople of Connecticut, and that there will be no disposition to interfere with them any more than with the people of New York. The President concurs with us that you immediately issue a proclamation, urging the protection of amnesty and peace. Being asked if the posse executing the powers of Gov with by the military, he replied, no more than in any other State. Being asked if Nicholls' officers in, should take possession of the offices in the State without mob violence, would would there be military interference; he replied, that there would be none; that the military would only be used as it had been once in New York, and would be in any of the States, to overcome mobs too formidable for the civil powers of State authorities. We have submitted the foregoing dispatch of yesterday to the President, who has revised it with his own hands, and authorizes us to state that in its present form it is absolutely correct.
