WASHINGTON!

EX GOV. BROWN OF TENNESSEE ON THE LOUISIANA COMMISSION.

PACKARD APPEALING FOR HELP

HAMPTON AND CHAMBERLAIN INVITED TO WASHINGTON.

HAVE'S LETTER TO THEM.

WASHINGTON, March 23. Unearthed after midnight: JULASKA, Tenn., March 22, 1877.

If it is believed that my co-operation will contribute anything toward a pacific solution of the troubles in Louisiana, my services are at the command of the President...

The President has appointed Gov. Brown.

The President has received, by telegraph, a resolution of the Packard Legislature, calling for aid to protect the State against insurrection...

The formal presentation of the papers and application of Foster Blodgett, as Marshall of Georgia, was made by Senator Morton, and not Senator Hill.

The results of the consideration by the Cabinet of the South Carolina question, has been the sending a letter to Chamberlain and Hampton, inviting them here in person or by delegate...

The following is a copy of the letter: EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, D. C., March 23, '77.

To Hon. D. H. Chamberlain:

Sir:—I am instructed by the President, to bring to your attention, his purpose to take into consideration the position of affairs in South Carolina...

It will give the President great pleasure to confer with you in person, if you shall find it convenient to visit Washington, and shall concur with him in thinking such conference the readiest and best mode of placing your views as to the political situation in your State before him.

I am instructed by the President to be able put an end as speedily as possible to all appearance of intervention of the military authority of the United States in political derangements...

In this desire, the President cannot doubt he truly represents the patriotic feeling of the great body of the people of the United States.

It is impossible that protracted disorder in the domestic government of any State can or should ever fail to be a matter of lively interest, and solicitude to the people of the whole country.

In furtherance of the prompt and safe execution of this central purpose, he invites a full communication of your opinion on the whole subject in such one of the proposed forms as may seem to you most useful.

By the direction of the President, I have addressed to the Hon. Wade Hampton, a duplicate of this letter.

I am very respectfully, Your obedient servant, W. K. ROGERS, Private Sec'y.

Midnight. WASHINGTON, March 23. Minister Washburne has resigned the French Mission.

The President accepts his resignation, with the request that he remain at Paris until his successor arrives at Paris.

Chas. M. Henly has been appointed stenographer to the President.

O. L. Pruden succeeds Maj. Sniffin as Assistant Secretary to the President.

Bishops Campbell, Shorter and Brown of Colored Methodist Church, called on the President and were introduced by Prof. Langston.

Answer, if any, from Hampton or Chamberlain has not transpired.

Lee on the Road to Execution--Guarded by Soldiers

SALT LAKE, March 23.—The Marshall left Beaver with Lee for Mountain Meadow where the execution is to take place. A company of soldiers accompany the party to prevent a rescue.

LATER.

At 11 A. M., precisely, Lee was brought out upon the scene of the massacre, at Mountain Meadow, before the executing party, and seated on his coffin, about twenty feet from the shooters.

After the order of the court was read to him and the company present, by Marshall Nelson, Lee made a speech of about five hundred words, bitterly denouncing Brigham Young, and calling himself a scape-goat, for the sins of others.

He hoped God would be merciful. He denied that he was guilty of bloodshed to the last, and maintained that his mission to Mountain Meadow was one of mercy.

After the speech, Parson Stokes, Methodist, made a prayer, commending the soul of the condemned man to God. Immediately after this a handkerchief was placed over Lee's eyes.

He raised his hands and placed them on top of his head, sitting firm. Marshal Nelson giving the word fire, five guns fired, the balls penetrating the body in the region of the heart.

Lee fell square back on his coffin, dead. Death was instantaneous. The body was placed in the coffin, and the crowd dispersed.

There were about 75 persons, all told, on the ground. Not a child or relative was there. The best order prevailed.

Lee's last words to Marshal Nelson were, "Aim at my heart." The body is now on the way to be delivered to his relatives at Cedar City.

How a Jewess Married a Christian.

Mr. H. L. Oliver, a young lawyer of good standing at the Nashville bar and of respectable family connections, was married to Miss Hannah Weil, daughter of Mr. S. Weil of this city, at her father's residence, Friday evening, by Justice Creighton.

Feeling that her parents would oppose the match, as it is against the Jewish creed to intermarry with other people, she went to her father, and put to him the following insurmountable interrogatories:

"Father, how old am I?" "Father—Nineteen years old my daughter."

"Daughter—When does a young lady become of lawful age?" "Father—At the age of eighteen."

"Daughter—Then I am free to act for myself, am I not, father?" "Father—I see no objection to it."

"Daughter—Well, then, Mr. Oliver loves me ever so much, and I love him ever so much. I want you to consent to our marriage, for if you do not I fear we will have to run away, and I'd much rather be married at home."

The father was very much astonished at her pointed inquiries and more so when he found her betrothed a Christian gentleman, but, after pondering the matter awhile, give the sensible response. "Well, if you are bound to marry, I would rather you would be quietly married at home."

And so the young people were married and left for Huntsville that evening.
