THIERS' FUNERAL.

Disagreement as to Where I Should Occur - An Immense Concourse of People in Attendance.

Paris, September 8. 8 a. m. Deputations from many provincial towns have arrived here and others, are expected. Large numbers are also here from the provinces to witness the funeral of M. Thiers. Many English visitors are here with the same object. Notwithstanding the weather is rainy, a great crowd has already collected outside his late residence in the Place Street, George and adjoining streets. The attitude of the Archbishop of Paris has provoked much remark. M. Paris has provoked much remark. M. Paul Remusat, on behalf of Thiers' family, waited on him for permission to have the service at Madeline instead of at the parish church at Notre Dame de Loretti. Madeline, with its surroundings, is the only spot spacious enough for the thousands who will follow the procession. will follow the procession. The open hearse, drawn by six horses, in which the coffin rested, states that it was attacked by 40,000 Russians and gallantly defended by the Turkish battalions, who were forced to give way to superior numbers. They retreated in good order, taking with then the Musselmen inhabitants."

Inspection of the Military Asylum at Old Point.

FORTRESS MONROE, VA., September 8.

Hon. Geo. W. McCrary, Secretary of War, Chief Justice Waite, Gen. Butler, was at half-mast this morning, caused great excitement. There were mixed emotions and even an impression that Merton had died, and indignation that such honor should be paid to Crasy Horse; but the town became calm when it transpired that the flag was lowered in honor of the funeral of M. Thiers.

LATER.—The latest solution of the half-mast flag over the Treasury Department, is that it is a lamentation about the California election.

War, Chief Justice Waite, Gen. Butler, Gen. Martindale, Judge Bond, Hon. Louis B. Gurckle and ex-Gov. Frederick Smyth, of the board of managers, accompanied by Hen. Wm. M.
