FROM WASHINGTON.

The Gathering of the Candidates for Congressional Honors and Emoluments--All on the Ragged Edge.

A Defaulting Postmaster -- Senator Patterson Dodging Arrest.

Washington, October 6.—The town s filling rapidly, and there are some fifteen or twenty headquarters. There s more dizziness than business yet, owing to fatigue from travel. Caldwell's friends are sanguine that he will be clerk. Col Blackburn, who is well up in the manuel and apt with the gavel, is not out of the ring for Speaker. The true indications, however, are that the old officers will retain their places. Clerk Adams is in the most danger. Doorkeeper Patterson is not entirely safe. A change in this office gives the place to Wedder-burn, which may oust Stewart from the postoffice, as both these gentlemen are from Virginia, and Stewart has made a most genial postmaster. Capt Amos B Corwin, a Mexican soldier under Jefferson Davis, is candidate for postmaster.

The Star also has the following ditty of the other days: "Col Lewis Porter, assistant postmaster of Washington City, has been removed, or rather he has resigned in accordance with an intimation that such an action would be acceptable to the authorities. ### The Story of the Stranding of the Massachusetts-What the Passengers Saw, Heard and Felt.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 6 .- The officers of the Massachusetts remain on or near the stranded steamer. Passengers, however, agree pretty well upon the following story: "The Massachu-Fort Davis, under date of October 6th: setts left New York at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon with 150 passengers and a large freight. The water was rising in the forecastle, and the deck hands set to work to lighten the boat throwing overboard all cotton, flour, whiskey and sugar, until at last half of the cago was in the sea. The other half was kept in to balance the boat, but the night wore away, and it was a night which the passengers will not soon forget."

When he finished, a resolution was passed that the House of the Archbishop of Canterbury, who is the Archbishop of Canterbury, who is pleted and placed in my hands for collection, and as the treasury is empty with no friends from whom to borrow, every one is earnestly requested to pay when called upon. Mukhtar Pasha Defeated, but Kills 2 000 Russians.

Plans for Keeping Communication Across the Danube Open During the Winter.

Cause of Mehemet Ali's Removal

The War in Asia.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — The Daily News' correspondent, with General Milikoff's army, telegraphing from Rasrichens, enormous expense of importing the Hepa-Thursday, says: "At 3 o'clock this tine into this country, but as there are fifty afternoon the Russians were surround- doses in the large size bottles, it seems two ing Kizli Tipi, when Mukhtar Pasha, desperate at seeing his communications with Kars threatened, advanced against our centre, with twenty battalions. druggists. The Russian tirvail-lons drove them back, pursuing them to Sonbatan till nightfall. The Turks were utterly demoralized and everywhere took to flight. To morrow (Friday) a great battle is expected along the whole front, when we hope to cut Mukhtar's communications and render his position hopeless. Our losses are unknown, but over 2,000 are reported missing."

The Times' Bucharest special says:
"A considerable discussion is going on in relation to the means of keeping the communication across the Danube open during the winter. One plan suggested is the construction of a bridge upon iron cylinders. Another plan is for a fleet of steamers to be kept constantly crossing. The supporters of the latter plan point to the fact that the Hudson river ferries are kept going during the winter under far more disadvantageous circumstances relative to ice and current, than would have to be encountered on the Danube.

The Times' Vienna correspondent confirms the report that Mehemet Ali's removal is due to the intrigues of jealous Turkish rivals, who accused him of surrounding himself with the German and other foreign officers who revealed his plans to the Russians. Egyptian Prince Hassan is prominent amongst Mehemet's detrac-tors. It is notable that Mehemet Ali's last action failed in a great measure because the Egyptian troops failed to

From Bulgaria there is no intelligence of active operations. The army of the Czarewitch will naturally await the arrival of the whole of its reinforcements before it will venture upon an aggressive advance, either towards Rustchuk or across the upper Lom.

Mr. Edwin Adams, the well-known and much-loved actor, has reached Chicago-on his attempted journey from San Francisco in New York-but he has been obliged to stop there; and there, probably, he will die. His dis-ease is consumption, and his life is well-nigh exhausted. His sickness has lasted a long time, and it has been attended with much expense. In plain words, the unfortunate gentleman is in poverty as well as at the point of death.

The reason why only one sample bottle of Merrell's Hepatine for the Liyer will be sold to the same person, for ten cents, by our druggists, in Charlotte, is because of the enormous expense of importing the Hepacents a dose is cheap enough for a medicine that cures dyspepsia and liver com-piaint.
