A HUMANE PROPLE .- The people that their humanity has been equal to every occasion, and that the aid they have given to their suffering fellowmen has been out of all proportion to their limited means. No city in the world can show a nobler record of selfsacrificing benevolence and humanity than this old Virginia city. Not long ago the terrible loss of the Huron made a heavy drain upon their charities, but they were equal to the emergency. Then came the flood in the mountains of Virginia, and Norfolk responded to the cry for relief as earnestly as if she had never had any other call upon her liberality. And finally the fearful dis-aster of the Metropolis threw all the survivors upon their generosity, and the burden was picked up and borne as joyfully as if it were a benefaction and relief to themselves instead of others. Such conduct is worthy of praise and commendation, and should be put upon record as an example to others to go and do likewise.—Baltimore Sun,

The Stepping Stone to Health.

The acquisition of vital energy is the stepping stone to health. When the system lacks vitality, the various organs flag in their duty, become chronically irregular, and disease is eventually instituted. To prevent this unhappy state of things, the debilitated system should be built up by the use of that inimitable tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which invigorate the digestive organs and insure the thorough conversion of food into blood of a nourishing quality, from whence every muscle, nerve and fibre acquire unwonted supplies of vigor, and the whole system experiences the beneficial effect. Appetite returns, the system is refreshed by healthful slumber, the nerves grow strong and calm, the despondency begotten of chronic indigestion and an uncertain state of health disappears, and that sallow appearance of the skin peculiar to habitual invatids, and persons deficient in vital energy, is replaced by a more becoming

MR. H. R. STEVENS: In 1872, your VEGETINE was recommended to me; and yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time I was suffering from general debility and neryous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curstive properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose; and under its persistent use I rapidly recov-ered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give VECETINE my most unqualified in dorsement as being a safe, sure, and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy VEGETIME is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.
