An Italian Cardinal Elected Pope—A Brief Sketch Known for His Piety.

Rome, Feb 19.—9 p m.—The conclave's second ballot was to begin at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The smoke of burning ballots in this case was not observed until 6:45 p m, showing that the votes were much scattered. The Franfulla states that Germany instructed Hohenloki to declare that the election of an irreconcilable Pope would oblige that government to take repressive steps immediately, whereas a moderate pontificould speedily terminate the existing differences. The Franfulla also says that the French cardinals, contrary to their first declar cardinals, contrary to their first declarations, ultimately determined to unite with the Spanish, Austrian and German cardinals in supporting a moderate candidate.

Rome, Feb 20.—Cardinal Gioachino Pecci, pontifical camerlingo, has been elected Pope. He is an Italian, and will take the name of Leo XIII.
Gioachino Pecci was born on the Ansgni, of an old Patrician family. He was in favor with Pope Gregory XVI. in whose household he was for some time as a prelate and private referendary, and who employed him as his delegate, first at Benevente, then at Spalito and Perugia. Where he did good work and Perugia, where he did good work in ridding some of those districts of the prevailing scourge of brigandage. Pecci was subsequently sent as nunico to Brussels, created Archbishop of Perugia, and was one of the candidates for whom the old Pope reserved the honor of the purple when he died in 1846. Pecci remained, however, a cardinal in Petto in spite of the good offices of the King of the Belgians who solicited the new, Pope Pius IX., to fulfill the benevolent intentions of his predecessor. Seven years elapsed before Pius IX. came to a resolution to do justice the Black Sea. to the candidate of Gregory's choice, and this delay was owing to the ill will of Cardinal Antonelli, who dreaded the to the date of the convocation of the Pope's mind. At last on the 19th of ers that the preliminary treaty of December, 1853, Pecci received the peace should be signed; Austria obhat, but for many years he was left in jects to Russia being able to present the cold at his See of Perugia, the cardinal secretary of state standing in the The channel squadron, consisting of care of his diocese." More recently another opening oc-curred upon the office of Prodataria becoming vacant by the death of Car 4th. That for the promotion of American steamship lines to foreign countries a general law ought to be passed by Congress, providing, under proper conditions, for mileage compensation for the carriage of the mails between the United States and the states of the states > journal, under date of Feb 14, spoke as follows of Cardinal Pecci: "Cardinal Pecci is tall, with a fine head, high forehead, narrowing at the temples, long face and straight features; has a large mouth, prominent chin, a cheerful, open countenance and large, well shaped ears. His face reminds one of Consalri, the renowned minister of Pius VII. He has a fine, sonorous voice, and a quiet dignity, even austerity, of manners in public life, but privately is affectionate, unassuming, sociable and witty. As camerlingo he has been the head of that moderate party which, without formally renounc-ing the right of the Holy See, acknow-ledges the wisdom of submitting to the decrees of Providence and accepting what seem to be irrevocably accomplished facts. The general opinion is that for learning, tact, energy, dignity, amuability, real moral worth and sincere piety, the sacred college could not find a more deserving Pope than Car-

> "Cardinal Pecci spoke with great effect against the proposal for the removal of the conclave from Rome and moval of the conclave from Rome and other measures advocated by the Reactionary party. He enjoys the confidence and support of the Liberals, or at least a reasonable majority of them, in the sacred college, and plays the same part as was sustained by Cardinal Gezzi in the conclave of 1846.

Indianapolis, Feb 20 .- In the Democratic State convention, ex-Governor Hendricks was elected President. The resolutions strongly favor the retirement of National Bank notes, and bitterly denounce what they allege as the electoral fraud, by which the free people were cheated out of their choice.

THE GREAT EASTERN QUESTION

Necessity of a War, and Explains Germany's Interest—What the Russian March on Gallipoli

BERLIN, Feb 20 .- In the Reichstag. Prince Bismarck also stated that the Russian official communication made it certain that the chief interest of Germany, namely, the freedom of the water ways, such as the straits and the Danube, for commerce, would be maintained. He believed it was Russia's tained. He believed it was Russia's interest to come to an understanding and not have fear of complications with Austria or England constantly impending. The supposition that Russia might forcibly compel other powers to accept the settlement to which they objected, seemed entirely out of the question. He denied that the Russians had pushed forward their troops under the clock of negotiations. He believed that all the powers honorably under the cloak of negotiations. He believed that all the powers honorably desired to send representatives speedily to the conference. He energetically repudiates the idea of Germany engaging in a war relative to the Eastern question. Nothing should induce him to hazard a rupture with any power relative to questions in which Germany had no direct interest. No government, at least neither of those principally interested, had proposed that Germany should enter upon any such course.

The chancelior's speech was loudly cheered.

London, Feb 20.-The Post, in a leader relative to the possible advance of the Russians on Gallipoli, says: "The Russians now affect to consider that the advance of our fleet turned their position. They are apparently disposed to occupy Gallipoli, unless we agree to give them guarantees against our further advance. Such guarantees

WITTKOWSKY Jobber in General Merchandise.

Charlotte, N. C., March 1st, 1878. Ever anxious to maintain intact the enviable reputation of THE OLD HOUSE as a first-class WHOLESALE AND RETAIL ESTABLISHMENT, myself with a number of Wholesale Houses in other States have jointly engaged a gentleman in New York, of very large experience, as our General Agent, whose duty it is to constantly watch the markets, taking advantage of every decline, and to attend the large TRADE SALES, buying by the side of the largest Houses in the United States. The joint purchases of my combination amount annually to the enormous sum of about FIVE MILLION DOLLARS. which I deem sufficient argument of the great advantages I possess, and which no other House in this section can lay claim to. The varied nature of my immense stock forbid particularizing, nor have I the inclination to bolster up one line of Goods at the expense of another by offering one line or article less than cost, and make it up on the other. I prefer continuing the fair, legitimate business to offer EACH and EVERY article at the lowest market price. Every Department will be complete by the 10th March, and I hope to have the pleasure of seeing you this Spring personally, making your purchases or sending me your orders, which will have my undivided attention.

I call your particular attention to my extraordinary stock of Shoes, Hats and Notions. These lines have received my particular consideration.
