"Free from the dotting scum that fetter our free-born reason."

NOTES AND NEWS.

Keeps lent—The wheelbarrow. It is more blessed to give than receive, but it is not so popular—St Louis Journal.

The first strawberries of the season were sold in Charleston last Saturday at $1.50 a quart.

There are fifty-nine Confederate soldiers in Congress—ten in the Senate and forty-nine in the House.

There is but one maner man in the Senate than Howe, of Wisconsin, and that is Hannibal, of Maine.—R B Hayes.

The man who lives in Ohio seems to be always in terrible danger of having greatness thrust upon him.—Phil Times, Ind.

It is said real good men are scarce at watering-places this season. Come to think of it, there is no place overcrowded by men of that sort.—Piscayane.

A Boston man who but two years ago was worth $300,000, is now living in a garret, with only the consciousness of his massive Boston brain to comfort him.

Iowa is one of the greatest States in the country for lead, and more ton pieces are taken up in church collections there than any place in the Union.

The name of Darsell has never been borne by any other family than that of the present Lord Beaconsfield, and as he has no other living relations, will expire with him.

"De committee decide dat de sword has de most pints and de best jackson, an' dat de pen is de most beneficial, an' dat de whole thing is about a stup'—off."—Decision of a Colored Debate.

The spring pattern dresses for ladies includes a cut-away neck and vest. There hasn't been such a striking similarity of ladies' and gentlemen's apparel since the days of Adam and Eve.

A word with silver men. [World headline.] O, if you want to borrow a quarter, don't be taking the silver fellows aside. They know you it is, and you are as welcome to it as if it were the inferior article, gold.—Covier-Journal.

A devout woman took her baby to church. The voice of the preacher waked the child into streams. "Do not go," said the minister, "the baby does not disturb me." "That may be," said the mother, still re-creating, "but you disturb the baby."

Charleston Journal of Commerce: Car-dozo, weakest of them all, is the only one who has been punished. On his head alone has the wrath of an injured State been emptied. The greatest offenders are at large, but the smallest of them all is punished.

Uncle Remus on popular education in the Atlanta Constitution: "Wat a nigger wineter I am outen books? I kin take a bar' stave an' fling mo' sense inter a nigger in one minit dan all de school houses betwix dis an' de State of Midglin. Don't talk, honey! With one bar' stave I kin fairly lif de vall er ignuce."

The chaplain of the Iowa State Senate has been making himself ridiculous again. In a prayer the other day he said: "O, Lord, while we think the President insane, we ask you to bless him." The result was that three resolutions were sent to the clerk's desk relating to the chaplain's eccentricities.

The Winsboro (S C) News says: We do not see that the passage of the usury law has made money any more plentiful. Nor will you ever.

The Concord Sun sees the Lincoln papers and goes them one better. It not only files from its mast-head the name of Judge Schenck for chief-justice of the Supreme Court, but likewise the name of Major W J Montgomery for solicitor of this district.

A Washington telegram says that distinguished lawyers from the South and West are working there in favor of the bill of Townsend, of Illinois, to repeal the sections authorizing the removal of causes from State to Federal courts. God grant that these efforts may prove successful.

Abbeville county leads off with the first gun in the South Carolina campaign. At a meeting of the Democratic clubs of the county at the court house on Thursday last, resolutions were passed endorsing the course of Gov. Hampton and instructing the county delegates to the State convention to vote for his re-nomination.

DEATH UNDER SAD CIRCUMSTANCES.—The recent death in Havana, from yellow fever, of Judge Leonard, member of Congress from Louisiana, is a singularly sad one if the newspapers have truly represented the occasion of his visit to the city where he met his death. It has been stated since his departure that the real object of his visit was to marry a beautiful Cuban lady to whom he has been for some time engaged.

HAMPTON AND GARY.—The Straight-Out Democrat, of Columbia, deprecates the attacks which a portion of the press is making upon Senator Gary, of Edgefield, in consequence of his recent attacks upon Governor Hampton, and does so for the reason here given: "Senator Gary," the Straight-Out says, "is now the victim of a dangerous attack of sickness, and when God Almighty lays His hand upon an individual, it is time for man to take his off."

THE HAZING AT PRINCETON.

Dr James McCosh, president of the Princeton (N J) College, has made a statement, in a circular letter, of the events of the late hazing occurrences in that college and the order in which they happened. Dr McCosh truly says that "all hazing is in its very nature an interference with the God-granted rights of man, and is mean and cowardly." He avers, however, that the hazing at Princeton, so far as his knowledge goes, was not worse than in other places. He says that shortly after he became president he took decided steps to suppress hazing, being about to call in the 'civil' authority, when the classes pledged themselves to discountenance it. He says that for years Princeton had very few cases, and denies emphatically that it is a peculiarity there, which, however, no one can ever have supposed to be true. He refers to the 'story' of a freshman being taken to the river and flung in, which was a waggish experiment upon the ignorance of a "reporter," there being no river at Princeton. Dr McCosh denies that he opposed, directly or indirectly, any action of the 'civil' authorities in the late Princeton hazing outbreak, and quotes a college law, proposed by himself, that the faculty will not interfere to save from penalties any student violating the laws of the land. Dr McCosh declares that when he first heard of the late emuete he would have rejoiced to have heard that the civil authorities were investigating the case, but the college authorities were so prompt in their investigation, and got such full confessions from the students, and thereby brought about peace, that he could not in honor give up the names of those who had put confidence in him as standing in loco parentis. Wherever there are large bodies of students—and Princeton has five hundred—there is danger of an outbreak of class feeling, fostered by old tradition, but no Princeton student, in the memory of the oldest professor, has been seriously injured in an outbreak in that college. The late disturbance in Princeton was greatly exaggerated, and only two pistol shots were fired. Dr McCosh believes if parents will co-operate with teachers the evil of carrying pistols will be overcome. Let the law take hold in all such cases.

ASSISTANTS FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEYS.—The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch telegraphs that paper last Thursday: Pending the discussion of the proposition of the Appropriation committee that when counsel are employed to assist United States district attorneys in important cases they shall not be paid over $2,000, Mr Hanna (Republican) said no competent attorney needs an assistant attorney. The rule which Mr Hanna would establish, however, would not affect the United States district attorney for the western district of North Carolina, and his assistant need have no apprehensions of being deprived of his position.

PURSUIT OF THE MOONSHINERS.—They Flee to the Mountains—Active Measures Taken for Their Arrest—Something About Redmond—More Escapes of United States Prisoners. [Special to the Charleston News & Courier] COLUMBIA, March 14.—No additional particulars have been received here to-day from the scene of the revenue troubles. It is now believed that Redmond and his gang, becoming alarmed at the active measures set on foot for their arrest, have dispersed in the mountains. About one hundred men have been collected, organized and armed, and the pursuit will be begun in earnest to-night or to-morrow. Redmond is a native of Transylvania county, North Carolina. He is said to have a slight infusion of Indian blood, although apparently he is a full-blooded white. Physically he is a superb specimen of manhood, being six feet tall, stoutly built, very strong and active as a cat. He has long been engaged in the business of illicit distilling in his native county. About two years ago he was arrested by Mr Duckworth, a deputy United States marshal and deputy sheriff of Transylvania. While on his way to jail Redmond drew a pistol, which he had concealed in his boot, and shot the officer dead. After this he fled to this State, and resumed his old occupation. About a year ago he was arrested by deputy marshals Barton, Gary and Hendricks. He escaped from them on the evening of his capture, took a position in ambush by the roadside, and fired into the party, wounding Gary and Hendricks, the latter desperately. Subsequently he went to Mr Barton's house for the avowed purpose of killing him. He was away from home, and the outlaw in searching the house, found a check for $100. He placed Mrs Barton on a bare-backed horse and forced her to go to Easley Station with him, cash the check and give him the money. He then coolly selected Mr Barton's best horse, and rode away to the mountains with him. Redmond is also strongly suspected of being the murderer of Mr Alfred McCreery, who was shot dead while at work in his own field, in Pickens county, some time ago.

THE CHARLOTTE MINT. "H," the Washington correspondent of the Raleigh Observer, writes to that paper that on Wednesday last Col Steele, our immediate representative, appeared before the House committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, and addressed it in favor of re-establishing the mint in this city as a mint of coinage. The correspondent says: "He combated the proposition of Saylor, of Ohio, in favor of Cincinnati, Springfield, of Illinois, in favor of Indianapolis, and Franklin, of Missouri, in favor of Kansas City. He said that large bank capital, cheap coal, cheap living, cheap sulphuric acid, and cheap salt were just as accessible at Charlotte as at any of the points indicated. He said further that Charlotte was the centre of a large gold mining interest—the centre of a number of railroads—a large, growing and thrifty city; that the building and grounds were already there, the property of the United States, and that but a small outlay would be required to put the mint in such condition as to enable it to coin all the gold which would be brought to it. He said also that the re-establishment would develop the mining interest, because of the facilities of coinage which it would give. He also alleged that there were hills beyond Pentland and friths beyond Forth, and the gold belt of the South was entitled to the consideration of Congress as a matter of sheer justice. His remarks were closed by adopting as a part of them the statistics of the mining board of that city, which he recommended to the careful consideration of the committee, expressing the confident belief that it would afford abundant evidence of the propriety of his appeal on behalf of his constituents."

THE RECENTLY INTERVIEWED.

The Blue Ridge Blade, chipper as a sixteen year old girl, and bright this week as the first new dollar coined under the operations of the silver bill, comes out and talks about "the blondes;" not, it explains, the dizzo blondes, nor yet any members of Lydia Thompson's variety troupe, "but our own fair-haired knights who, when off duty, sejourne about Gulfport Court House"—meaning who, if not "Colonels" Keogh and Staples? Another discerning Democratic contemporary speaks of them as the "Two Orphans," and the Statesville American, Republican, calls the attention of the "blondists" of the twain to-wit: Col Staples, to the passage of Scripture which says that "no liar shall enter into the kingdom of heaven." So that it would appear that between Republicans and Democrats, Dick and Douglas men and anti-Dick and Douglas men, "a prominent Democrat, a member of the staff of Gov Vance and chairman of the Judiciary committee of one of the houses of the Democratic Legislature," is, so to speak, between the devil and the deep sea.

THE GROWTH OF COTTON CULTURE.

The immense growth of cotton culture in the United States since 1790 is shown by a table of our exports, which rise from 189,811 pounds in 1792 to 87,956,992 pounds in 1855, and 1,737,686,888 pounds in 1860. The figures for 1860 have not since been equalled, but the exports of cotton for each of the fiscal years 1871, 1876 and 1877 amounted to nearly 1,500,000,000 pounds.

PASSAGE OF THE VIRGINIA FUNDING BILL.

The Legislature of Virginia adjourned last Thursday night, the Senate having that morning concurred with the House in passing the new funding bill. The bill provides that the bonds issued under the funding act of March 30, 1871, and the act of March 7, 1872, shall be exchanged for registered bonds bearing interest at the rate of three per cent for eighteen years and four per cent for thirty-two years, principal and interest to be exempt from taxation by the State, county or city, no exchange to be made until holders of not less than $15,000,000 of tax-receivable bonds of the State shall have expressed their readiness to make said exchange. The bill also provides that owners of the other interest-bearing bonds which were not funded under the 'act' mentioned may fund two-thirds of the amount thereof, together with two-thirds of the accrued interest thereon to July 1, 1871, in bonds as above described.

A letter received by Gen Bradley T Johnson from Messrs Wilson, Colston & Co, Baltimore bankers, state that they are in receipt of a letter from an English firm holding a million and a half dollars of Virginia bonds, who say that the English bondholders will accept no proposition paying less than four per cent interest in gold and coupons receivable for taxes.

HELEN'S OTHER BABY.

"What makes that noise?" "The engine makes that noise." "What engine?" "The engine in front." "What's it in front for?" "To pull the train." "What train?" "This one." "This car?" "The one in which they sat." "What does it pull it for?" "The engineer makes it." "What engineer?" "The man on the engine." "What engine?" "The one in front." "What is that in front for?" "I told you that before." "Told you what?" "Told you." "What for?" "Oh, he still; you are a nuisance." "What's a nuisance?" "A man who asks too many questions." "Whose boy?" "My boy." "What questions?" The conductor came through just then and took up the tickets, and the train pulled up to the station before we could get all of the conversation. The last we heard, as the lady jerked the youngster off the platform, was: "What conductor?"—Exchange.

STORY OF A BRAVE TURK.

A Baltimore American correspondent writes: "If any one would like to know what manner of men were those who fought round Osman Pasha, they can gain an idea of them from an anecdote that my friend told me. A very steep rock was to be stormed. It rose to the height of 250 feet, and was crowned by Russian batteries. A Turkish colonel, desirous to set an example to his men, scrambled up first by the help of occasional projections in the rock, and roots and weeds. When he reached the top he found himself entirely alone. The Russian soldiers looked at him in amazement. Their guns were pointed at his breast, when their general gave the order not to fire, hastened up to the Turkish colonel and called out to him, 'Colonel, begone at once, you see you are alone.' The brave man said nothing. He stood still a moment, gazing at his enemies; then turned and went back safely as he came. All the Russian soldiers began to clap their hands and cheer him."

CLOUD AND TAXES.

[Marganton Blade.] Judge Cloud—"I say again, have all your men that paid your taxes for last year?" A Juror—"I have not." Judge—"That now! Git right out of that."

AMONG THE DEAD FALLURES.

Of the past, how many bogus nostrums may be numbered! Beginning their careers with a tremendous flourish of trumpets, disorganized for a time in the public prints and on flaming posters, soon, but not soon, were they relegated to the limbo of things lost on earth. But Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a living and thriving remedy. It goes on and on, and cures. Neither underhand nor open competition has ever been able to contrast with inferior vial preparations only increases its popularity. It has been repeatedly imitated, but without success. Counterfeits of it have been surreptitiously introduced, but have failed. Everywhere it entrenches itself in the confidence of the people; and well it may for it is a thoroughly reliable invigorant of the feeble, banishes dyspepsia and constipation, braces the nervous, cures rheumatic ailments, and kidney complaints, and eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers.

MOTHERS, MOTHERS, MOTHERS.

Don't fail to procure Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for all diseases of teething to children. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and gives relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother.

SHARP COMPETITION.

Sharp competition is the order of the day among the first-class hotels in New York. With one or two exceptions, they are trying to keep their old trade while adhering to their previous high rates. The Grand Central has responded to this, by quietly "cutting" the rates from one to two dollars per day.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boecher's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in every corner of the world. It cures coughs, croup, asthma, pneumonia, severe colds, whooping cough, and all lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all who know it to recommend it to the dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle. As 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and not one case where it failed was reported, it is a medicine in the German Syrup cannot be overpraised. It is sold by every druggist about it; sample bottles to try, sold at ten cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by T O Smith.

The Kirk Family.

[Piedmont Press.]

Every citizen in Western Carolina, and a great many in every section of the State, have vivid recollections of the notorious Geo Kirk, who figured conspicuously in this State during the closing year of the war and more recently during Holden's administration. Kirk's father, Alexander Kirk, is still living at the old homestead in Washington county, Tenn., near Limestone Depot on the Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad. He has a small plantation on Big Limestone creek and farms to a limited extent, but the most of his time is engaged in tanning and making shoes. He is a member of the Methodist Church and is regarded as a clever old gentleman in his neighborhood. His wife has been dead a number of years. He had four sons, George, John, William and ——. Before the war they were all much esteemed by their neighbors and others who knew them. At the beginning of the rebellion they took sides with the Unionists and soon gained prominence as bushwhackers. George, the oldest son, was placed in charge of a small squad but soon increased his command to a regiment and became colonel. In his native county but few depredations were committed by this band of outlaws but other sections, where there were Confederate sympathizers, felt the full force of the lawless acts. We need only mention this matter to stir the bitter indignation of our citizens, as to the hostile raid made through Western Carolina. And, again, are not the acts of George written in the books of the Holden-Kirk war of North Carolina in the year 1870? Col George is now chief of police in Washington City.

John, the next son, moved to one of the Western States soon after the close of the late unpleasantness. William now lives near Knoxville, Tenn., and is engaged as a shoemaker in the country. The youngest son, whose name our informant could not recall, has secured through the efforts of Col George, a position on the police force of the same city.

HELEN'S OTHER BABY.—"What makes that noise?" "The engine makes that noise." "What engine?" "The engine in front." "What's it in front for?" "To pull the train." "What train?" "This one." "This car?" "The one in which they sat." "What does it pull it for?" "The engineer makes it." "What engineer?" "The man on the engine." "What engine?" "The one in front." "What is that in front for?" "I told you that before." "Told you what?" "Told you." "What for?" "Oh, he still; you are a nuisance." "What's a nuisance?" "A man who asks too many questions." "Whose boy?" "My boy." "What questions?" The conductor came through just then and took up the tickets, and the train pulled up to the station before we could get all of the conversation. The last we heard, as the lady jerked the youngster off the platform, was: "What conductor?"—Exchange.

SHOOTING AT HIS SISTER.

A young white woman, rather flashily dressed, ran screaming from a drinking saloon on D street, near Thirteenth, to-day, about noon, and begged several men who were standing near to protect her. Before their assistance a white man, somewhat intoxicated followed her, apparently very angry, and when within about ten feet of the fleeing woman drew a revolver and fired at her twice. The woman was Kate Hill, known among her associates as Kate Mack, and the man was her brother, Richard A Hill, a driver of one of the street sweepers. Fortunately neither shot struck the woman. Kate, it appears, left her home some time ago and entered a house of ill-fame in the section of the city known as "The Division." Hill, not caring to have the honor of his family stained, got drunk this morning, and went to hunt her up, swearing that he would kill her. His intentions in that direction, as shown above, were evidently good, but before he could fire a third shot he was arrested by Patrolman Columbus, who took him to the Central and locked him up.—Wash Critic, 13'h.

Anderson to be Pardoned by Governor Nichols—The Senate Kept Together for that Purpose.

[By Telegraph to the New York Herald.] New Orleans, March 14, 1878.—There appears little doubt that the Legislature is held here in connection with the returning board pardons. It was stated this morning by undoubted authority that fourteen Democratic Senators had agreed to stand by Governor Nichols in pardoning Anderson, and that they would delay legislation until Anderson's case was decided by the Supreme Court. In furtherance of this arrangement they have not passed any of the important bills sent to them, and are delaying matters in every possible way. This fact coming to the knowledge of the Democratic members of the House a resolution was introduced adjourning Saturday next, sine die. It is thought will pass, and the House will adjourn anyhow, even if the Senate remains in session. The Supreme Court cannot decide on Anderson's case until Monday, and if the resolution passes, the House will go home Saturday. There is no reasonable doubt but that Nichols will pardon Anderson as soon as his case is decided upon by the Supreme Court. The whole matter in connection with the calling of the extra session has commenced to evoke much bitterness, and threatens a disruption of the party here. Prominent Democratic members of the House denounce the whole proceedings. A leading member said to-day to your correspondent that Nichols was trying in every way to dodge the issue; but that it would be forced, and if he pardoned Anderson he must abide the consequences.
