THE SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

We epitomize some of the views on general matters of those of our State contemporaries which were received by yesterday's mail.

The Raleigh News, speaking again of the failure of the Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta Railroad to pay the lease money due by it to the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, reiterates its previously expressed opinion as follows:

"We are somewhat familiar with the methods of railroad manipulation, as practiced in this State, the South and throughout the whole country, since the war. We have seen that railroads are manipulated and managed for the public good, or with any regard to the legitimate business interests of the sections penetrated by them; but rather to promote ulterior objects; operated merely as levers to elevate or depress stocks—the mere machines in fact for stock-jobbing operations. Whereas railroad presidents formerly resided on their roads to direct and manage the operations of their lines, they are now days most generally found in Wall Street or banking in New York on the proceeds of their companies.

The Raleigh News and Observer both copy the editorial of our neighbor the Democrat withdrawing Judge Schenck from the race for chief justiceship, but neither offers a line of comment. The Observer copies the Democrat's editorial in its editorial columns.

Alluding to the withdrawal of Judge Schenck's name for the candidature for the chief justiceship, the Concord Sun says:

"This step, to our own knowledge, was contemplated two weeks ago, and was prevented from being made public through the instrumentality of one man alone—the manager."

And the Concord Register, referring to "Judge Schenck's Ku Klux Record" and the Shotwell letter, says:

If Shotwell's statement is true, and we would almost as soon discredit the words of Holy Writ as to doubt it, he is a hero. Just now he is believed and trusted by the best and greatest in the Old North State. We feel that we were correct when we said that Judge Schenck was not aware of the character of 'F. B. M.'s' communication, or it would have been suppressed, and until Judge Schenck tells us that he approves of it, and that it was done with his knowledge and with his counsel and advice, we maintain our defence of this splendid man.

The Tarboro Southerner presents the following legislative hand book as a good grindstone to hold the noses of legislative aspirants to:

Make them promise—
 1. To oblige railroads to cease their high local tariff rates.
 2. To protect sheep by taxing worthless curs and mangle-legged flocks of muton proclivities.
 3. Tax drummers at least $500.
 4. Save the timber and protect the pockets of farmers by giving us 'no fence around crops' law.

The Milton Chronicle inquires if "education is detrimental to work," and tells of having recently had a conversation with a friend who maintained that it was. The Chronicle continues:

He denied that he ever knew a man of finished education doing the work of a common laborer on the farm year in and year out, and he is clearly of the opinion the more you educate the toiling masses the less account they are to work on the farm.

The Fayetteville Gazette has very decided opinions upon the composition of the Supreme Court. It says:

We wish to say this, however, without bringing into invidious comparison the claims of any others whose names have been brought forward by their admirers:—that, should we be a delegate at the State convention, we will exercise no privilege so proudly as that of casting a vote for Hon W. H. Smith for chief justice, and that nothing would give us greater pleasure than to see our country and our whole section pursue the same course.

Danville & Statesville Railroad.
 [Statesville American.]
 The citizens of Danville, Winston, Salem, and others on the contemplated road, are moving in earnest in regard to this contemplated enterprise, and are waiting for the cooperation of Fredell and Statesville, and which would not be liberally bestowed. To this end it is proposed to hold a meeting in Statesville by citizens of the county, on Wednesday of the first week of our next Superior Court in June to take action upon the subject and formulate a line of proceedings. Meanwhile the people are requested to consider the great advantage that will accrue to them if the road is built, in the enhanced value of their real estate, easy access to markets, and all the benefits which railroads never fail to confer—and especially this road. With such enterprising gentlemen coming to its support as Danville and Winston have already pledged, including Davis and other counties, Fredell will appear in the front ranks with them and the road put through.

Chawlin and Cousin.
 [Tarboro Southerner]
 "Morning, my little man. Where have you been?" queried Mr. J. H. Chapman, of Rocky Mount township, a few Sundays since, as a little tallow-faced specimen of piney woods dirt-eater passed, practising on a tuning fork.
 "Bin to singing sch-u-ule!"
 "Ah, can you sing?"
 "Piney woods—I should think I could by G-d."
 "What do you do?"
 "I 'w—Y—s—g—, and chaws my own terbocker."
 "Smoke the pipe, too I guess."
 "I 'w—Y—s—g—, that's what yarbusted. It's my brother what smokes. I 'fines myself relatively to chawlin and cussin'."
 The most beautiful Indian girl, according to all accounts, now living, and one who by reason of her beauty, intelligence and spirit, has obtained a unique influence which is acknowledged among the warriors and defended by twenty fiery brothers and cousins, is Edith, the "White Forehead" of the Onapahpas. Edith is a bitting Bull's nose. She is only 15 years old, straight as an arrow, like a serpent, soft as a fern, and swift as a fawn. Her gait is magnificent. At the battle of the Rosebud, where Center was overwhelmed, and when she was a mere child, she laughed incessantly in the carnage, riding her pony like a sprite.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

In the House of Representatives on Wednesday last, the 17th inst, as we see from the Congressional Record of the 18th, Mr. Hartzell, from the committee on Banking and Currency, reported a substitute for the bill (H. R. No. 3780) to authorize the deposit of silver bullion, and to issue certificates therefor, and asked for the present consideration of the bill, and that the same be put upon its passage, at this time, and the substitute was read at follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That coin certificates of the denominations of $10 and multiples thereof up to $1,000 may, in the mode herein provided, be exchanged by the several mints and assay offices at San Francisco, Denver, Boise City, Carson City, Philadelphia, New York and New Orleans for the net value of silver bullion deposited thereat; and the bullion so received in exchange for said coin certificates shall, at all times be held and kept on hand for the redemption of said coin certificates in silver. The silver thus deposited shall be computed in said exchange at its coinage value, at the rate of 412 grains standard silver to the dollar, less the usual and lawful mint charges and the charges for transportation from the several assay offices to the mint for coinage, and from the latter to the assistant treasurers; respectively, at which the coin certificates shall be payable.

Section 2. That for bullion deposited at the mints of San Francisco and Carson the coin certificates provided for in this act shall be redeemed on demand at the office of the assistant treasurer at San Francisco, or at the office for bullion deposited at the Philadelphia, New York, Denver, Boise City and New Orleans mints and assay offices the certificates shall be redeemed at the office of the assistant treasurer at New York. And it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to cause coin and mint bars to be transferred, after the said bars are stamped, as provided in the first section, to the assistant treasurers in New York and San Francisco for the redemption of the coin certificates; and the said coin certificates shall be receivable without limitation for all dues to the United States.

Section 3. That the coin certificates to be issued under this act shall be redeemed on presentation either in silver bars or silver dollars, at the option and convenience of the Treasurer.

Section 4. That the Secretary of the Treasury shall cause the said certificates authorized by this act to be prepared and delivered to the mints and assay offices aforesaid as a part of the bullion fund, and from which said deposits shall be exchanged as coin or coin certificates at the option of the depositor.

Section 5. That the fine or standard silver bars authorized to be issued by this act shall be stamped, according to their fine, weight and value; and the name of the fine bars shall be computed according to their coinage value in dollars. And the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby required to prescribe the necessary regulations for carrying this act into effect.

It will be seen that under the operations of this bill, if it should be adopted, Charlotte will be left out entirely from the list of places from which it is proposed to issue coin certificates. This is not just, and it is difficult to see how a committee, having before it all the facts necessary to enable it to arrive at an intelligent conclusion, can reconcile it with its ideas of right and justice to give either Boise City or New Orleans the preference over Charlotte in this matter. The measure has not, however, been finally disposed of, and we trust that before it is our North Carolina members will have secured the adoption of an amendment inserting the name of Charlotte in the list above given, either instead of one of the places named, or in addition to these.

THE FRENCH METHOD OF RESUMPTION.

The Bank of France, in order to prepare for resumption, voluntarily paid out, during 1877, $320,000,000, which the public were made to understand that they could get coin whenever they desired it, the consequence of which was that there was nothing approaching a run on the bank when resumed. Of the specie paid out before resumption, all but $22,000,000 was returned to the bank. It would be well for the United States to profit by the experience of other people.

A Lion Goes for the Keeper.

 Wednesday after the parade one of the big lions in Campbell's menagerie got into a dispute with the keeper while that gentleman was in the cage, and lifted one paw and knocked him down on the floor of the cage. The keeper had the coolness to lie still. The lion after eyeing him sternly for a moment, walked to the end of the cage, looking back thoughtfully at himself while he went.

A Life Full of Accidents.
 [Statesville American.]
 Clinton E. Weston, a young man who was killed several months ago, by the falling of a derrick while at work on the unfinished part of the Western North Carolina Railroad, is the subject to which we refer. He was raised in the upper part of this county, and at an early age became an orphan, after which he was bound out till he would become of age, and being under close supervision, and a diligent student through a Spaniards Academy. Notwithstanding this he was a boy of untiring energies and was always ready to improve every opportunity. His life was attended with many almost serious accidents. When a mere boy, he was carrying a large stick of wood for the fire, and after reaching the porch, there being snow on the floor, fell and the load falling on him knocked him breathless for some time. At another time he was burning off a stump patch and the fire caught the top of a dead tree, which was in the patch, and while unthoughtfully at work under it, a limb burst off and fell upon him, knocking the life from him, in which condition he was carried to the house, but recovered. After growing to manhood he went to Virginia and engaged himself in working on a railroad, and while blasting some rock one day, had him a severe place to take refuge from the flying fragments, but finally became careless, and seeking partial refuge behind a tree, was struck on the head by a piece of rock thrown by the explosion, and was knocked entirely insensible for some time.

On another occasion he had his associate workmen engaged in removing a large bank of dirt, and as it customary, they undermined it at one side, intending to drive in wedges from above and thus remove the top; however they had finished their work under it, and the hands except Weston had gone out, for fear of its caving on them, but he being the most venturesome one in the crowd continued to work under the great mass of dirt, until finally it suddenly gave way and so completely covered him that the workmen beside were compelled to dig him out, and when he was unearthed he was totally unconscious.

Finally he came back to his native State, and engaged in the same employment until he met with the accident referred to, which caused his death.

Mr Conking and the Administration.
 [Wash Special to Richmond Dispatch, 18th.]
 There are all manner of rumors to-night about Senator Conking and "the World's interview." One statement is that he has telegraphed to New York a denial of the truth of its statements, another that he said these things in the confidence of a dinner table talk, and still another that the author of the paper was the editor of his home organ, and that these things were told that he might be posted as to Lord Roscoe's views. He made no note of them, and being recently discharged from his editorial position, published them in the World. Whatever may be the true version, Conking has lost caste and made enemies. To-night it is said that the administration will now fight him vigorously, and that its first warlike demonstration will be the nomination of ex-Senator Fenton for collector and General Dix for naval officer of New York.

United States Court.
 [Blue Ridge Blade.]
 Judge Dick's court is a big thing, up this side. The railroad company had to order out extra care to carry those bound over as defendants or witnesses to Statesville. It is an ill wind that blows nobody any good, we have often heard. While this business is death to these parts, it is highly profitable to the railroad and the capital of Ireddell county. Statesville, Asheville and Greensboro reap a rich harvest from these terms. It is impoverishing the country to feed towns, lawyers and court officers. When will the people learn some sense about this? It is within their power, by an absolute abstinence from all business in which the internal revenue laws have effect, to starve out the concern. Why don't they do it? Quit liquor and tobacco. This will bring exemption from these and many other ills.

Talking Business.

A Suggestion to the Travelling Public.
 Tourists, emigrants and mariners find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthful influences, upon which they can implicitly rely, since it prevents the effects that an unwholesome climate, vitiated atmosphere, uncustomed or unwholesome diet, bad water, or other conditions unfavorable to health would otherwise produce. On long voyages, or journeys by land, it is especially useful as a preventive of the febrile complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, and is especially so in tropical regions, and it is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It only prevents intermittent and remittent fever, and other diseases of a malarial type, but eradicates them, a fact which has been notorious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West Indies, Australia and other countries.

Amazoning Success.
 It is the duty of every person who has used Beecher's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing consumption, severe coughs, croup, asthma, pneumonia, and a host of other lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to every sufferer with lung troubles, at least to try one dose. At 40,000 cases were sold last year, and not one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as this, which cannot be kept in stock, is a great boon to the afflicted. Sample bottles to try sold at 50 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by T. C. Smith.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.
 Discovered thirty-five years ago by Prof. Lyon, of Yale, is the most perfect preparation in the world for preserving and beautifying the hair.
 Besides being the best hair dressing ever produced, Lyon's Kathairon will resist every prevalent grayness, and will restore new hair to bald heads, if the roots and follicles are not destroyed.
 It actually performs these seeming miracles, of which the following is
 A FAIR SPECIMEN.
 I had been entirely bald for several years, constitutional, I suppose. I used a few bottles of Kathairon, and, to my great surprise, I have a thin growth of young hair.
 COL. JOHN L. DORRANCE, U. S. A.
 In every important respect the Kathairon is a truly incomparable. It is unequalled.
 1. To Cure Baldness.
 2. To Remove Gray Hair.
 3. To Remove Dandruff.
 4. To Dress and Beautify the Hair.
BRING IT IN MIND.—The Kathairon is a paste of sulphur and sugar-of-lead, to be rubbed on the hair and paralyze the brain. It is a pure and limpid vegetable lotion, intended to restore the hair by natural growth and reinvigoration. It is especially perfumed, and the most delightful toilet dressing known. No lady or gentleman's toilet outfit is complete without Lyon's Kathairon.

 3. To Remove Dandruff.
 4. To Dress and Beautify the Hair.
BRING IT IN MIND.—The Kathairon is a paste of sulphur and sugar-of-lead, to be rubbed on the hair and paralyze the brain. It is a pure and limpid vegetable lotion, intended to restore the hair by natural growth and reinvigoration. It is especially perfumed, and the most delightful toilet dressing known. No lady or gentleman's toilet outfit is complete without Lyon's Kathairon.
 SOLD EVERYWHERE.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.
 Discovered thirty-five years ago by Prof. Lyon, of Yale, is the most perfect preparation in the world for preserving and beautifying the hair.
 Besides being the best hair dressing ever produced, Lyon's Kathairon will resist every prevalent grayness, and will restore new hair to bald heads, if the roots and follicles are not destroyed.
 It actually performs these seeming miracles, of which the following is
 A FAIR SPECIMEN.
 I had been entirely bald for several years, constitutional, I suppose. I used a few bottles of Kathairon, and, to my great surprise, I have a thin growth of young hair.
 COL. JOHN L. DORRANCE, U. S. A.
 In every important respect the Kathairon is a truly incomparable. It is unequalled.
