PROHIBITION OR LICENSE? A Temperance Appeal. Editor Charlotte Observer—One word allow me, please, upon the subject of prohibition.

A New Swindle. [Sacramento (Cal) Bee.] A new dodge for beating the innocent out of their coin has been resorted to by sharpers in this city since the town has been made "too hot to hold the bunco men and permit of them playing their trade."

The Other Side of the Case. Editor Charlotte Observer—Referring to the election to be held to-day, the property holders perhaps do not consider that if the prohibition ticket carries it will decrease the revenue of the city five or six thousand dollars.

A Plea for Prohibition from a Life-Long Resident. Editor Charlotte Observer—As you newspaper men seem to fight shy of important questions upon which we are called to vote to-day, I am an old citizen of Charlotte, and the license law has been in full force here for the last thirty years, and its effects have been sad indeed, growing, to-day, to a fearful and terrible extent.

that did not die a bankrupt, "unhated and unshamed." I claim, then, that in voting for prohibition you are doing good to every saloon-keeper in our midst, and those only are his true friends who seek to rob him of such a dishonorable occupation.

Editor Charlotte Observer—It is generally supposed that the prohibition law, if passed, does not apply to wholesale houses. One of the first lawyers of this city gives it as his opinion that it applies to all.

A Convict Forges His Pardon Papers. Dr. James Robinson, now serving out a five years' term in the Eastern Pennsylvania penitentiary for counterfeiting and horse stealing, recently forged affidavits of witnesses and false affidavits that he had been injured by the State of Pennsylvania.
