OBSERVATIONS. The editor of the Boston Globe does not think it well for a man to bear alone. A properly constituted man is one who can keep on a sober face while his stomach gets drunk. Henry Waterson and John G Thompson are said to be peeling themselves for a desperate race for the clerkship of the United States Senate next spring. Westmoreland is the smallest county in Virginia, but it was the birth place of three Presidents, Washington, Madison, and Monroe.—Lynchburg News. An Iowa editor, who was impelled to give up his seat to a lady in a street car, described it as being "crowded out to make room for more interesting matter." For reasons assigned last week, we issue half-sheet this week. Any typographical error must be laid to the proof-reader. He's drunk.—Piedmont Virginian. Go west, young man. It is a charming place. Those who don't freeze to death in winter get sunstruck in summer. The others get killed by a tornado.—Kansas City Mail. A new well in North Carolina has been dug over twice, and has buried a man each time. As Byron said: "Fear the well, and if forever, Still forever fear the well." Graphic. It is like pulling teeth for the Turks to give up Schumla. It is the most important strong hold of the empire, and has never been captured. The fortifications are now to be demolished, and the city is to become Bulgarian. A curious legacy of the St Louis heat is the overpowering drowsiness which has afflicted thousands of the citizens, causing them to go about yawning and nodding, as if sleep was the only thing worth living for. Olive Logan chronicles the advent of a new and very expensive fashion. It is in the form of a stocking, "made entirely of lace open-work from toe to knee, and so transparent that a silk stocking will have to be worn under it." The probability, however, is that the under stocking will be entirely eschewed. The prettiest girl in Wheatland uses paint. If she only knew how dirty and sallow it makes the back of her neck look to the man who sits immediately behind her in church she would quit it. The line of demarcation between the lily-white induced by cream de lis is painfully evident. It don't look well to see a girl all rosy and beautiful in front and all sallow or freckled behind.—Wheatland Recorder. The Braying of Asses. [Atlanta Constitution] The organs at the North are arguing that a United States revenue officer in the South has a perfect right to murder unoffending citizens in the South. This, it seems to us, is a very essence of patriotic loyalty. The average Republican editor at the North is, indeed, a noble-minded citizen. The news that a Southern man has been murdered in cold blood by a parcel of revenue officers re-kindles the fires of his smoldering indignation, and when he learns that the State courts dare to assert jurisdiction, he falls to the floor shrieking and wrestling with his purple and epileptic cholera. It is a terrible thing that there is always something occurring in the unhappy South to worry the editors of the organs. Yesterday they were frightened out of their wits by the speech of a harmless old man, to day they are howling because the courts of the State assert jurisdiction in a crime committed in the State, and to-morrow they will be smiting a new rebellion in the air. Altogether, the ultra-loyal editors have a very hard time of it, and we are prepared to sympathize with them. As a general thing thistles do not prick the feet of asses, but these fellows bray out every hour in the day.

A Tunnel Through a Tree. The tunnel for the passage of coaches through the big tree in the Tuolumne grove, on the way from Big Oak Flat to Yosemite Valley, California, has been completed. It attracts the wonder of tourists and every kind of traveler who passes through it on the stage or other vehicle for more than thirty feet. It is contemplated to cut a room in the tree for the accommodation and refreshment of passers-by. It is really a curiosity that will always be remembered by those who shall have the privilege of seeing it. Delaware State Fair. Ex-Governor Chamberlain, late of South Carolina, but now of New York, has accepted an invitation to deliver the opening address at the Delaware State Fair, to come off at Dover during the month of September. He will speak on questions of finance, with special reference to the national movement and the claim of the working-men. Hons J Proctor Knott and S S Cox are also expected to deliver addresses during the progress of the fair, which promises to be a very successful one.

A Horse Commits Suicide. [Hart County (Ky.) Democrat.] Several weeks ago a very valuable horse, belonging to Mr Henry Oakley, of Hart county, was sunstruck, and ever since has been crazy. Oakley found it impossible to keep the animal confined, so last Saturday it was turned into a lot near by, where there was a very large pond, the centre of which is about 25 feet deep. The horse made a complete circuit of the pond twice, and then waded out as far as it could, without swimming, and put an end to its suffering by drowning. Common Sense. Many imagine advertised medicines to be worthless nostrums, and indiscriminately condemn them; but is it not an injustice to the thousands of respectable citizens who give voluntary evidence of benefits received, to thus question and doubt their veracity and integrity? Fairbank's standard scales are extensively advertised. Does it necessarily follow that they are inferior in make, and less accurate than others? Have they not been demonstrated to be among the best? Again, is it common sense to suppose that a physician with capital could be induced to hazard it and a hard earned reputation upon a worthless article? R V Pierce, M D, of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N Y, is the proprietor of the most popular family medicines in the market. His reputation as a skillful surgeon and physician has been fully established for many years. Would physicians and clergy, after having tested his medicines thoroughly, unite in commending them to the afflicted, if they possessed no merit? The undersigned takes pleasure in recommending Dr Pierce and his Family Medicines to all who may need them. Virginia's Whipping Post. [From the Chicago Times.] Mary Medill, a young and comely white girl of 18 years, was publicly whipped yesterday by negro constables at Elizabeth City county court house for the larceny of a pair of shoes. This punishment, the second inflicted in Virginia, was the result of a statute passed by the last Legislature, which went into operation on the 1st of July. The female culprit, in this instance, was stripped to the waist and given twenty-five lashes, administered with a raw hide. This mode of punishment is so revolting to the people that the members of the Legislature will be instructed to vote for the repeal of this law. Interesting to Florists and Others. Employers and employees will be interested in the disposition of a case in one of the New York courts Thursday. A clerk engaged from year to year at fixed weekly wages having been discharged before his time expired, sued to recover for the whole year. The agreement was only a verbal one, but it was sustained, and a verdict given in favor of the plaintiff.

BEAUTY! OR, THE Secret of a Fair Face. An Item of Interest to Every Lady who Desires to be More Beautiful than she now is. Unfortunately not one woman in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an American climate possesses that bust and starting point of real beauty—a pure and clear complexion. What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish. It can be done; it is done daily. Prof. W. E. Hagen placed beauty within the reach of every unblessed daughter of Eve when he discovered that surprising article known in fashionable circles as the true secret of beauty, and called MAGNOLIA BALM. The MAGNOLIA BALM is a sure device for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It contains all natural blemishes in the most surprising and effective manner. It removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with magical power. It drives away all evidences of fatigue and excitement. It makes the plainest face beautiful. It gives the complexion a dazzling purity and makes the neck, face, and arms appear graceful, rounded, and plump. It makes a nation of 35 or 40 look not more than 20 years old, and changes the rustic mason into a cultivated city belle. The Magnolia Balm removes all blemishes and conceals every drawback to beauty; and, while it is as harmless as water, it is so life-like in its effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use. Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using HAGEN'S MAGNOLIA BALM, and we know of no other way. It is the cheapest preparation in the world, all things considered, and may be had at any drug store.
