OBSERVATIONS.

Editorial item in the Louisville News and Planter : Col Johnson like the illustrious one-horse editor of this paper did once, slipped up on twins the other day.

A gentleman in this city who could not waltz, offered a young lady a hundred dollars if she'd let him hug her as the man did who had just waltzed with her! It was a good offer, and showed that money was no object to him, but they put him out of the house so hard that his eye was quite black,

In Indiana people are getting careless about walking on the railroad track; once a railroad company had to pay $10,000 for the privilege of running over a man who was not even a candidate for anything.

A young man named Reynolds, living on Greenville street, Highlands, after being treated a month for cancer in the stomach, and growing very thin on a light diet, became disgusted and ate a hearty meal, which his stomach at once ejected, and with it a lizzard two and a half inches long .- Bos-

The leading hotel, in Fifth avenue, New York, has announced a reduction of one dollar per day in the price of board, and it is probable that others will speedily follow the example. It is also probable the New York theatrical managers will take some concerted steps in the same direction at an early day.

He believes also in the restoration of the silver dollar, with full legal-tender quality in payment of all debts, both quality in payment of all debts, both public and private, and that the coinage thereof should be made as free and unlimited as that of gold. You are to be told that the success of the Democratic party means payment for slaves and Southern claims, even to the bankruptcy of the Treasury. Can it be necessary to say that the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution forbids much that you are assured we will do? much that you are assured we will do? Also a lot of CHOICE PRINTS, just receiv-The constitutional provisions are that neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for loss or emancipation of any slave. And the man who tells you that an obligation can be assumed or paid in violation of the Constitution paid in violation of the Constitution deals falsely with you. Do you ask what I think of Hayes' Southern policy? He has none. He and his Administration are incapable of any policy, but what they have done in the South I approve. General Grant will probably be the Republican candidate, and his candidacy will signify a strong Government, always prepared to hold the people in control.

Kentucky Picnics.

[New York Times.] They have original views of what constitutes a picnic in Kentucky. In this part of the Union we count it an excursion to the country for social pleasure and pastime. Down there they regard it as a randezvous to settle old grudges with the revelver and bowie-knife. The telegraph has lately informed us that at a picnic in Lewis county, in that State, William and Thomas Blankenship were recently stabbed to death, and that ten to fifteen

Such facts as these sharpen one's appetite for picnics. It is downright hospitality to invite a gentleman to a party of that sort and then butcher him. It may seem like a human barbecue to people who are not accustomed to the thing, but it's delightful when one gets into the way of it. What can be more enticing than a picnic where two men are killed and fifteen wounded? There might have been more casualities, to be sure, but in all probability the day was not a very good one for picnicking in Lewis county. It should be a source of deep regret and mortification to Northerners that they can't have picnics of the good old Kentucky kind, where whiskey flows like blood, and where the entertainment closes with several murders, just to encourage and please the "boy's." We presume the invitations especially ask persons to whom they are sent to bring their revolvers, rifles and bowie-knives, that they may be properly equipped, as rare sport is usually expected, and usually provided. The story goes that in that region they do not say a man has been killed, they merely mention that he had gone to a picnic; the rest understood.
