Burial of the Gypsy Queer.

DAYTON, O, Sept 15.—Matilda Stan-ley, known as the Gypsy Queen, and recognized as such by all the tribes throughout the United States, was buried at Woodlawn Cemetery here to-day. The queen was a woman of great influence among her race. She died in Vicksburg last winter, and the body was embalmed and preserved until the present time for final burial. The cemetery was filled with people, the funeral attracting visitors from the surrounding country, 25,000 people being in attendance. Representatives of prominent Gypsy families from all parts of the United States and Canada have been assembling here for the occasion, and the funeral procession was a mile in length. The ceremony was conducted by a minister of the United Brethren Church, and did not differ from that of a Christian funeral. At the close an affecting scene occurred, the children of the queen throwing themselves on the grave and filling the air with their lamentations. Dayton has been for some time the headquarters of the Gypsies in this country, and the king, husband of the queen, lives near this city and owns a large tract of

MYSTERY ON STATEN ISLAND.

Finding a Corpse in a Barrel in a Secluded Ravine

[New York Sun, 16th.] "By Jove, that's a barrel I slipped on," said John Callahan, as he picked himself up from the ground, and looked at. a smooth oaken stave that bulged above the surface. "What's a barrel doing in the ground way out here?" His three or four comrades gathered around him and began to kick the soil away from the other staves. Soon they had uncovered half the barrel. "There's something in it," continued Callahan. "Let's see what it is," and he tore off a piece of Brussels carpeting that was bound over one end and tied with a rope. There was more carpeting with-in, and pulling it partly out, the body of a young woman was disclosed. The boys ran to New Brighton and told Coroner Dempsey.

Coroner Dempsey called Dr Walser, fields, led to the spot by the boy. The barrel was quickly and easily pulled from its resting place, and the body was laid out upon the grass. Wound about the head and shoulders was the piece of carpeting that the boy had partly removed.

Prayer for the Afflicted.

[Raleigh Christian Advocate.] A brother suggests that in all our congregations wherever services are held on next Sabbath, that prayer be offered to God in behalf, of our afflicted sister cities and towns, so grievous-ly scourged with yellow fever, that if consistent with His divine will, His af-flicting hand be stayed and health again restored unto them; also that thanks be returned unto Almighty God, for the good health vouchsafed to our own people, and abundant crops and prosperity, with which we have been blessed. We cordially endorse the suggestion, and hope it will be generally carried out by our preachers, and wherever deemed prudent to do so, that a collection be lifted for the yellow fever sick and suffering.

Since the above was written we nolice that Governor Williams, of Indiana has appointed a day of fasting and prayer in behalf of the plague-stricken South. We should be glad if Governor Vance would appoint a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer in North Carolina—that confessions be made of our own sins as a people, and that prayer be offered in behalf of our sick and dying brethren in the South. Governor Williams has set a worthy example in this respect.

Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

Washington Cor Balt Sun, 16 h.]
Senator Patterson, who has lately returned from Pennsylvania, thinks that Frank Hughes, the leading greenback apostle, will be the most prominent candidate for United States Senator in case the opposition gain the Legislature. Mr Hughes is of strong Democratic proclivities, and will act with the Democrats in case of his election. Like some other Greenbackers, he has Like some other Greenbackers, he has undergone a wonderful revulsion of opinion, for during the war he made an argument before the Pennsylvania courts against paying the interest of the State debt in greenbacks. Senator Patterson says that he shall hold on to his sest in the Senate until his term expires, on the 4th of March. He thinks the next Legislature of South Carolina will be four-fifths Democratic and that the congressional delegation will be solidly Democratic. He does not expect to return to South Carolina for the present, but after next March will go back to his old bome in that
