A Lucky Hotel Keeper.

[N. Y. Tribune] A farmer in Washington, Iowa, owning property worth $20,000, was possessed about ten years ago with the idea that he had been commissioned possessed about ten years ago with the idea that he had been commissioned to open a hotel near Jerusalem, and thus become a pioneer in the work of restoring the Holy City to its ancient splendor. He claimed to have had a vision in which the restored city appeared to him. But his wife opposed the notion of his going, and when at last he resolved to depart, they determined to remain on the farm. He gave them one-half his property, and with $10,000 started on his journey two years ago. In good time he reached the Holy Land, and at a point two miles east of the city purchased several acres of land, and there built his hotel, which soon became a popular resort of tourists. What the state of his mind may now be as to the future of the fallen city is not known, but his letters to his family have been of a most cheering kind. "He has prospered abundantly in a worldly way," says the Davenport Gazette, "and his longings for his wife's companionship have caused her to decide to follow him. She has sold her property in Iowa, and expected to leave this week with her son to join her husband at his hotel on the slopes of the hills of Judea."

Burying the Dead in Memphis.

[Dr. Barton, of Cleveland.]

In the city the work of caring for the sick and burying the dead is carried on like clock work. A victim dies and his body is immediately wrapped into a sheet, put into a box, the cover screwed down, and the remains taken off to be buried. No funeral is held, unless perhaps some friend reads the burial service or a prayer over the rough coffin as it goes into the hastily-dug hole. Night and day the burial goes on, and, as one looks out upon the street at midnight, the carts piled up with the coffined dead go rattling by, while the negro grave-diggers, with shouldered spades, march by in single file with a steady tramp that somehow seems to sink into the very heart of DRUCCIST AND CHEMIST,

Frank Alfriend on Tilden.

Frank Alfriend, who wrote the only life of Jefferson Davis (though Jeff is now writing his own, or his part in the confederacy) said to me to-day.

"You are mistaken in supposing Judge Thurman can be nominated."
"Well," said I, "correct the mistake.

[Louisville Courier-Journal] It seems strange that the Christians who are now praying for the suffering South, and who almost invariably refer to the scourge as a visitation of Divine wrath, on account of their sins, When a rosy-looking girl backs up to a stranger at a country dance, and asks him to wnack that mesquito that is gnawing her between the shoulders, it is no time to read up on Chesterfield.—Detroit Free Press.

A farmer who lives twelve miles out of Boston drove into the city with a load of hens in coops, arriving at the market about sunrise, and found a row of fowls under the wagon on a pole connecting the two axles.

Vine wrath, on account of their sins, should never once recall to mind the long train of heavy misfortunes which were visited upon Job, prince of a wealthy people, "who, in all, sinned not, nor charged God toolishly." Where is it said that the upright, because of his obedience, shall be exempt from any of the ills the flesh is heir to? References are made to the wickedness of New Orleans and Memphis. A daily study of the criminal phis. A daily study of the criminal record of each city would seen convince one of the much greater prevalence of crime in other cities. If the scourge had been sent as a punishment for sin, it would never have shown any regard for the isothermal line, but would have swept the whole country. Those who mingle blame so freely with their prayers for the suffering Sonth their prayers for the suffering South but illustrate certain characteristics of human nature so ably set forth in the scriptural account of Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar, Job's comforters, of whom it was said: "Oh, that ye would altogether hold your peace, and it should be your wisdom." The ways of the Eternal are past finding out. "He destroyeth the perfect and the wicked. stroyeth the perfect and the wicked. If the scourge slay quickly he will laugh at the trial of the innocent." Let us try, if possible, to extend to the af-flicted our pity, unmingled with faultfinding or reproof.

> [New York Sun.] Avalanche, the last of the staff.
> "The last of the staff." What a story is told in those five words! Young Landrum-we believe he was little more than a boy—saw his associates fall, one by one, by his side; but still he stood at his post, as true a hero as any soldier who ever joined in a "forlorn hope" charge upon the enemy's batteries. He was worthy of his editorin-chief, the lamented Thompson, who, knowing that the fever was upon him, insisted that no word should be sent to his wife whom he had hurried to a place of safety, and faced death alone rather than risk a life dearer to him than his own. The courage and devo-tion shown by clergymen, the sisters of the religious orders, physicians and nurses in the fever-stricken cities are above all praise; but many an obscure newspaper man and many an underpaid telegraph operator have shown themselves equally courageous and de-

It is all nonsense for newspapers to be saying that the days of township and county conventions are numbered If they are, the days of the Democratic party are numbered, for no party can exist without discipline and organization. An army that obeys no orders, where every company straggles loose over the country in search for plunder, becomes as weak and demoralized as the, enemy could desire; and so it is with a party or faction that refuses to abide by the nominations made in the primary conventions. When a man continues to denounce convention in general terms, he is beginning to get ready to move to the Radical

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, it acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from $to$ byounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACREMAN'S drugstone for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fai reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholeand one-quarter pounds," The well-known Whole-sale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs, POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake any reputation as a physician; and so confidentam I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the aliments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphiet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine; Leucorrhæa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Infammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extel this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those affections.
