The "House Not Made With Hands." BY H. D. LE QUEUX.

[From the Iredell Gazette.] Above this base, ungodly world, In beautifuly, unclouded lands, There is a "house" no storms can shake— It is the "house not made with hands." We have DRESS GOODS 30 inches wide, at 10 cts

Amid earth's fallen glories which

In one huge, shapeless ruin lie, Faith looks beyond life's shifting scenes. To that eternal house on high, THAT IS THE CHEAPEST THING EVER SOLD

"Not made with hands"—building divine!
Brighter than Paradise of old!
All toll I'll bear to dwell within Thy jasper walls and streets of gold.

There in unfading beauty blooms
The "tree of life" beside clear streams
That issue from the Thorne. O home
More lovely than our fairest dreams! "Eternal in the heavens"! In thee I'd moor my tempest-riven bark, When life's last pelting storm shall break The casket of th' immortal spark!

Mme Janauscheck is playing a successful engagement at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadel-An exchange says how sweet it is to be remembered. Yes, but on the first of the month it is usually overdone.

A boy said, "My father has a brother, but he is not my uncle. How can you explain the contradic-tion?" The boy lied. They are cheaper than ever. The second meal makes the glutton, the second ill word makes the quarrel, and the seconds load the pistols with blank cartridges.—Derrick. Smith and Jones were examining a gun that was not loaded. Of course it went off. Smith was fill-ed with remorse and Jones with bird shot number

A colored preacher in Norwich a while ago gave out the following announcement: "Brothers and sisters, next Sunday, the Lord willing, there will be a baptizing in this place, the candidates being four adults and three adulturesses."

As Frank, who had been taught to believe that he had been made of dust, stood watching the dust as the wind was whirling it in eddies, he exclaimed: "Ma, I think the dust looks as if there was going to be another little boy made." There has been a remarkable case of constancy in England. A man whe separated from his wife thirty-live years ago has just returned and offered to kiss and make up. A few days prior to the offer the wife had inherited a large estate. The American Christian Review includes in its lists of stations on the road to ruin, "a social party, a croquet party, a pic-nic, and a dance." We have heard a man called a superannuated idlot for a good deal less than this.—Nycum Advertiser.

KICKED OUT OF BED.

Why Mr. Edward W. Cook Asks for a Divorce-The Wife's Version of the kicking of Edward W. Cook of Evansville, Ind., who had nothing to enliven her soliagainst Minerva Cook was resumed in the Superior Court to-day. One of Mr. Cook's complaints against his wife was that in 1871, she kicked him out of bed. He testified that after they had retired for the night she requested him to "move along," and he did so. Soon afterward he was told to move again, and he kept on doing so until he hung on the very edge of the bed. Then Mrs. went away, and came back several days later, followed by an old music master whose name was Crelius. He tried the little girl's musical ear and voice and Cook made a further demand for more room, and when he told her that he could not move without falling out of bed, she braced herself up, plunged her feet into the small of his back, and landed him in the middle of the room.— Therefore he thought it safer to occupy the lounge, On his cross-examination it was brought out that he was burned in effigy in Elgin, Ill,, for alleged abuse of his wife, and as he had told everybody that she had kicked him out of bed, the effigy was placarded with Mrs. Cook's admonition to "move along."

To-day Mrs Cook, the respondent, was put upon the witness stand, and went over a part of the story of her twentyone years of married life. She had worked for Cook in his cotton mill at Adams, Mass, and it was there that he fell in love with and married her. She said he was always fault-finding and scolding, and she did not remember in twenty years that she ever cooked a meal which he didn't find fault with.

Among his strange doings, she mentioned that he did not sleep with his face toward her for a whole year. She denied kicking him out of bed in 1871, and said that she got up one night to see a sick child in another room, and in getting back to bed accidentally fell on his feet, whereupon he declared that she did it through malice, and said she was the embodiment of hell itself, and that he would never sleep with her again; and he kept his word. Many of the aged citizens of Hartford have greatly enjoyed the trial.

Effects of the Fever. [Louisville Courier-Journal.] It is estimated that the actual material loss to the region of country scourged by the yellow fever, thus far, is not less than $200,000,000, and this is, doubtless, a very low estimate. Splendid stands of cotton will be lost for want of hands to pick it, while the cessation of business in the cities and towns, and on the railroads and river, has occasioned enormous losses, which cannot now be computed. Beyond expression, this has been a terrible year for the people of the lower Mississippi Valley. Some people talk in a melancholy way, and express the belief that the South will be utterly, irremediably ruined. That is an impossibility. The South has been swept by the flood, pestilence and the sword, yet has she come out of the depths with a firm step and a hopeful heart. Temporarily crushed the South may be, but destroyed never. There is reason to rejoice that the yellow fever has spread so little east from the Mississippi. It is leaving a broad, black mark from Cairo to the Gulf. It is a terrible mark, to be sure. It is a trail marked by graves. Yet, out of the deeps of this woe those communities will come with renewed strength. If it were otherwise, we might indeed abandon hope for the Every man, woman and child, is cordially invited

The Woman who has a Constant Struggle to Keep from Falling to Pieces.

[From the Burlington Hawkere.] She came to the station a little late and had to make a rush for the train. When she reached her seat her hat fell off. She then got it on, but it toppled over to one side, and when she tried to straighten it her hair came tumbling 10wn. She lost her ticket twice before the conductor reached her, and would have lost it again if he hadn't taken it away from her. She reached up to put a bundle in the rack above her head, and muzzle; exploded, and she nearly workas she got her hair twisted up and harcorral her toppling hat and wandering hair with one hand, and as she went one couldn't help thinking that would be safer and more convenient to run her in sections and flag her against everything. I have seen this woman on several other trains, and she has never been able to keep herself together. There seems to be more average humanity about her than there is about her neater sister. She isn't so aggravating, but she keeps you in a state of agonizing suspense, for you never know where she is going to give way next.

[Frederika Bremer.] There was once a poor plain little girl, dwelling in a little room in Stockholm, the capital of Sweden. She was her educated for the scene; then, such another ear as she has for music is not to be found in the world." The count relented. The little girl was at last admitted into the school for eleves at the opera, and with some difficulty a simple gown of black bombazine was pro fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a posetive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, O., is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me 5 pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to Ackerman's drugstore after the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., reduced me 5 pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to Ackerman's drugstore after the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Vholes le Druggists, Smith, Doolittle & Smith, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. Powell & Plimpton, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "To the Proprietors of Allan's Anti-Fat: Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It prometes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the spectal diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as THE CLIMAX OR CROWNING GEM OF MY MEDICAL CAREER. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all draumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the allments for which I recommand it, that I offer and sell it under A POSI-TIVE GUARANTEE. Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a single vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using in German, French or English.
