A Wealthy Baltimore Merchant's Divorce from His Young Wife.

Tho' lost to sight, to mem'ry dear Thou ever wilt remain; One only hope my heart can cheer, The hope to meet again. Oh! fondly on the past I dwell, And oft recall those hours When, wandering down the shady dell, We gathered the wild flowers.

Yes, life then seemed one pure delight Tho' now each spot looks drear; Yet, tho' thy smile be lost to sight, To mem'ry thou art dear, To mem'ry thou art dear.

Tho! Lost to Sight, to Mem'ry Bear,

Oft in the tranquil hour of night, When stars illume the sky, I gaze upon each orb of light, And wish that thou wert by. I think upon that happy time, That time so fondly loved,
When last we heard the sweet bells chime,
As through the fields we roved.

Yes, life then seemed one pure delight, Tho' now each spot looks drear; Yet, tho' thy smile be lost to sight, To mem'ry thou art dear, To mem'ry thou art dear.

SINGULAR SUPERSTITIONS.

How Some Miners Think they are Forwarned o

There are wonderful things to be studied in the vast laboratory where nature has stored her treasures. The men who toil in the caverns of the ground and tread the endless windings of the drifts have their presentiments of coming calamity, and at times feel the touch of death in the very air. A Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle reporter was talking with an breeches and red tights old miner a few days ago who implicit-ly believed that no death ever took place in the mines without a warning of some kind. "You see," he said, "death never comes of a sudden upon the men in the mines. You reporters write up way or fell quick and killed somebody. Now, this ain't so. There's always some warning. When I see my lantern begin to burn low down and blue, I know there is danger ahead. If it keeps on for a few days and then begins to wa-ver and flicker, I'll watch it close to see where it points. Now, you may set me up for a fool, but what I'm tellin' is the gospel truth. When the flame leans over (as if it was being worked by a blow-pipe) and points to a man, death has marked him. Some years ago when Bill Henkricks was killed in the Savage, the flame of my lantern pointed right to him for over an hour, and when he moved the flame would turn, just as if Bill was a loadstone and the flame was a mariner's needle. I knew he was gone, and told him to be careful about the blast. Well, he got through that all right, and got on the cage. As we went up the candle kept acting strangely, and at times the flame would stretch out long and thin towards Bill. At length t gave a sudden flicker, and Bill reeled to one side and was caught in the tim-bers. I heard his dreadful cry as he disappeared down the shaft, and while he was bounding from side to side, dashing out his brains and scattering his flesh down to the bottom, my light went out. I never lit that lantern again. It hangs up in my cabin now, and it always will. There's more in a candle flame than people think. I'd rather see a cocked revolver pointed at me than a candle flame; a revolver sometimes misses, but a candle flame is sure to kill when it starts towards a man. I must start for my shaft now. Don't give my name to anybody. There

SCANDAL IN HIGH LIFE.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—Extraordinary interest has been excited in the divorce suit of John D. Kremelberg, agt. Ger-trude J. Kremelberg, nee Miss Jenkins, and the decree granted to-day by Judge Gilmor, giving to the complainant an absolute divorce, has produced a decided sensation in society circles. Mr. Kremelberg is a wealthy merchant, and his wife was one of the most brilliant and beautiful debutantes in Baltimore society a few years ago. She is only about 28, and preserves all those charms which in her youth brought hosts of admirers to her feet. In 1872 Mrs. Kremelberg went to Europe with her three children, maid, and Miss Jennie Kremelberg, a daughter of her husband by his first wife. At Baden Baden Mrs. Kremelberg met Baron Albrecht von Bruneck, a man of good position in society. The acquaintance ripened into leve. The baron went to Switzerland, and in his first letter to Mrs. Kremelberg speaks of the memory of the kiss she gave him at parting, and fills his letter with other endearing expressions. In other letters he invited pressions. In other letters he invites her to Switzerland, which she accepts, and together they visited Luzerne and other places of interest. Miss Kremelberg wrote to her father of the intimacy and he went at once to Biden baron She told him that she loved the baron next to her God, and that he had been sent into the world to make it a happy world for her. Her husband forced her trnnks, and discovered a bundle of letters from the baron couched in the most affectionate terms, and of such a character as to prompt him to the belief that she had dishonored him. In one letter to the baron she apologizes for not having destroyed the baron's letters by saying: "I loved them and you too well to part with them." Mr. Kremelberg at once brought his wife to Baltimore, and wishing to avoid a scandal they took up their residence in separate apartments at the Carroll-ton Hotel. Her family refused to credit the story of her guilt, and she resumed her place in society. Testimony was introduced to prove the purity of Miss Jenkins during girlhood, and not a single cloud was found on her reputation down to the time of her trip abroad Six months after her return she consulted counsel and wrote to her husband. demanding a restoration of conjugal rights. This was refused, and a formal pay her $2,000 a year. It was also shown that during her year's trip abroad her personal expenses were $20,band's palatial residence in Mount Vernon place and installed herself in his chamber, but her father and other friends induced her to withdraw, after being assured that a reconciliation was impossible. After this Mr. Kremelberg's counsel filed a bill for absolute which has just been granted. Mrs. Kremelberg has for some time een residing at the Convent of Notre Dame. Her counsel at once filed an appeal, under which the case may go to the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Have you seen any of the parties imlicated?" I asked. 'No, I think not, recently. I met Tilden, by the way, in August, up at Saratoga, and I told him that we had all the cipher dispatches that went between his home and Florida, and asked him, laughingly, for the key. I told him that we couldn't make head or tail to them, and wanted him to help us. He smiled and blushed innocent as a baby, and passed on: but the next morning he came around, and told me seriously, that he knew nothing about any such are some who would laugh at me." The man here picked up his bucket and walked away. There are plenty of miners on the Comstock who have just such supportitions. Some half of the work of changing the road bed of the Western North Carolina Railroad by Newton is moving on briskly. The whole distance of the grading is three such superstitions. Some believe that miles, about one-forth of which is now finished. When this work is completed as quartz and property. For three years past there had been no accidents in the and backing out and backing in and running out, for the train will then run by Newton as respectably as it does any other place on the road. The present crushed. The miners said at once that a "bad streak" had been struck, and arrangement has long been a source of annoyance to the people of Newton the railroad officials and the trayeling pubmore accidents might be expected. Yesterday two more men were injured by falling thirty feet into the sump. This was caused by the breaking of a two lic generally, and we are glad to note that the prospect is now so flattering for the change to be completed at an early day. This little matter of having to back the train has caused the traveling public, especially through passengers, to say many unjust things about Newton, and created many wrong impressions about the citizens of that town and their business energy.

Libel Suit Between Prominent Physicians,

In New York city a suit has been begun by Dr. Wm. A. Hammond, former ly surgeon-general of the army, against Dr. John P. Gray, of the State lunatic asylum, for $50,000 damages for alleged libel. The asserted libel was in an article in a periodical controlled by Dr. Gray, which was afterward reproduced in pamphlet form, in which Dr. Hammond says that his skill in what has become his specialty-nervous and mental diseases—was assailed, and his honesty in testimony given by him in several murder cases was impugned.

A Remarkable Result.

It makes no difference how many physicians, or how much medicine you have tried, it is now an established fact that German Syrup is the only remedy which has given complete satisfaction in severe cases of Lung Diseases. It is true there are yet thousands of persons who are predisposed to Throat and Lung Affections, Consumption, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Severe Colds settled on the Breast, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough, &c., who have no personal knowledge of Boschee's German Syrup. To such we would say that 50,000 dozen were sold last year without one complaint. Consumptives try just one bottle. Regular size 75 cents. Sold by all druggists in America.
