THE CONVENTION LEVE TO DAY.

There has never been a more important convention of any kind in this city than that which will assemble at the opera house at noon to-day. It is a convention of Northern men who have made their homes in the South, and who come together now for the purpose of certifying to their brethren on the other side of the line what manner of land this is in which they have cast their lots. This convention has not been set on foot as a political movement. It is designed altogether in a material sense, and in this direction, it is destined, we honestly believe, to effect no small amount of good. The influence which will go out from it will be such as could go out from no other body of men. Its utterances, it must be known, are without any object other than the public good. In its very nature and character it is entirely untrammeled, unpurchasable, and above the influence of any particular faction or interest. It is above party for the reason that in the issuance of the call to it men were invited without reference to party; indeed, all were invited, the only limitation being as to birth and present residence. This fact forbids the idea that the convention was inaugurated in any particular interest, or that it can be the design of any one to "pack" it in any given interest. We of the South who are outits peculiar composition, is free from | the all similar cases. this suspicion. The reasons why its influence must be great in shaping the sentiment of the Northern mind in reference to the South, are patent to any mind: it is non-political; it is non-sectarian; its members have no axes to grind, no lands to sell to settlers, and can have no interest, direct or remote, in misrepresenting | frightened to death by being chased by the situation of affairs in the South. This a horse while out in the field. might not be true if the convention were one of natives; it might not, it hardly would be true, if it were in the hands of politicians of either party. So much for the reasons that induce the belief on our part that this will be a very influential body.

We have befriended the movement on faith. We believe in advance in the honesty of the men who will compose the convention. The politicians and the stirrers-up of strife will give it a the State spends $4,000,000 a year for wide berth for the reason that they public school instruction. know that they cannot impress their peculiar notions upon it. The body will be formed of bona flde settlers; men who have come South to live and who, like the great masses of the people everywhere, take no stock in the schemes of the modern politicians. the truth, and to have the truth told is what we want; we want no part of it kept back. We hope this convention here to-day will express itself, as we have no doubt it will, fully and freely. We hope it will reflect the opinions which its individual members honestly hold of the Southern soil, the climate, the mineral wealth, the water-power, the forests, and the methods of agriculture. We hope they will speak of the social relations which surround them here; of the church privileges; of the educational facilities; of the adaptability or nonadaptability of the soil to different hope, in short, that they will tell all that | have considerably improved. a man seeking out a home in a new it of one who was acquainted with it -representing the defects as well as the advantages of the South as a home to stated whether freedom of speech or of the ballot is denied or abridged in the South.

THE OBSERVER must not be understood, however, as attempting to map out work for this convention or of attempting to force suggestions upon the members. As a meeting of very great importance and as one in which we feel a singular interest, we have embraced marks, and this done, nothing remains for us to do except to extend to the delegates a very cordial greeting. We welcome them heartily to our little city, and trust that their sojourn among our people may be a pleasant one and that it may leave many pleasant memories behind.

CL.MEED THE GOLDEN STAIR.

The year of grace 1879 promises to be rather a bad year for the propagation of newspapers in North Carolina. Since the first of January four of them have petered out, the last of these being the Asheville Pioneer, Republican, which lived to publish its own obituary in its issue of the 11th. In its closing issue the editor, Gen. John C. Gorman, writes:

The fact is, it is an uphill business to run a Republican sheet in North Carolina. In times past, Republicans who read, have been furnished their newspaper literature gratis, and the custom has so grown upon them that they expect it to be continued; and some Republican officials, following the policy they adopted in appointments, if they have patronage to bestow, to ingratiate themselves with their enemies, feed their foes and starve their friends. This policy has about crushed out the Republican press of the State, until the Wilmington Post, the Greensboro North State, the Winston Republican, the Elizabeth City Carolinian, and the Roane Mountain Republican, are all that remain. With one hundred and ten thousand voters, this is a burning shame, and the party may expect to remain in the mire of defeat, and continue disorganized, so long as they allow those who are disposed to assist them, atch says: " The parliamentary punshment bill continues to be the chief topic of conversation in all political cirles. The opinion of the foreign press is largely quoted in comparison with the articles in the journals here, which seems to yield the curious result that abroad there is more opposition to the Chancellor's scheme than in Germany itself. There is certainly great opposition here to the bill, though to the English mind it is somewhat surprising to find so much unconcern reigning in view of the fate which seems to threaten the freedom of speech and the liberty of the press. The Nord Deutsch Allegemeine Zeitung and the Poste defend the Chancellor's scheme. The Koeng Zeituug, though admitting the necessity for some restraint upon parliamentary speech, thinks with the Liberals that the bill in its present form is inadmiss: ble, for the reason that it changes several articles of the constitution by the Reichstag to that effect. In parliamentary circles the question is being dis-cussed whether the bill, in view of certain articles of the imperial constitution, might not be rejected a limine. That might doubtless be done if a majority of the House would only resolve to do it, but many persons here believe that Bismarck, despite the present opposition, will ultimately succeed in carrying the measure with but few changes.

LONDON, January 14.—A Berlin dis-

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the other hand, is avouched by persons who have used it, to be a genuine source of relief. It keeps the blood cool by promoting a regular habit of body, and removes from it impurities which, in the opinion of all rational pathologists, originate this agonizing complaint and its kindred malady, the gout. Besides this the Bitters remedy disorders of the stomach, liver and nerves, prevent and eradicate intermittent and remittent fevers, promote appetite and sleep, and are highly recommended by physicians as a desirable medicinal stimulant and Every moment, if we are in health, the work of repairing this destructive process goes on with equal When the vital force is great, more vigor is given to the blood and muscular fibre than th dinary wear and tear of existence uses up. When the vital force falls from any cause, there ensues a wasting away, which if not arrested, ends in decay and death. Physicians all declare that when these symptoms of decline set in, the only certain remedy is Cod Liver Oil. But their patients, with almost equal unanimity, say that Cod Liver Oil is "so nasty" they cannot take it. The only resource left is to obtain Scott's Emuision of the Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. This is altogether free from disagreeable taste and odor, and is an unequalled tonic, for the nerves and brain.
