PERSONAL PRIVILEGE IN THE LEGISLATURP.

free-born reason."

An article written from Raleigh and published some days since in the New York Times, has created quite a hubbub at the State capital, and this is the question of personal privilege to which some of the Senators and Representa-tives rose last Saturday, as hinted at in the legislative proceedings of that day as printed in another column. The letter was sent forward to the clerk's desk in the Senate, Saturday, by Mr. Robinson, of Macon, and read in full, and as incorporated in his remarks is as fol-

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 26.-It has just been discovered by a portion of the public that ten persons who were members of the Legislature, elected in 1876, were guilty of drawing money twice from the State treasury when they were entitled to draw only once. The way in which the State was replied was as in which the State was robbed was as follows: James L. Robinson, who was then a Senator; G. S. Ferguson, who was also a Senator; E. L. Vaughan, R. McBrayer, Edward Ransom, Van V. Richarson, W. R. Terry, A. C. Sharpe, W. G. Morris and H. E. Baxter, all Democrats, except Terry, who were members of the House of Representatives in 1878, were appointed deputies tives in 1876, were appointed deputies by the sheriffs of their respective counties. The Legislature met on the third Monday of November, 1876. When these ten members came to Raleigh to attend the session of the Legislature they brought the election returns of their respective counties, and delivered them to the Secretary of State, as deputy sheriffs. For this service each of the ten drew mileage at the rate of 10 cents a mile, and $3 a day while serving the State as deputy sheriffs.

It now appears, according to the printed report of the State Auditor for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1877, that the ten persons named also drew mileage as members of the Legislature for the number of miles and at the same rate for which they had previously been paid by the State as deputy sheriffs. The amount thus wrongfully obtained, and for which there is no authority in law, is $634.60. A committee of three Democrats and one Republican examined the vouchers in the Treasurer's office, and detected this illegal use of the public money. The name of Jas. L. Robinson was referred to in the committee's report as first drawn, but through Robinson's influence his name was stricken out.

the article-Mr. Robinson in the Sen- on the amendment of the Senator from ate and Messrs. Vaughan and Richardson in the House-pronounced it libelous, and each explained that while he had made the returns for his sheriff as charged, he accounted to the sheriff for the mileage which he (the member) drew as deputy.

There is another phase to the case, as indicated by Mr. Bobinson's resolutions, printed in the legislative proceedings this morning. He indicates in these resolutions and in his speech that while J. C. L. Harris-who is the North Carolina correspondent of the New York Times-probably wrote the article, it was inspired by some one connected in some manner with the Raleigh News. Mr. Robinson did not mention either Harris or the News by name but his intimations are unmistakable. The News answers for its part that if Mr. Robinson means it he is wide of the mark; that nobody authorized to speak for it ever made any threats, as intimated by Mr. Robinson, that if western men did not vote for it for public printer it would attack the Western North Carolina Railroad and fight further appropriations for it. This, then, is the state of affairs; Lieutenant-Governor Robinson and others are persuaded that the News has blood in its eye against them because they did not support it for public printer; Mr. Robinson understood that he would be attacked by the News or its friends, and now since this attack has been made upon him through the New York Times, he believes the News peor ple put Loge Harris up to it.

It is a tempest in a tea pot; much cryand little wool, but in it all sticks are being fashioned with which to break the party head in 1880.

MR. BROWN AND THE STATE DEST MILL

As the chairman of the House branch of the joint committee on the State conduct of Davis during the war did debt, Mr. Brown, of Mecklenburg, had in charge in the House the bill for the adjustment of the debt which passed that body last Friday, and his manage. North believe Jeff Davis to be a double ment of it is much complimented and dyed traitor. with good cause. In managing a great and delicate question of this character when before a body for consideration, no small amount of tact and judgment to vote for Davis any more than he was is necessary; the slightest blunder may defeat it; the too early or too late call of the previous question may kill it, and there are scores of risks to be run. Mr. Brown is to be congratulated upon the good fortune which attended his efforts to pilot the bill through the rocks and over the shallows of fegislative controversy, and our Raleigh correspondent, whose letter appears on the first page of to-day's OBSERVER pays him a tribute which, while eloquent and glowing, is at the same time

FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS. LIVE ASSES KICKING A BEAR LION

Excluding Jefferson Davis from the Pension Act—The Mexican Veteran Clause Defeated-Stanley Matthews is Given a New Character-All the Appropriation Bill agreed on except the Army and Leg-Men Addition Concents.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—SENATE.— When a motion to reconsider the bill making an appropriation to pay the arrears of pensions was agreed to, Hoar offered an amendment that no pension shall ever be paid under this act to Jefferson Davis, late President of the socalled Southern Confederacy. Hoar said the name in the proviso had not been singled out by any selection of his own, or from any person who agreed with him politically. The name had been selected by Davis himself by his own act, in a marked and conspicuous character, by an attack on the life of the country which educated him. That gentleman had never given utterance to gentleman had never given utterance to an expression of regret for such attack, nor had he followed the example of so many of his associates by asking Congress to remove his political disabilities. He spurned the clemency of the Republic to-day. It was now proposed to put the name of this person, whose treason had not been repented of, on the pension rolls of the country and to tax the sion rolls of the country, and to tax the loyal widows and orphans to pay the Garland said he did not know what motive the Senator from Massachusetts had in introducing his amendment, but it was a curious spectacle to exhibit to the American people at this late hour of the day, while the government pensions Longstreet by a small postoffice in Georgia, a Republican administration sent Gov. Orr as minister to Russia, and Mosby, who boasted that he was the Marion in the second war, to China, as consul. He felt satisfied that Jefferson Davis would scorn the pension; that gentleman did not ask it. He had served under Mr. Davis in a civil capacity. Mr. Davis was a gallant soldier in the Mexican war. His services were on record and although they did not sur-pass, they equalled those of Greece and

Mr. Shields took a different view from both sides. He thought that by singling out Jefferson Davis from ten millions of people in the South he was giving nim distinction greater than he

Bailey said the country was to-day longing and wishing for peace, and he appealed to the Senators on the other side to do nothing to prevent the people of the South, having lost all in war, and poor, restoring their industries.

Maxey briefly spoke of the services rendered by Davis in the Mexican war, All of the gentlemen who spoke to had fought with him to pass judgment Massachusetts.

Massachusetts.

Mr. Thurman said that the amendment singled out Jefferson Davis for punisament, when other men who went as far as he did were not only not punished but have been appointed to the highest stations in the government, and in this connection he mentioned the names of Akerman, formerly United States attorney-general, the present postmaster-general, Key, General Longstreet, postmaster at Gainesville, and Mosby of guerilla fame, all and many others of the same class, being appointed by a Republican administration. He saw on the bench, too, men who were actively engaged in the Confederate service, who were just as guilty as Jefferson Davis. The proposition before them came from a Senator of a State (Massachusetts) whose treason had been more violent and longer than that of any other State in the Union. Thurman did not want to pick out Jefferson Davis as a martyr when all others who had acted with him walk the earth unchallenged.

Mr. Lamar, replying to Hoar, said he must confess his surprise and regret that the Senator from Massachusetts should have wantonly, without provocation, flung this insult.
The chair (Edmunds) called the Senator to order for this language.

Lamar—I suppose it is in order to fling insults but out of order for those who are insulted to hurl back the blow. I appeal from the decision of the chair. The question being taken the decision of the chair was overruled-yeas 15,

Lamar proceeded, eulogizing Davis and protesting against attempts to single him out for obliquy from the body of the Southern people who had chosen him for their leader in a cause dear alike to him and to all his fol-

The debate was continued by Blaine, Hoar, Lamar, and others. Chandler said that eighteen years ago he and Jeff Davis came into the Senate together, and both at the time swore to support the constitution of the United states. Davis had come from Pierce's cabinet, and when he took the oath there was treason in his heart and per-jury on his lips. He took the oath to support a government he meant to over-throw. He (Chandler) considering the

There was further discussion in which Messrs. Gordon, Windom, Ransom and Beck participated, the last named saying that the Mexican veteran amendment was voted in with the aid of eight Republican votes, and that the bill was passed with fourteen Republicans voting for it. But for the Republicans, he wanted it to be understood, the bill would not be a law of the land. Hoar's amendment to exclude Jefferson Davis was agreed to-23 to 22. A vote was then taken on the amendment of Shields to pension Mexican reterans, as amended. Un motion of Hoar it was disagreed to 20 to 25.

The bill then passed—44 to 3.

Allison then reported that the conference committee on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was unable to agree, and a new committee was appointed. He also made a report from the select committee exonerating Stanley Matthews from connection with any real or supposed frauds in the election in Louisiana, and that he had not been guilty of corrupt, conduct in any of the matters referred to in the testimony, but regarded his ac-tion in respect to James E. Anderson's effort to obtain the appointment to office under the circumstances as wrong

On motion of Gordon the Senate took up the resolutions of the House in respect to the death of Julian Hartridge, of Georgia, He offered further resolutions of respect, and delivered a eulogy on the character of the deceased, followed by Booth and Lamar in a few appropriate remarks. The resolutions were agreed to and the Senate at 6.40.

THE BILLS IN CONFERENCE. The conference committee on the sundry civil appropriation bill has agreed upon a compromise which will shortly be reported to the two houses. The postoffice bill will, it is understood, be agreed upon, the Senate sur-rendering the Brazilian mail service and the re-adjustment of compensation to railroads, and consenting to a modification of the provisions for re-classification of mail matter, striking out some of its more stringent features. The second conferees on the legislative bill have not yet come together.

An agreement has been reached in conference on the fortification bill, the Senate yielding its amendments. The conferees on the deficiency bill have also arrived at an understanding. The clause making appropriation for the pay due supervisors is reduced to $50,000. The Senate having stricken out the Shields amendment to the arrears of pension bill, no trouble with it in conference is anticipated.

The army and the legislative appropriation bills are the only ones now likely to fail.

NOMINATIONS. The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day: Louis A. Barnes to be register of the land of-fice at Gainesville, Fla.; Sam'l T. Rid-dell, postmaster at Fernandina, Fla.

CONFIRMATIONS. The Senate to-day confirmed the fol-lowing nominations: Chas. S. Manning, collector of customs at Albemarle, N. C.; L. S. Metcalf, appraiser of marie, N. C.; L. S. Metcair, appraiser of merchandise at St. Louis; Wm. A. Thomas, of South Carolina, United States consul at St. Paul DeLoander; Pinckney C. Hall, collector of customs at Vicksburg; Z. Wheeler, United States attorney for the eastern district of Tennessee.

Hayes Burned in Effigy, Chinese Shantles Burned, and Flags Half-Masted in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—A universal feeling of deep regret and indignation exists throughout the State and the Pacific coast over the President's veto of the bill to restrict Chinese immigration. At a mass meeting at Bullister, San Benito county, the President was burned in effigy, and at Fairfield, the county seat of Soroma county, flags were at half mast, and at Dutch Flat the last Chinese shanty within the town was burned on receipt of the news.

English Miners and Shipwrights on the Eve of a Strike.

DURHAM, March 3.—The co-operative miners' association refuse to accept the modified reduction of wages offered by the masters who have consequently broken off negotiations and will undoubtedly enforce the full 20 per cent. reduction originally demanded. A general strike of miners is consequently probable.

The engineers on the Clyde have agreed to strike against an increase of working hours. The shipwrights of Glasgow only accepted such increase under protest and will open communication with other Clyde ports with a view to united action.
