A Charlotte Lady in a Greensboro Prison.

Miss Katie Tate of Greensboro, and appeared in a recent issue. Speaking of this, one of the papers there says: "Miss Tate has a wide and well deserved reputation as a fine singer. We are in repeated surprise to find her in a prison, and has not sung for more than a year, but her voice appeared as fresh and powerful as ever. Her wonderful judges to be quite equal to the best singers of the country. Notwithstanding its extreme difficulty, she executes it with the greatest ease, and her song still leaves its thrilling memory on the ear." She was received with applause, but after singing the audience seemed almost wild with delight.

Notice to the Route Agents.

The Charlotte Observer fails to reach us as promptly every day as it once did. What's the matter with the mail? We must do justice to the route agents though the heavens fall, and with shame and confusion of face we confess that there have been a few times when The Observer, on account of pressure of matter and the earliness of the hour at which it has been closed, has been just a minute too late for the morning train. The Charlotte Observer is published at 7:00 a. m., and leaves for Statesville at 7:00 a. m., and for Salisbury at 7:00 a. m.

Additions to Committee.

The chairman of the meeting which was held last Saturday to take preliminary steps looking to a proper observance of the approaching 20th of May, desires that these names, which were inducted at the meeting on the list of published Sunday morning, be given now as names of members of the committee of arrangements, to-wit: Messrs. C. Dowd, W. W. Manning, S. P. Smith, and Dr. J. H. McAden, Jos. Graham, and J. M. Miller. In the appointment of the committee the chairman had the assistance of friends, and in order to guard against embarrassment, the committee was not made as large as it might have been, the chairman, however, desires every citizen of the county to feel himself to all intents and purposes a member of the committee, and hopes that the attendance at the meeting next Saturday will not be limited to those who have been designated as committee men.

The Holman Opera Company.

Owing to the late hour at which Her Majesty's ship, Pinafore, will be moved in our harbor to-day, the festive crew will not be able to clear the decks in time to show themselves to bed, but have decided to leave the good ship in the harbor, and come to the opera house to-night for the purpose of presenting us with "The Chimes of Normandy," an opera which abounds in pleasant and spirited music. The crew is none other than the Holman opera company who have several times visited Charlotte and are well known to theatre goers. They are pleasantly remembered as having presented at different occasions here "The Bohemian Girl" and "Girofle-Girofla," and the company embraces some first rate artists. To-morrow night they will give us Pinafore, a comic opera which has gained an unprecedented popularity on the stage although it was given to the public only about a year ago.

Death of Rev. J. M. Anderson.

A telegram was received in this city yesterday announcing the death of Rev. J. M. Anderson, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Mebaneville, and formerly a professor in Davidson College. He died at Mebaneville Sunday evening and his remains will be interred there for some years, having been compelled to resign his position in Davidson College on this account, and since that time has devoted himself with all the zeal and energy which his weakened frame would bear to the cause of religion, of whose cause he has been a bright and beautiful illustration. The church has sustained a serious loss in his death. It was the fortune of the writer of this brief notice to have intimately known him in the relation of pupil and teacher, and it affords him a mournful pleasure to express the opinion that a more zealous, earnest and consistent Christian, a gentler, more affectionate and tender spirit has rarely passed from earth to heaven. Diligent and faithful in the discharge of every duty, bold and outspoken in his convictions, he was no less considerate of the feelings of others, and his sympathy was as broad as his heart was brave to bear the troubles from which his life was a native of South Carolina, where he spent most of his life in teaching and preaching. He adopted the law as a profession, but after a short experience at the bar, he abandoned it for the ministry, and became a pupil of the lamented Dr. Thornwell, of whom he was an ardent admirer and devoted friend. He married a sister of Capt. A. G. Neal, of this county, and was the father of a large family. He held the chair of Logic and Belle-Lettres in Davidson College for seven or eight years, and after leaving that institution took to the mountains on account of ill health, remaining in charge of several churches there until he was called about two years ago to Mebaneville.

Charlotte and Columbia Military.

Capt. Nathan has received from the Columbia military companies the invitation to the Hornets' Nest Riflemen to accept of their hospitalities on the 10th of May, the occasion being as before stated, the giving of the Confederate monument, now in course of erection. The Riflemen will meet next Thursday night to consider the invitation, or rather to accept it, for there is but one sentiment among the members of the company and that is that they are going. The ceremonies of the occasion will be unusually impressive. Besides many of the military companies of South Carolina and the Hornets' Nest Riflemen, the Richmond Howitzers and the Clinch Rifles of Augusta have already been invited to be present and join the grand military display.

Fire in Greenville, S. C.

Yesterday morning before daylight fire consumed the stores of Mr. E. B. Dickson and Capt. McMahon, of Greenville, S. C. The buildings were the property of Mayor Anderson, and were connected with each other, and were new and very handsome store houses. Mr. Dickson carried a stock of general merchandise which was insured for $17,000; Capt. McMahon had a large stock of gentlemen's furnishings, and the extent of his insurance has not been learned; the houses were insured for $8,000. Mr. Dickson's safe after having passed through the fire was found intact. His losses were fully covered by insurance. The fire, when first discovered, was burning in the stairway between the two houses. Parties who were early on the grounds detected the odor of kerosene, and there are no reasons to believe otherwise than that the fire was of incendiary origin.

A Church Entertainment.

A very pleasant entertainment was given by the members of the Baptist Sunday school last night in the church, consisting of music and recitations by the scholars and teachers. The concert was well filled by an audience who showed hearty appreciation of their efforts. The concert singing by the children was highly creditable to themselves and their teachers. Among the most appreciated was a beautiful solo by Mrs. Morgan, a charming recitation by Mrs. Morehead (on the humorous order) and another by little Manie Graham, and Dr. J. H. McAden. In the expression were decidedly remarkable for a child of her age. The Sunday school will realize a nice little sum by the entertainment, and they certainly deserved to be rewarded.

A Baby Left on a Door-Step.

An interesting and mysterious story which is just now coming to light, promises to give us something of a sensation, and its sure interest to our tongues steady employment for a good while to come. Old Mrs. Baker, who lives in the outskirts of Biddleton, Central Railroad, very near a mile and a half from the city, was just starting to bed a few nights ago, when she heard at the door a sound which attracted her attention. She opened the door and on the step discovered a basket which she took in to the house, and there she found a white infant, snugly tucked away in a basket, and by its side a bottle of milk and a quantity of clothing. Whose was it and what to do with it? were questions which presented themselves at once to Mrs. Baker's mind. The first remains unsolved but the second Mrs. Baker answered as any other good woman would have done. She took the tiny stranger from his little bed, fed him, and continued to feed and care for it up to the present time.

A Bold Attempt at Highway Robbery.

Mr. F. Kuester started to his home corner College and Seventh streets, about 10 o'clock, and as he was passing within a few yards of his gate was met by two negro men who passed him, and then turning followed close upon him. He did not notice anything peculiar about their conduct, but when he was in the act of opening his gate one of them seized him by the neck and began choking him while the other rifled his pockets. When he fully realized his condition, he snatched a stick from the hands of one of the men and began to defend himself. He had hardly struck more than one blow when one of the robbers fled and soon the other followed, and before he could summon assistance both were out of reach. Mr. Kuester was not hurt in the struggle, and the thieves got no money, although he had $25 on his person; they rifled the wrong pocket.
