New Laws and Changed Laws.

(English Observer.) It is roughly alleged in a preamble that it is "common practice" with commission merchants and others to include in charges on sales of consigned articles many items of expense not incurred; whereas since March 11, 1879, $50 has been the penalty incurred by any commission merchant or any other person who sells produce or any commodity on consignment, for including in his bill of charges or for exacting the payment of any item of expense, whatever the custom may be, which said commission merchant or other person shall not have incurred and paid in the necessary expenses of sale of such produce or commodity.

On March 12, 1879, an act was ratified making the probate judge, the sheriff and county commissioners of each county a committee for the relief of the blind and deaf, and it is the duty of the probate judge to notify all persons in his county who hold sight, or both hands, or both feet, in Confederate service, that on proof of the fact before the committee they are entitled to receive from him $5 monthly for life.

Since March 12, 1879, town and city constables and all officers authorized by any town or city to collect taxes have been required to make monthly settlements with the town treasurer or other authorized person. Failure to do so is a misdemeanor, penalty for which is not less than $5, nor more than $20, and imprisonment for not less than twenty days.

Since March 12, 1879, wherever the words "county treasurer" occur in any statute now existing or hereafter made, they are to be held as indicating the person performing the duties of that office in counties having no treasurers.

March 13, 1879, it was enacted for the Arkansas and Territories, that no land had been sold for taxes before January 1, 1879, that any person who shall within one year from date of this law pay to the public treasurer the taxes due at that time and ten per cent upon that amount, all subsequent taxes, and costs and expenses, shall be entitled to a deed of reconveyance.

The fourth annual State convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of South Carolina will convene in the Methodist church at Andersonville, on Thursday, 24th of this month.

The Newberry Herald declares that a delegation and a share. The Pickens Sentinel favors a reasonable homestead, but thinks the present law is inequitable.

The Piedmont cotton factory, in Greenville, has sprung into life as if by magic, and only a few years' work shows that it is out of debt and can be raised to double its present capacity with the same success.

Mr. J. J. Bossard was elected intend at the late municipal election of the town of Sumter, the amount of his salary being at the discretion of the wardens. They awarded him $300, and he donated the entire amount to the Ladies' Monumental Association of that place, for the purpose of enclosing Monument Square and beautifying the grounds.

The Letter and Spirit of the Law. [From the Paris Gazette.] One pleasant night, in a lonely spot in the Faubourg du Temple, a pedestrian was halted by a robber who threatened to kill him unless he voluntarily subscribed to the campaign fund.

Each tooth is kept perfectly clean and well nourished, they will rarely decay. If food lodges in cavities, or between their teeth, or in the spaces between their teeth, these particles should be removed by a soft toothpick at the close of each meal, the teeth brushed morning and night, on both surfaces and the ends, the mouth thoroughly rinsed, that all particles may be washed away.
