THE BREEZY CAPITAL. THE ORITORICAL TOURNEY - BLACKBURN

WINNING THE BELT. Garfield to Joe: "You're Better Than Webster"-Robeson Thanks the Virginian.

[Correspondence Louisville Courier-Journal.] WASHINGTON, April 7 .- The champion contest for the palm of oratory closed Saturday afternoon, and the Democrats claim the belt. For nearly two weeks the debate in the House of Representatives partook of the character of sparring-matches. Each party selected their champions. On the Republican side there was Garfield, Frye, Robeson, Hawley and others. On the Democratic side, Carlisle, Chalmers, Proctor Knott, Singleton, Blackburn and Tucker. The Democrats came out victorious. They had all the elements of success on their side. Theirs was a right-eous cause, and they had the advantages of talent and oratory of the highest order. The Republicans, while combatting the repeal of the obnoxious law, generously complimented Mr. Blackburn and Mr. Tucker upon their eloquent and patriotic speeches. Both of these gentlemen deserve the thanks of the whole country for their dispassionate discussion of an exciting party measure. Both are in receipt of telegrams from all parts of the country indorsing their sentiments.

GARFIELD TOLD BLACKBURN that he had heard Webster and other great orators, but no one that surpassed him. Robeson took Tucker by the hand and thanked him for the noble speech he had just delivered. Every day last week was a field day in the House. The Senate having no business but that of confirming or rejecting the nominations sent in by the President, would each day adjourn early and repair to the House to listen to the legal aspect which was given for or against the law of stationing troops at the polls. The tritest subject can be elevated to a matter of importance by being talked over, discussed, and made an exciting issue of division between political parties. The Republicans are not so averse to the amendment as they | The young lady failed to identify the appear to be from their speeches. They have worked themselves up to a passion merely to combat their opponents. They know that theirs is the weakest side numerically and among the masses; therefore Garfield, who is full of sophistry, and who utters commonplaces in the most tragic and dramatic manner, assumes the role of leader on his side, and works himself up into A STAGE FURY as he hurls his epithets at the Democrats. He has a bullying style, aggresssires to make every word tell. It was said of a celebrated divine that he could thrill a large congregation merely by uttering the word "Messopotamia." Mr. Garfield is of that style. He keeps his audience spell-bound, and they go away saying, "Garfield is a strong man." When a revised edition of his speeches appears they are found to have been NOTHING MORE THAN SYLLABUB

-all froth. Frye, of Maine, started off on the old tactics of stirring up sectional strife. Robeson present d the amendment in a strictly legal way and proved himself a good lawyer. Blackburn CARRIED OFF THE HONORS on Thursday, and Randolph Tucker on Friday. The latter gentleman is a Virginian of the highest type of manhood. He is one of a family which for generations has been noted for gifted men. He is a matured scholar and dignified favorable impression upon the Republicans from the first, and Eugene Hale remarked to me several years ago, after hearing Randolph Tucker speak, that Northern members acknowledged that the Southerners had the gift of oratory. Now that the South is free to elect her members, she will continue to send her best men as representatives, while too many Northern States elect their richest men, without regard to their qualifications.

TUCKER'S AUDIENCE.

The galleries were densely packed on Friday, so that Mr. Tucker had a brilliant audience to listen to his speech. Upon the floor in front of Garfield sat General Sherman and the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. In the diplomatic gallery were Sir Edward Thornton, Aristarchi Bey and several of the foreign ministers. In the members' gallery were the wife and daughter of Senator Carpenter, the wife and daughter of Admiral Rogers, Mrs. Randolph Tucker and her son, Mrs. Oscar Turner, Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. Conger, who had the pleasure of seeing her husband threatened with the Sergeant-atarms, and a number of other ladies who have taken an intense interest in the debates. The afternoon was dark and cold, so that when Mr. Tucker closed his argument with a burst of patriotic fervor which thrilled the audience, a flood of sunshine suddenly illuminated the hall and lit up his face and form as though he was glorified. His admirers enjoyed what appeared to be the dawn of a new era, when all sectional strife will be buried and the North will

A Candid Opinion.

[Detroit Free Press.] visited by a young lawyer, who explained:

"I was admitted two years ago, and I think I know something about law, yet the minute I rise to address a jury I forget all my points and can do nothing. Now, I want to ask you if this doesn't show lack of confidence in myself; and how can I overcome it?" The wise attorney shut his eyes and studied the case for a moment before answering:

"My young friend, if it is lack of confidence in yourself it will some day van ish; but if it is lack of brains you had better sell out your office effects and buy a pick-axe and a long-handled

"But how am I to determine?" anxiously asked the young man. "I'd buy the pick-axe anyhow and run my chances!" whispered the aged adviser, as he moved over to the peg for his overcoat.

Why the Fingers are Not of a Length.

A master, in illustrating on this ques-tion, made his scholar grasp a ball of ivory, to show that the fingers are equal. It would have been better, says Charles Bell, had he closed his fingers upon his palm, and then asked whether or not they correspond. The difference in the length of the fingers serves a thousand ends, adapting the form of the hand and fingers to different purposes—as for holding a rod, a switch, a sword, a hammer, a pen, a pencil, engraving tools, &c., in all of which a secure hold and freedom of motion are admirably com-

The late presidential contest engendered much "bad blood," which coolness and judgment will correct. The "bad blood" induced by a persistent violation of Nature's great but simple laws requires not only coolness and judgment, but obedience to hygienic measures and the proper use of Dr. Bull's Blood Mixture to insure its purification.

county last week. The Shelby Aurora says a man near Whitaker's Station was snake bit one night not long since, while searching under a log for a bottle of whiskey.

Mr. W. Hinton, of Wake county, was thrown from his wagon while it was going rapidly down hill, and was seriously, and it is feared, fatally injured. At the public debate of the Washing-

The Raleigh News, of Wednesday, says: It was told the local vesterday that Senator Vance has a severe attack of ulcerated sore throat; if he recovers sufficiently he will try his hand on a speech in the Senate on the appropriation bill. The way it looks now, the discussion will last a month.

Winston Sentinel: N. A. Boyden was arrested here on last Friday on a bench warrant from Judge Schenck, charged with mutilating the records in the office of the register of deeds in Surry county by cutting out a leaf containing a deed he had made to the late Chief Justice Pearson. Deputy Sheriff Dickey carried him to Stokes on Sunday.

Wilmington Sun: Capt. F. W. Frost, chief engineer of the water survey routes, who has been in the city for some days past, left yesterday for Newport, a station on the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad, where he will be joined by a party for the purpose of surveying the route for the proposed canal from Norfolk to this city.

Greensboro Patriot: The attorney-general, in a letter to J. Lindley & Son, sustains the position taken by Treasurer Worth in his interpretation of the law imposing a license on dealers in fruit trees. This settles the matter and practically puts an end to the traffic in trees in this State, for no nurseryman can afford to pay $100 for every agent he sends out.

Wilmington Sun: A serious accident befell Mrs. Anderson, the mother of Dr. E. A. Anderson and Mr. Jas. Anderson, of this city, by which she had one of her limbs dislocated. Mrs. Anderson had gone up stairs, and when opposite her room door, from some unknown cause, she fell with the result above stated. Mrs. Anderson is in her ninety-first year, and the accident will prove very painful, but hopes are en-tertained that she will recover.

Greensboro Patriot: There are no ess than twelve inventors living here, each one of whom has invented and patented one or more practical, useful things. Among them we might mention at a hasty glance as the more important the Jones plug tobacco machine, the Allen brick machine, the Kendall shingle machine, and the Sergeant head block for saw mills. These are all labor-saving machines of recognized merit.

Raleigh Farmer and Mechanic: A Maine correspondent of the New York Husbandman writes: Thousands of able-bodied men from farms, mills, and workshops are leaving for other States and Territories, Colorado getting the lion's share. Hundreds are seeking a more genial clime to remove to. Some are thinking of North Carolina with its fertile soil and salubrious climate, its short, mild winters, and long, delightful summers. A colony is waiting for location. Next autumn will see many removals thither where peach trees come into bearing three years from the seed, and where every product, except tropical ones, can be raised in the greatest perfection.

The Death-Rate of

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life teing lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late, that a Fever or Lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Strup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases Mrs. Oliver threatens Raleigh with a of the Throat and Lungs, BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. LIVER PILLS

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPERSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

DAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax: the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet exam ination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

Dr. C. McLane's Liver Pills, in CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.
