De Profundis. [F. W. Pamphill in Spectator.] Below the dark waves, where the dead do down, Am girls of night more deep; Swiftly came they when the waves once down, How far from light they sleep.

Observations. Why should a Governor over one State when I may be President over many?—John Sherman.

There was a young girl named Susannah, Who hailed from the town of Savannah; But this she never told, As she lay down on the pool of banana.

Longfellow has a poem in the International Review with the exclamation: "How cold are thy baths, Apollo!"

A gentleman was disturbed from his rest in the middle of the night by some one knocking on the street door.

Nothing can exceed in intensity the sickly pallor that spreads the countenance of the young man when he is in the presence of a young woman.

Freeman's sacrifice of his daughter is cited by the Boston Herald as a striking example of faith without reason.

Mr. Keel, the motor man, pours a glass of water in his invention and it raises 15,000 pounds.

THE COLUMBIA MONUMENT. Imposing Ceremonies of Its Unveiling—Twelve Thousand People Present—The Grandest Day Columbia has Ever Seen.

The monument erected by the Ladies' Monumental Association, in memory of the Confederate dead of South Carolina, was unveiled on the 15th inst.

At the conclusion of Gen. Preston's address, the dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. William Martin, of Columbia.

At this point Mr. Stevenson rose to a point of order to the effect that the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Kitchin) was not confining himself to a personal explanation.

KITCHIN-RUSSELL. The Gentle and Joyous Passage of Arms Between Them Tuesday. [Washington Republican's Report of the House.]

Mr. Russell (R. C.) rose, as he said, to several questions of privilege, although he was inclined to think that if there was one matter of small importance to the people, it was the biography of the military men.

It was the truth that hurt, and that was the reason that during his absence attacks had been made upon the gentleman, entitled to be so called by the courtesy of the House.

That was an exhibition of what the Yankees called "plantation manners." He had been used to that sort of thing.

Mr. Kitchin said that he had hoped that his colleague would have had manhood and patriotism enough in his soul to have arisen and said like a man that what he had said in the speech he had not had to do with North Carolina.

Neither was his colleague big with a speech, nor was it big with something more poisonous and damning than any speech could be.

Those people who had no standing in the North had gone down and had joined in with the lowest type of the scawlag tribe in the Southern section to bleed over a bleeding country and over bleeding homes.

His colleague had replied, however, that the speech was written, and that he would deliver it. It had never been delivered, but, sneaking, devil-like, he had taken advantage of the leave to print to slander North Carolina.

At this point Mr. Stevenson rose to a point of order to the effect that the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Kitchin) was not confining himself to a personal explanation.

IMPORTANT! In the early part of every season there is a natural desire to know what the newest, latest and most fashionable styles, and also who are recognized as standard authorities in the fashionable world.

Several changes have taken place, both in shape and pattern, of fabrics in Men's Garments, of which special mention will be made. The latest demand in Spring Garments is our new WEST END SACK.

It has many admirers among those who prefer new shapes and ideas instead of adhering to the old-time-rom styles of the past—very stylish in appearance and cut from Cholet's of the newest designs.

Our Spring textures. Very respectfully, E. D. LATTA & BRO., The People's Clothiers.
