

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS

The Wilmington Press has a high compliment for Congressman Steele. A person was killed, a snake, in a square, stand-up fight. A New York drummer was caught in Wilmington without a license and was made to pay a fine of $20.

Gen. R. E. Colston recently delivered his lecture on Modern Egypt to a fine audience in Washington City. Fifty-nine thousand dollars worth of old bonds were received at the State treasury for exchange, Saturday.

Judge Spawick was invited to deliver the literary address at the College on the 14th of June but had to decline. Mr. W. Burkner and Mr. George Williams, esteemed and valuable citizens of Wilmington, died Friday.

A young man in Rockingham, twenty-three years old, and less than six feet high, weighs 313 pounds and is gaining. An accidental fire destroyed the house of Mr. W. W. Parks, of Burke, with all of its contents. The family barely escaped.

The Asheville library rooms have been formally opened to the public. Judge Dick made a talk on the occasion. The Progress says a negro man was committed to Lincoln jail last week charged with rape upon a girl of his own race.

Wilmington has at last gotten rid of those deserters from the Havana ship who have given the quarantine officers so much trouble. Franklin, Macon county, is to have a railroad meeting on the 28th inst. Several prominent railroad men are expected to be present.

The Asheville Citizen says that Capt. Charles H. Thomas, formerly of Raleigh, and who was connected with the Warm Springs in 1877, is now lessee and proprietor of the Mineral Hill, near Bean Station, Tenn. The Enquirer learns that a Mr. Thompson, of Union county, narrowly escaped death a few days ago by eating of the roots of a poisonous plant which he mistook for that which is commonly known as angelica.

Mr. Edward Fasnach, of Raleigh, is cultivating six worms. He has now about 20,000. They are ravenous and the News says, eat about 30 pounds of mulberry leaves per day. A pound of the cocoons is worth $4. The Citizen says that two artists spent several days of last week in the vicinity of Asheville preparing sketches and matter for Scribner and Harper, and some special work which they are engaged in getting up at present for the Piedmont Air Line.

Mr. Wm. E. Pool, of Wake, according to the Raleigh News, went under the oil mill on Neuse river, in Wake, last Thursday to get some fish to use as bait to fish with, when he incautiously ran against the machinery which drew him up and mangled him so horribly that in a few hours he died. A glowing and elegant tribute is paid in the Blue Ridge Blade to Gen. Johnston Jones's memorial oration at Morganton. It is indeed a most thrilling and eloquent tribute to the noble dead of our land, a true memorial offering, not a word of reprimand, no reproaches, no recital of injuries and wrongs, but a manly, patriotic oration of valiant deeds of high renown, of steadfast endurance, undaunted bravery and sublime patriotism.

The Asheville Citizen tells of a Madison county maiden who started thrice with her lover to the magistrate's and thrice backed out the way. After the third failure the lover took from her the bonnet, dress and shoes which he had given her to get married in, and had just gotten to a distillery in the neighborhood and begun to drown his grief while he flooded his lower levels, when a messenger arrived and told him that the fickle one had relented. He returned with the wedding garments, and the magistrate, at last got his fee and the youth his bride. Asheville Citizen Federal Court item: There were on the criminal docket 21 continued cases, and 229 new bills, with 239 defendants. There were 105 submissions and 25 convictions for violation of the revenue laws. The sentences of those convicted were as follows: 1 for 2 years; 5 for 15 months; 8 for 11 months; 1 for 10 months; 9 for 9 months; 9 for 6 months; 1 for 3 months; and 6 for 30 days and cost, with $1,000 fine in each case, except in the sentence for 30 days. All parties sentenced for less than 12 months are to be confined in the jails of the different counties.

The Asheville Citizen states that an appeal to the Supreme Court was taken in the case of the woman, Rachael Michael, convicted of murder in Cherokee court and sentenced to be hanged on the 16th. Hence the execution of the sentence of the State was stayed. She was convicted of having killed, her brother-in-law, James Ross, whose legs had been in the habit of getting into defendant's cornfield. The people had quarreled about this matter and when she was found dead in the cornfield, his neck dislocated by a blow from a stick lying by him. Wilmington Sun: Yesterday the association of the surviving officers of the Third North Carolina regiment, of this city, celebrated its fourteenth anniversary. The anniversary day was celebrated by the gathering of officers at Greenville sound where appropriate exercises were conducted. Hon. Geo. Davis read a poem, which was written by a Wilmingtonian, specially in honor of the association. The party was the least enjoyed by the veterans, was the big oyster dinner. The officers spent the day, as may be imagined, in the most pleasant way. May they all live to celebrate many another anniversary.

The same paper states that the whole indebtedness of the company is about $140,000; also that the company has authorized the issue of $300,000 of first mortgage bonds, which will easily pay off the debt, and from the road from Dallas to Lenoir, if the bonds can be negotiated for anything like a fair value. The gross earnings of the road last year amounted to about $32,000. Expenses $29,000, leaving a net amount being expended for cross-ties.

A NATIONAL TICKET. The Next President and Vice President of the United States.

To the Editor of The Observer: In view of the large gathering of prominent men from all parts of the South to attend the celebration to-day, it has seemed proper for us to respectfully submit a suggestion for their consideration.

We, as members of the Democratic Republican party, must, if we value our liberty, elect the next President and Vice President of the United States. Two theories have recently been advanced by which, it is said, we may be successful. First, it is said with Mr. Tilden as our candidate, we may carry the following named States:

Table with 2 columns: State and Votes. Southern States, 138 votes; Ohio, 22; Indiana, 15; Michigan, 11; Oregon, 8. Total, 189.

or, four more votes than are necessary. The vital objection to these plans is that neither is reliable. There is no doubt that we may rely upon the vote of the entire South. Can Mr. Tilden, however, carry his own State? Since the origin of the Radical party, it has never had so complete a control of the New York State Legislature as it has to-day.

That party not only elected its State ticket last fall by a handsome majority, but the State Assembly is their "baneful assembly"; their majority in that body was so great during the exciting contests of the war as it is to-day. Indeed it is not saying too much to say that it was not for the presence of Erastus Brooks, the minority would not exercise the slightest control over its opponents in that body. Even in the city of New York, the Radicals, by coalescing with a faction of the Democratic party, carried that city. And the Democratic mayor thus elected set to work to do his utmost to conciliate those whom he ought to look upon as enemies to the true principles of government.

Since the rise of the Radical party in the year 1855, the "Know Nothings" have cultivated six worms. He has now about 20,000. They are ravenous and the News says, eat about 30 pounds of mulberry leaves per day. A pound of the cocoons is worth $4. The Citizen says that two artists spent several days of last week in the vicinity of Asheville preparing sketches and matter for Scribner and Harper, and some special work which they are engaged in getting up at present for the Piedmont Air Line.

He also has the finest Bananas you ever saw, weighing nearly half a pound each. ST. NICHOLAS. SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR GIRLS AND BOYS. AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE. Meets Scribner & Co., in 1873, began the publication of ST. NICHOLAS, an Illustrated Magazine for girls and boys, with Mrs. Mary Hayes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest praise. It is a thoroughly creditable work, and has a circulation of over 50,000 copies.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the immediate recognition is almost general and instantaneous. Almost all the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance. It has not only retained its place of honor, but has steadily increased its circulation. The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume are now being completed, drawing from already favorite contributors, as well as from promising new talent. Mr. Frank H. Stockton's new serial story for boys, "A BOY FELLOWSHIP," will run through the twelve monthly parts, beginning with the number for November, 1878. The first of the volume, and will be illustrated by J. C. Beardsley. The story will be a most interesting and valuable one. For the girls, a continued tale, "Lily and a Dozen Mockingbirds," by Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Delmon, begins in the same number; and a novel, "The Story of a Girl," by Mrs. Mary Hayes Dodge, will be published in the next number. The magazine will be published every month, and is a most valuable and interesting work. It is a thoroughly creditable work, and has a circulation of over 50,000 copies.

Smith's Worm Oil. SMITH'S WORM OIL.

A few nights since I gave my son one dose of the Worm Oil, and the next day he passed almost a dozen worms. At the same time I gave one to my little girl, four years old, and she passed eight or ten worms from four to fifteen inches long. W. F. PHILLIPS, Paroled by K. S. LYNDON, Athens, Ga. Feb 21st 1871. Price 25 cents.
