COTTON MANUFACTURING IN THE SOUTH.

There is a certain limit to which a inland town like Charlotte, depending u pon commerce alone for its subsister may go, and beyond which it cannot pass. Places of this sort early acquire their growth, then they come to a stand still and there remain until retrogression sets in. We do not pretend to say that Charlotte has acquired her full growth as a commercial centre, for we do not believe this to be the case. With her five lines of railroad, penetrating fertile sections, she can draw the elements which will contribute to her increased prosperity; but we point out that there is a limit to a purely commercial growth and that Charlotte will one day reach this limit. If we were a seaport town the case might be different, but as it is we have stated the facts fairly. A place like ours must depend for its greatness upon other things than the cotton it buys and the goods it sells, for it cannot, under existing conditions, of the other to make it a city of commanding advantages. There are but two mediums available to us by which we can attain the position which we hope to reach and which it has been wildly predicted we would reach without any special effort of our own: these are mining and manufactures. We expect an early and and active revival of interest in the mines of this belt of country: they are fulfilling the highest expectations of their operators as they are developed, and are rapidly becoming known. As to manuof these depends entirely upon our individual exertions, and we have become convinced that a cotton factory, that long-hoped for enterprise to which those who have at heart the welfare of the community so anxiously look forward, must be established, if ever, by the combined endeavors of all classes of our people. No one class will take hold of it; it must be a joint-stock association, with shares fixed at so low a price as to put them within the reach of the middle classes, and when the ball is once started in this shape it will gather force with all necessary rapidity, and soon reach the required proportions,

The outlook for cotton manufacturing in the South is more encouraging than it has been since 1872. There is a demand for cotton goods beyond the past, and even present rate of production, and at prices which leave a large profit to the manufacturer,

As to the section of country where cotton manufacturing can be conducted with greatest profits, there can be no two opinions. The South, the place where the cotton is raised, is unloubtelly the place where it should be manufactured; an end should come to this carrying of cotton to the mills, and the mills should be erected where the cotton is. Here we have the water-power if this is preferred to steam; here wages are lower, fuel cheaper, and the cotton is at our doors, without freights or commissions to pay. The best proof of what can be done in this direction is found in what has been done, and upon this head we herewith submit a few facts and figures: There is in operation within forty miles of Charlotte a cotton factory which is operated by water-power, and in which there is invested a capital of $40,000. The proprietors of this factory have furnished to a party in this city a statement of one day's operations—cost and profits-as follows:

Cost of 1,100 ths. of cotton at 12½c..... $187.50 Cost of labor..... Interest on capital invested (840,000)..... Incidental expenses.....

Potal expenses, $177.75 PRODUCT FROM ABOVE. 1,000 fbs. warp at 23c..... 230.00

Leaving for net daily profit..... 852.25 312 working days per year at

The above figures would seem to form an argument which would satisfy all skeptics upon the subject of the profit of cotton manufacturing in the South, and these figures we earnestly commend to those of the people of Charlotte who are willing to be convinced that a factory here would not only add immensely to the general up-building of the community but would prove a remunerative investment to those who put their money in it. It is not to be expected of men that for the sake of being called public-spirited they will knowingly invest money in a losing business; our endeavor has been to show that cotton milling, so far from being an unremunerative business is highly profitable, and with this in view we shall probably recur to the subject at a not far distant

The amenities of the campaign of 1880 have already begun. The Louisville Courier-Journal last week called Vice-President Hendricks a fool and a 17th. Everything was lost, and the conconspiritor, and urged that "all men disown him." Mr. Hendricks has since told a newspaper reporter that Mr. Watterson. the editor of the Courier-Journal, was crazy drunk when he wrote that article, and now Mr. Watterson has the floor.

In the railroad cases before Associate Justice Bradley, of the Supreme Court of the United States, presiding over the United States Court at Jacksonville. Fla., this week, the solicitor for the Western North Carolina Railroad commenced his argument Monday. Hon. Matt H. Carpenter spoke Tuesday, and arguments were to have closed yesterday.

MANA Impatient Congressmen. (Wash, Letter of 26th to Baltimore Sun.1. The marked daily increase in the number of absentees in the House is a very strong evidence of the restiveness of members at the protracted session.

Almost daily leaves of absence are asked, and many members go off without the formality of asking leave, Nearly one-third of the House is now absent. How is the baby? is the question often put to a mother, and many an answer comes, "thanks to arising Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, much better to-day."

THE FISHERMEN OF THE BAST

It has become rather fashionable o late, among some writers who have occasion to refer to marine disasters off the coast of Carolina, to speak of the "lone fishermen" who live near Hatteras and Kitty Hawk as born robbers-birds of prey who look upon a wreck as a God-send and whose highest pleasure it is to rob the bodies which are washed ashore even before the warmth has left them. This character was first given those people in one of the reports which was made of the disaster which befell the Metropolis or the Huron, off Hatteras, and though the libel was subsequently refuted the first impression has proved lasting. Instead of being the robbers that they are represented, the fishermen on our eastern coast are really a brave, impulsive, highspirited and generous people, ignorant t is true, rough diamonds, but diamonds nevertheless. In view of the bad character which has been given them, it is pleasant to see a measure of justice done them by a correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, who, after making ten to be appointed by the chair. the rounds of all the life-saving stations on the Virginia and North Carolina coasts, writes from Nag's Head to that paper a graphic and lengthy letter which concludes as follows:

But, however ignorant the people and God-forsaken the land, the native is not buy enough of the one nor sell enough | only full of mother wit, but of the milk of human kindness. They will put themselves out to do anything for the voyager. They rarely make criminals. They are often heroic. Malachi Corbell showed me a medal given him by the government for an exploit that is here passed over as commonplace. Four larkeys were blue-fishing on the outer bar near Caffrey's Inlet, one November day, four years ago, when a nudge from old Neptune's elbow sent the canoe quivering into the air. Malachi saw it rolling upside down on the mountains beyond the surf. Two of the fishermen had gone to the bottom of the sea; the others had clung to the keel. Malachi's surf boat shot through and so out over the high white barrier. With his two facturing industries, the establishment sons at the oars he guided the boat towards the drowning men and soon landed them—"at great peril to himself," says the medal.

into consideration, without a day's delay, the fact that great throngs of men, women, and children, who besiege all day long the offices for the sale of $10 certificates, are violently contracting the currency. Every person in each long line has some currency, and by far the greater number have $100 each. Millions each day are drawn from banks in this city along to equip this army of pretended "investors," who are in reali-ty acting only as the messengers of bankers and speculators. Millions more are drawn in like manner in other cities all over this land, and in towns and illages wherever the certificates are sold. From all these places there comes unlike the ordinary outflow which is both caused and compensated by commercial movements, takes away currency to be employed in this systematic fraud until it gets locked up in the treasury. Between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 each day thus goes into the treasury, goes out of the banks, in preparation ford. for further pretended investments; and unless the greatest care is taken, the powerful contraction resulting from this unnatural and discreditable process will cause serious trouble.

A Plum for Southern Speculators.

A New York letter of Friday says: A New York letter of Friday says:
"The South were heavy sellers of cotton in this market this morning, and the price broke 30 points, knocking Mays down to 13½ cents, Junes to 13.08 and Julys to 13.27. It had been supposed the South had pretty well unloaded, but this, it seems, was a mistake. Thus far it has been very successful, and it is estimated that not less than $2,500,000 in profits on paper, have been taken in profits, on paper, have been taken out of the pockets of the New York operators by the South since the year opened."

THE MONEY OF THE PEOPLE. THE SENATE MAKES IT EXCHANGE-ABLE FOR LAWFUL MONEY. Bull Day in the House-Interesting Committee Reports.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—SENATE.— The Senate took up the bill to make subsidiary coin exchangeable for law-ful money, and making such coin legal tender in sums not exceeding $20, the pending question being on the committee amendment to the substitute of $10 for $20.

The committee's amendment was adopted-yeas 31, nays 22. The fourth section, making silver coins of the face value of 25 cents and under, receivable for postage, or in the purchase of post-age stamps in sums not exceeding a dollar, was stricken out after further debate, and after the adoption of the amendments made in committee of the whole, the bill was read a third time

JUDGE MACKEY TELLS ABOUT THE ELECTION OF '76 IN SOUTH CAROLINA. T. J. A Bad Accident.

THE BUCKEYE REPUBLICANS.

CINCINNATI, May 28.—The Republican State Convention met this morning with Allen T. Brismore, of Cleveland, as temporary chairman, and S. M. Fields, of Columbus, temporary secretary. A recess was taken and after reassem-bling ex-Governor Dennison was electpermanent chairman. Alonzo Taft. Chas Foster, and Gen. J. W. Keifer were nominated as candidates for Governor. Foster was nominated on first ballot, the vote being: Foster 280 5-6, Taft 271/1-16, and Keifer 2. Foster's nomination was made unanimous.

The following nominations were made for Lieut, Governor: Hon. Lewis Seasongood, of Cincinnati, Andrew Hiekenlooper, of Cincinnati, Gen. Sam'l H. Hurst, of Chillicothe, and Col. A. S. Mc-Clure, of Wooster. While the ballot was progressing the name of General Hurst was withdrawn and at the close of the ballet McClure's name was also withdrawn. The announcement of these changes caused a transfer of a number of votes, and when the final announcement was made the ballot stood: Total, 521; Heckenlooper, 890; Seasongood, 131. The nomination of Heckenlooper was then made unanimous.

F. W. Johnson, of Lawrence county was nominated for Supreme Judge. The resolutions reaffirm the princioles of the Republican party and pledge it anew to the maintenance of free suffrage, equal rights and national union and supremacy; declare that the majority in Congress seeks the establishment of State sovereignties; assert that the present session of Congress, forced by the Democrats, is prolonged beyond excuse to the detriment of the country's interests; point with pride to the finan-cial administration of the government by the Republican party; declare that the Democratic Legislature of Ohio is fraught with scandals and mischief; protest against the dismissal of ex-Union soldiers from public offices, and congratulate the President and the Republican members of Congress on the stand they have taken in opposition to the designs of the present congressional majority.

Vance in the Senate. Chester (S. C.) Bulletin.] Hon. Z. B. Vance delivered a magnifient speech in the United States Senate last week. He covered himself with glory, and reflected honor upon the State he so well represents. His manly defence of his persecuted section entitles him to encomiums that will be cheerfully paid by a grateful people. His speech showed him to be the peer of any Senator in debate. His refutation of the vile slanders preferred against the South by Republican Senators was complete and unanswerable. He proved the wisdom of the Democratic demand for the repeal of laws, the discussion of which has developed so much bitterness of feeling and spirit among members of both houses. His argument in favor of State officials managing and controlling all elections in accordance with State laws was especially clear and convincing. His reasons too for keeping the roops away from the polls were such as to carry conviction to any unprejudiced mind. His comparison of the Democratic and Republican parties in the matter of acquisition of territory made a brilliant showing for the Democracy. Instead of briefly commenting upon this splendid speech of North Carolina's distinguished Senator, we would lay the whole of it before our readers did our space permit. As it is we can only publish the concluding sold by all Druggists.

Remarkable Circumstance - 1 Deaf Mute Regains His Voice.

[Petersburg Index-Appeal, 27th.] A circumstance of somewhat remarkable character is reported to have occurred Sunday during the baptizing at the basin. Among the fifty-four candidates who received the ordinance at the hands of their pastor, Rev. Henry Williams, Jr., was a colored man named Burwell Lancaster, a deaf-mute since infancy. When he was raised from the water after immersion, according to the testimony of those who stood around him, he suddenly recovered his voice, and in clear and distinct tones cried out: "Thank God! Thank God!" To those who had never heard him speak a word, and who had ever regarded him as dumb, these words of thanks came with startling effect, and among many of the colored people, taken in connection with the occasion, the circumstance is regarded as akin to a miracle. The occurrence created a great deal of comment. What is equally as remarkable is the fact that the man, after uttering these words, returned again to his mute condition, and has been unable since to say anything further.

Decreased Production of Gold.

[Washington Republican.] The statistics obtainable at the present time indicate a large falling off in the production of gold in the United States, as compared with the production of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, when the production was computed at forty-eight million dollars. The figures for the first nine months of the present year indicate that the total production for the twelve months will not exceed thirty-eight millions and may perhaps fall considerably below that figure. In the absence of new discoveries of gold elsewhere and the largely increased production of silver in the United States, it seems probable that a greater difference in the relative value of gold and silver will prevail hereafter.

Complexional Indications.

The complexion of persons whose digestion is out of order, who are bilious, or who lack vigor, always exhibits an unhealthy tint. It is by regulating the bodily organs and promoting digestion and assimilation, that the parchment hue indicative of ill health, is banished from the cheeks. To recti-fy the fault of a sallow complexion, use Hostelter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant and alterative which removes those obstacles to renewed strength, physical comfort and personal attractiveness—an imperfect digestion and secretion, and a disordered condition of the bowels. Persistence in the use of this inestimable corrective and tonic will assuredly result in renewed physical regularity and vigor, will tend to increase bodily substance, and cause the glow and clear color of health to return to the sallow, wasted cheek.

A Word with Practical People. The climate of some parts of the South seems to peculiarly foster three special scourges of the general health; these are relow fever, periodically malarial fever and consumption or premaine deline always. The result of all of them, when not apidly fatal, is complete prestration of the whole system, and in most cases, after inability to derive restoration from the neurishment of ordinary food. Then the doctors all say, the only thing the stomach and pancreas, and liver, can accept any time into vitalizing blood and solid fibre is Cod Liver. Oil, or rather Scott's Emulsion of the Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. This is a tiner nutrient than the Oil alone, and is besides a splendid tonic, and then it has not the least disagreeable tasts or odor, and is acceptable to fine, most sensitive stomach.
