HOME PENCILINGS.

The commencement season is radially coming to a close.

Another party will leave Charlotte next week for Cleaveland Springs.

A colored man in the employ of Messrs. Cuthbertson & Long, fell in a fit on Trade street, near their place of business yesterday about noon. Restoratives were applied and the man re-

The annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Good Samaritans and Daughters of Samaria, in the United States, began in Washington City Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Among the delegates are representatives from the North Carolina branch of the order.

The threshing machine and the patent reaper are beginning to get in their work in the more Southern States where harvesting and threshing are fairly in progress. These items, in this latitude, come in between the college commencements and the cotton blooms and will very early begin to lend their interest to the local columns of THE OBSERVER.

The picnic of the children of the Presbyterian Sunday schools takes place to-day at Bellemont Park, than which a better place could not have been selected by the managers. The children meet at their respective churches at 8:30 this merning, and at 9 o'clock the train which is to carry them to the picnic grounds will leave the Trade street

----Wearing Apparel Exempt.

State Treasurer Worth, replying to an inquiry from Mr. M. Cronly, tax assessor for Wilmington township, decides, as he says with the approval of the attorney general, that wearing apparel is exempt from taxation. Under the machinery act of the Legislature of 1876-'77 this class of property had to be listed for taxation along with other property and this decision of the treasurer, exempting it now, is worth the attention of assessors and others. ---

Compliment to a Sermon.

The Morganton Blade thinks highly of the annual sermon delivered last Sunday night by Rev. W. R. Atkinson before the cadets of the Carolina Military Institute, of this city. After copying the report of the sermon, as it appeared in THE OBSERVER, the Blade says: "These are words of wisdom. Ponder over it, and be governed by this teaching. This is the road to good government, 'better times,' prosperity and peace."

Cutting Down the Appropriation.

In the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, as reported from the House appropriations commit-tee a few days ago by Chairman Atkins, and as it passed the House, the appropriation for the contingent expenses of the United States assay office in this city is reduced from $1,000, the amount of the present appropriation, to $250, which is the amount which this office got during its starving-out period two years ago. The office at Denver gets $18,000 and that at Boise City $7,000, and why this discrimination should be made against the Charlotte office does not appear; but so it is, and the bill will doubtless pass the Senate with the same provision and be thus finally ratified.

As a matter of course this appropriation is not intended to cover any part of the salary of the assayer or any of his assistants, but only for the contingent expenses for which purpose it is about a third of what it should be.

The Excursion to Greenville.
The Greenville excursion was still the topic yesterday, among those who went.

It is unanimously voted to have been a most delightful trip. The train left here with eight ears very comfortably filled. The morning run over the smooth road-bed of the Air-Line was greatly enjoyed, and at nearly all stations a few persons were picked up, so that when the train reached Greenville, a little after 11 o'clock, it emptied into that beautiful mountain city a large number of excursionists. These made their way from the depot in the street cars and by carriages, and in a short time the crowd was well scattered. A considerable number of the excursionists picniced in the spacious University grounds, while others strolled around the town and in one way and another passed off their time very pleasantly. The train left on the return trip about half-past 4 o'clock and landed the excursionists safe and sound-some few minus hats-at home

THE CLOSING HOURS

Of Davidson College Commencement -General Notes and Remarks.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE, June 13. The necessity of closing the report of yesterday's proceedings early in the af-ternoon, rendered it impossible to do more than make a sweeping note of the last of the exercises of the day. The ceremony of AWARDING THE PRIZES was of a very interesting character.

President Hepburn explained to the assemblage the method by which this was done. The young men stood written examinations on Latin, Greek, and mathematics during the session. The papers were signed with ficticious names and sent to professors in other colleges, or to distinguised scholars in the country and these gentlemen decided who were entitled to preference. The Latin pa-pers were sent to the professor of this department in Erskine College; the Greek papers to the professor in the Johns Hopkins University, in Baltimore: and the mathematics papers to Washington and Lee University. Parts of letters from these gentlemen, giving their decisions, were read. The papers were commended in a high degree, the judges in every case expressing surprise at their excellence, and the difficulty they experienced in deciding between

The medal for oratory was awarded, as stated in yesterday's report, by a committee who heard the contestants, the representatives of the societies, speak on the night before. Col. McRae was chairman of this committee and was allowed to make the report himself. He complimented the speaking as a whole, and said that the contest lay be-tween Mr. W. B. Jennings and Mr. J. Z. Dunlap, but after several hours' deliberation, the committee felt constrained to give the medal to Mr. Dun-

The announcement of the names of the successful competitors (all of which were given in yesterday's report) was received with loud applause. Judge Fowle, at the request of the president, made the presentations. His speeches classic finish, and an eloquence peculiar | the cadets. There is an ease of manner | fallure known. to Limself.

ROLL OF HONOR.

President Hepburn read the roll of honor. This includes the young men in each class, who have averaged over 95, the maximum being 100. This list is as follows: Senior Class-B. P. Reid and F. P.

Ramsay. Junior Class-J. P. Paisley and P. M.

A. C. McIntosh. Freshman Class-E.W. Smith, J. P. dience. Munroe, J. W. Reid, M. W. Saffold, T. D. Crawford and D. W. Bethea, Jr.

Preparatory Class-J. W. Lafferty and R. N. Brackett. There was a little occurrence Wednesday night just after the society speaking, that was

NOT ON THE PROGRAMME. This consisted of a presentation to Mr. J. A. Hodges of a gold medal by his friends of the Philanthropic Society. Mr. Hodges was a competiter of Mr. J. W. Osborne for the debator's medal, and the contest being close, his friends desired to show their appreciation of him and took this method of doing so. The presentation was made by Rev. W. S. Lacy, of Jonesboro, in a capital

THURSDAY NIGHT.

There is no dancing at Davidson, but the acclesiastical courts cannot, if they would, prohibit quiet flirtations on the lawns, in the brilliantly lighted halls and in nooks and corners which the students may have selected probably six months before. The night was wholly given up to social pleasure, and with the beginning of it, the power of the reportorial arm ceases. He can only say that everybody seemed delighted and that it was after midnight when the lights were put out; and to tell what disposition was made of

THE REGALIAS. Mr. T. G. Hardie, chief marshal, presented his to Miss Bessie Wriston, of Charlotte; Mr. E. L. B. Davidson to Miss Louie Morehead, of Charlotte; Mr. J. D. Nesbit to Miss Julia Jackson, of Charlotte; Mr. J. J. Covington to Miss Addie Young, of Charlotte; Mr. T. B. Frasier to Miss Sallie Stirewalt, of Davidson College; Mr. J. L. Scott to Miss Fannie Brady, of Davidson College; Mr R. R. Little to Miss Mattie Fowle, of Raleigh. Mr. H. L. Smith and Mr. S. B. Hope took theirs home to be presented to young ladies who could not attend.

The Trip of the Grays to Spartanburg. Twenty men, rank and file, of the Charlotte Grays, boarded the excursion train on the Air-Line, Thursday morning, and were in due course of time landed in Spartanburg, S. C., whither they went by invitation of the Spartan Rifles, to participate in the military exercises there. They were met at the depot by the Rifles and the Butler Guards of Granvilla and took their Guards, of Greenville, and took their place in the procession. They were elegantly dined at the armory of the Rifles and after dinner participated in a shooting match for a silver pitcher. This was won by Mr. J. G. Freeland, colorbearer of the Charlotte Grays, who brought it home in triumph. The Grays were reviewed with the other military companies, by Gov. Simpson and Adjutant-General Moise, and, we doubt not, acquitted themselves with credit. Every courtesy and hospitality was shown the visitors by the Spartan Rifles and they returned home delighted with their ex-perience and filled with appreciative remembrances of the attentions and kindnesses shown them during their stay in Spartanburg.

Escape and Re-Capture of Gus Byers. Gus Byers, one of the colored storerobbers, who was arrested here last Tuesday evening, was taken by Wed-nesday afternoon's train to Richmond, where there were good reasons for be-lieving the fine set of harness recently found. Byers was taken, handcuffed, in charge of Capt. V. E. McBee and Policeman Farrington. Thursday morn-but he was as dead as if he had been ing this officer, having Byers in the room with himself at a hotel, and the door locked, dropped off to sleep, having at that time been on duty continuously for more than forty-eight hours, and awoke to find the bird flown, handcuffs and all. This intelligence created somewhat of a sensation yesterday in this city, where Byers is known as a desperate where Byers is known as a desperate and dangerous man, and it will therefore be learned with pleasure that at 11 o'clock last night Mayor Osborne received a telegram informing him of Byers' recapture. As an off-set to their temporary bad luck with this prisoner, Messrs, McBee and Farrington found in the store of John and Mike Kelly, Col Carrie harness which they secured. Col. Coxe's harness, which they secured. The Kelly brothers were arrested and imprisoned on the charge of receiving stolen goods, and one Hey, who seems to have been implicated with them, was also arrested but is out on bond.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

Among the attendants upon the exercises in the chapel yesterday, commencement day, were quite a number of visitors from other States from which the Sophomore Class-H. L. Smith and institution draws its patronage. The room was well filled by a first rate au-distinction and with it the right to deliver the salutatory address. Then followed the remaining essays and orations in the following order:

The Crisis of Life; by J. B. Guess, of South Carolina.

The Power of Mind; by A. K. Sanders, of South Carolina. The Claims of the Times upon the Young Men of the South; by T. S. Carter, of South Carolina.

The Late System of Slavery in the South, the Feudal System Revived; by A. Gibert, of South Carolina. The Voices of the Dead; by Hasell Thomas, of North Carolina. The Duties of Life More than Life; by R. E. Wylie, of South Carolina.

The speeches were well delivered and the essays well read. Elocution is a specialty in the Institute and finds an excellent illustration in the superintendent himself, who devotes much care and attention to this branch.

The superintendent then delivered the certificates of graduation to the members of the class, accompanying the presentation with an appeal to them to discharge the duties of life with the promptness and fearlessness of a true After a recess of ten minutes, the valedictory, short, pointed and in ex-cellent taste, was spoken by Hasell

Thomas. Then came the ADDRESS OF REV. E. CAPERS. In introducing Mr. Capers, the superintendent said he presented an ex-cadet, and an old Confederate soldier who had won his title on the field. Mr. Capers is a delightful speaker—graceful, impressive and unostentatious, with a face as open and winning as his manner. He spoke to the young men from the stand-point of an ex-cadet, and endeavored to impress upon them the necessity of maintaining a character that would be irreproachable in the eyes of their fellow men, taking the ground that if they kept this constantly in view, success must crown their efforts. The address was recived with marked attention and the speaker was warmly congratulated at the close.

THE BALL.

In the evening the cadets gave their annual ball in the chapel. It was very largely attended—probably the largest ever had there; and was well managed and heartily enjoyed by all the gay participants.

Railroad Notes.

This is the season when engineers and conductors wish they were depot clerks. In the winter season clerks wish they were engineers and conductors.
Sleeping cars have been put on the trains on the Western North Carolina Railroad, and passengers can sleep the trip out both ways—from Salisbury to the head of the road, and from the head of the road to Salisbury. As the day train on the Air-Line railroad going to Atlanta was near the 147th mile post, a horse in a field undertook to outrun the train. He succeeded for a short distance but when he got to the fence he tried to jump over the stock gap and fell on his head and broke his neck. He did not kick. The engineer stopped the train just opposite the horse stolen from Col. Frank Coxe could be and the conductor examined him and

A Matter of Interest to Travelers.

Tourists, emigrants and mariners find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthful influences, upon which they can implicity rely, since it prevents the effects that an unhealthy climate, vitiated atmosphere, unaccustomed or unwholesome diet, bad water, or other conditions unfavorable to health, would otherwise produce. On long voyages, or journeys by land in latitudes adjacent to the equator, it is especially useful as a preventive of the febrile complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, which are apt to attack patives of the temperate gones sojourning or traveling in such regions, and is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It not only prevents intermittent and remittent fever, and other disease of a malarial type, but eradicates them, a fact which has been notorious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West In dies, Australia and other countries. 1 in 10 1w

The New Stock Speculations.

The new combination method of operating in stocks which Messra. Lawrence & Co., Bank ers, N. Y., have inangurated, is attracting unusual attention in financial circles, by reason of its remarkable success. A customer in Providence, invested nine times, and made over $5,000 in three months, by using from $50 to $500 capital. By this system orders from thousands of customers, in various sums, are pooled into one immense capital, and operated as a mighty whole, thus giving to each shareholder all the advantages of vast capital and shrewdest skill. Profits are divided every 30 days. Any amount from $14 to $75,000 can be used in Messrs. Lawrence & Co's combinations with equal proportionate success. $15 will make $75 profit in the month. $200 will return $1,600, or 8 per cent. on the stock, and so on as the market varies. The new circular gives "two unerring rules for success," and shows how any one can operate profitably. Mailed free. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied.
